Now, therefore, His Majesty is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, that the following amendments be made in the said regulations:

1. After regulation 8c, the following regulation shall be inserted:—

"8d. Any company, authority, or person supplying or authorised to supply water, light, heat, or power, shall, if so required by the Admiralty or Army Council or the Ministry of Munitions, supply water, light, heat or power to any factory, building, camp, or other premises belonging to or used for the purposes of the Admiralty or Army Council or the Minister of Munitions, and shall carry out such works and render such services as may be directed by the Admiralty or Army Council or the Minister of Munitions for the purpose of enabling such a supply to be given either by themselves or by some other such company, authority, or person:

"Provided that a company, authority or person shall not be required under this regulation to supply water, light, heat or power to premises within the area of supply of any other company, authority or person except with the concurrence of the appropriate Government Department, and if any question arises as to which Government Department is the appropriate Government Department the question shall be finally determined by the Treasury.

"If any company, authority or person fail to comply with a requisition under this regulation the company, authority or person shall be guilty of an offence against these regulations, and any director or officer of the company or officer of the authority who is knowingly a party to the default shall also be guilty of an offence against these regulations."

2. For regulation 27 the following regulation shall be substituted:—

"27. No person shall by word of mouth or in writing or in any newspaper, periodical, book, circular, or other printed publication,—

"If any person without lawful authority or excuse has in his possession or on premises in his occupation or under his control any document containing a report or statement the publication of which would be a contravention of the foregoing provisions of this regulation, he shall be guilty of an offence against these regulations, unless he proves that he did not know and had no reason to suspect that the document contained any such report or statement, or that he had no intention of transmitting or circulating the document or distributing copies thereof to or amongst other persons.

3. The following regulation shall be inserted after regulation 29A:—

"29B.—(1) The Admiralty or Army Council, with the concurrence of a Secretary of State, or in the case of Scotland of the Secretary for Scotland, may from time to time by order declare any area to be a Special Military Area for the purposes of this regulation, and the boundaries of any such area shall be indicated by means of notices on roads and other ways of access to the area and in such other manner as may appear to the commandant of the area to be required for informing the public, and the commandant shall be an officer who has been duly appointed to be a competent naval or military authority.

"(2) As from such date as may be directed in an order declaring an area to be a Special Military Area, no person shall without lawful authority or excuse enter the area without permission from the commandant, and such permission may authorise the person to whom it is granted to enter the area either generally or on any particular occasion, and may authorise him to remain in the area either indefinitely or for a specified period, and where any such permission has expired or is withdrawn the person to whom it is granted shall, unless he was at the said date a resident in the said area, forthwith leave the area:

Provided that—

(i) The commandant may at any time by public notice or otherwise suspend this regu-

(f) any person passing through the area in the course of a continuous journey by railway or water from and to places outside the area;

but the burden of proving that he is exempted from the provisions of this regulation shall rest on the person claiming exemption.

(3) For the purposes of this regulation the possession of a valid official pass in a form approved by the Admiralty or Army Council, and containing a photograph and the signature of the bearer duly authenticated by or under the authority of a Government Department recognised for the purpose by the Admiralty or Army Council, shall be a sufficient proof of the identity of the holder.

(4) Applications for and grants of permission to enter a Special Military Area shall be made in such manner and upon such form and subject to such conditions as may from time to time be approved by the Admiralty or Army Council, with the concurrence of a Secretary of State, and provision shall be made for the transmission by telegraph of applications for and grants of permission. Forms of application may be obtained by applying at any police station.

(5) If any person contravenes or fails to comply with any of the provisions of this regulation he shall be guilty of an offence against these regulations, and may be removed from the Special Military Area, unless he was at the said date a resident therein, by the direction of the commandant.

(6) The provisions of this regulation shall be in addition to and not in derogation of any provision contained in any order made under the Aliens Restriction Act, 1914, or any other provision of these regulations.

4. After regulation 34 the following regulation shall be inserted:—

"34A. It shall be lawful for the Admiralty or Army Council or the Minister of Munitions to require any person who carries on the business of storing, cooling, transporting or distributing goods to afford such services in relation

Treasury Chambers,

19th May, 1916.

The Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury hereby give notice that at a Trial of the Pyx begun at Goldsmiths' Hall, in the City of London, on the 7th March, and concluded on the 9th May, 1916, the following Verdicts of the Pyx Jury were delivered to the King's Remembrancer, viz.:—

TRIAL OF THE PYX OF THE LONDON
MINT.

VERDICT.

