7723	Lance-Corporal	Shields, G. ...	1st Battalion, Lincolnshire Regiment	For conspicuous gallantry at Neuve Chapelle in going out alone from his trench and shooting four German snipers who had been causing much damage. Has performed good work throughout the campaign.
6849	Serjeant ...	Shiné, E. ...	2nd Battalion, South Staffordshire Regiment	For gallant conduct on 10th September, 1914, at Villiers-Cotterets, in assisting a wounded man across open ground for a distance of 800 yards, under a heavy fire.
8467	Private ...	Sidey, D. ...	2nd Battalion, Highland Light Infantry	For gallant conduct in conveying messages in the firing line, at considerable risk under heavy fire. Has been an example through his cheerfulness and willingness in performing these dangerous duties.
8099	Lance-Corporal	Simmons, W. H. ...	1st Battalion, Devonshire Regiment	For gallantry and ability at Givenchy, 19th to 21st October, 1914, in reconnoitring the German trenches, obtaining useful information, and for subsequently performing a similar service at Neuve Chapelle.
10373	Private ...	Simpson, A. ...	1st Battalion, Royal Scots	For gallant conduct and devotion to duty on many occasions, especially on 18th January, 1915, near Vierstraat, in assisting to rescue a wounded Non-commissioned Officer whilst exposed to a heavy fire.
16398	Sapper ...	Sinclair, T. ...	17th Company, Royal Engineers	For gallantry on many occasions whilst employed on the dangerous work of erecting wire entanglements in front of our trenches, especially at Missy, quite close to the enemy's position.
6895	Serjeant ...	Skinner, J. ...	2nd Battalion, King's Own Scottish Borderers	For conspicuous gallantry and ability at Cuinchy on 12th October, 1914. After a very heavy engagement he reconnoitred a wood with his patrol under very difficult circumstances.
5777	Private ...	Smith, A. ...	3rd Battalion, Gordon Highlanders	For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on 14th December, 1914, when under heavy close-range fire he crawled forward into the open to within 50 yards of the enemy, and bandaged two of his wounded comrades. In performing this act of gallantry he was himself wounded, but continued assisting others until his hand was shattered by a second shot.
7677	Company Serjeant-Major	Smith, C. H. ...	2nd Battalion, Leinster Regiment	For conspicuous gallantry in leaving his trench under heavy machine gun and rifle fire, and rescuing a wounded Officer. Has been noted for determination and coolness in action.
9363	Corporal ...	Smith, D. ...	1st Battalion, Seaforth Highlander	For conspicuous gallantry on 20th December, 1914, at Givenchy, when he made a gallant stand at his traverse in the centre of his trench, which was being enfiladed. He accounted for at least eight of the enemy, and later assisted in stopping any further advance by effective bomb fire.
6891	Serjeant ...	Smith, E. J. ...	1st Battalion, Royal Welsh Fusiliers	For gallant conduct on 19th October, 1914, in assisting to rescue a wounded Officer whilst exposed to heavy rifle and shell fire.
5683	Quartermaster-Serjeant	Smith, J. B. ...	1st Battalion, Gordon Highlanders	For conspicuous gallantry and ability on the night of 24th-25th October, 1914. During an attack by the enemy he maintained his position under very difficult circumstances. He was wounded.