We, whose names are hereunder written, having been sworn on the seventh day of March, one thousand nine hundred and sixteen, before the King's Remembrancer, at Goldsmiths' Hall, in the City of London, have made the assays and trials of His Majesty's gold and silver coins in the Pyx of the Royal Mint in London, which, according to accounts produced by the Officers of the Mint, were coined in the said Mint, from the first day of January, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, to the thirty-first day of December, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, both days inclusive. We ascertained that the number of coins, both of gold and silver, in each packet produced to us, corresponded with the number which the Officers of the Mint represented it to contain, and we took one coin from each of such packets of gold coins, amounting altogether to one hundred and three sovereigns or twenty-shilling pieces, and to eleven half-sovereigns or ten-shilling pieces, and we weighed each of the said coins separately and ascertained that they were within the remedy as to weight prescribed in the First Schedule to the Coinage Act, 1870, as amended by the Coinage Act, 1891. We found that the amount of variation from the standard of weight specified in the said First Schedule to the said Act as so amended was plus three thousandths of an ounce (+ .003 oz.) on the whole of such coins. We then melted the said gold coins so taken out and weighed into an ingot, and assayed such ingot, comparing it with the standard gold Trial Plate produced by the Board of Trade, so as to ascertain whether the metal was within the remedy as to fineness prescribed in the said First Schedule to the said Act amended as aforesaid, and we found that the amount of variation thereof from the standard of fineness specified in the said First Schedule to the said Act as so amended was plus two hundred thousandths (or + .0002), and that, therefore, the said metal was within the prescribed remedy as to fineness. We weighed the residue of the said gold coins in bulk, and we ascertained that they were within the remedy as to weight. We then took from such residue eight sovereigns and two half-sovereigns, and weighed and assayed them separately, and we found that such sovereigns weighed respectively, the first 123.291 grains, the second 123.464 grains, the third 123.301 grains, the fourth 123.182 grains, the fifth 123.214 grains, the sixth 123.331 grains, the seventh 123.222 grains, and the eighth 123.318 grains, and that such half-sovereigns weighed respectively, the first 61.591 grains and the second 61.657 grains. We then assayed the said eight sovereigns and two half-sovereigns separately, and we found the millesimal fineness of such sovereigns to be, the first 916.65, the second 916.74, the third 916.78, the fourth 916.74, the fifth 916.79, the sixth 916.69, the seventh 916.68, and the eighth 916.63 respectively, and the millesimal fineness of such half-sovereigns to be, the first 916.79 and the second 916.74 respectively. We also took a coin from each of such packets of silver coins, making altogether one hundred and thirty-one half-crowns, sixty florins, one hundred and ten shillings, forty-one sixpences, one fourpence, fifteen threepences, one twopence, and one penny, and weighed each of the said silver coins separately, and ascertained that they were within the remedy prescribed in the said First Schedule to the said Coinage Act, 1870, as amended by the said Coinage Act, 1891. We found that the amount of variation from the standard of weight specified in the said First Schedule to the said Act as so amended was plus three thousandths of an ounce (+ .003 oz.) on the whole of such coins. We then melted the said silver coins so taken out and weighed into an ingot, and assayed such ingot, comparing it with the standard silver Trial Plate produced by the Board of Trade, so as to ascertain whether the metal was within the remedy as to fineness prescribed in the said First Schedule to the said Act amended as aforesaid, and we found that the amount of variation from the standard of fineness specified in the said First Schedule to the said Act as so amended, was minus one ten thousandths (or - .0001), and that, therefore, the said metal was within the prescribed remedy as to fineness. We weighed the residue of the said silver coins in bulk, and we ascertained that they were within the remedy as to weight. We then took from such residue five half-crowns, two florins, three shillings, one sixpence, and one threepence, and weighed and assayed them separately, and we found that such half-crowns weighed respectively, the first 218.221 grains, the second 218.012 grains, the third 218.061 grains, the fourth 218.102 grains, and the fifth 218.202 grains, that such florins weighed respectively, the first 174.419 grains and the second 176.612 grains, that such shillings weighed respectively, the first 87.301 grains, the second 87.436 grains, and the third 87.425 grains, that such sixpence weighed 43.631 grains, and that such threepence weighed 21.870 grains. We then assayed the said five half-crowns, the said two florins, the said three shillings, the said sixpence, and the said threepence separately, and we found the millesimal fineness of such half-crowns to be, the first 925.4, the second 924.3, the third 925.2 the fourth 924.6, and the fifth 924.0, of such florins to be, the first 923.5 and the second 924.3, of such shillings to be, the first 923.7, the second 924.3, and the third 924.2, of such sixpence to be 924.4, and of such threepence to be 924.4.

TRIAL OF THE PYX OF THE PERTH BRANCH MINT.

VERDICT.

We, whose names are hereunder written, having been sworn on the seventh day of March, one thousand nine hundred and sixteen, before the King's Remembrancer, at Goldsmiths' Hall, in the City of London, have made the assays and trials of His Majesty's gold coins in the Pyx of the Branch Mint at Perth, in the State of Western Australia, which, according to accounts produced by the Officers of the Mint, were coined in the said Branch Mint from the first day of January, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, to the thirty-first day of December, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, both days inclusive. We ascertained that the number of coins in each packet produced to us corresponded with the number which the Officers of the Mint represented it to contain, and we took one coin from each of such packets of gold coins, amounting altogether to eighty-seven sovereigns or twenty-shilling pieces, and to four half-sovereigns or ten-shilling pieces, and we weighed each of the said coins separately, and ascertained that they were within the remedy as to weight prescribed in the First Schedule to the Coinage Act, 1870, as amended by the Coinage Act, 1891. We found that the amount of variation from the standard of weight specified in the said First Schedule to the said Act as so amended was plus seven-thousandths of an ounce (+ 007 oz.) on the whole of such coins. We then melted the said gold coins so taken out and weighed into an ingot, and assayed such ingot, comparing it with the standard gold Trial Plate produced by the Board of Trade, so as to ascertain whether the metal was within the remedy as to fineness prescribed in the said First Schedule to the said Act amended as aforesaid, and we found that the amount of variation thereof from the standard of fineness specified in the said First Schedule to the said Act as so amended was minus four hundred thousandths (or - 00004), and that, therefore, the said metal was within the prescribed remedy as to fineness. We weighed the residue of the said gold coins in bulk, and we ascertained that they were within the remedy as to weight. We then took from such residue six sovereigns and one half-sovereign, and weighed and assayed them separately, and we found that such sovereigns weighed respectively—the first 123·315 grains, the second 123·249 grains, the third 123·326 grains, the fourth 123·208 grains, the fifth 123·308 grains, and the sixth 123·297 grains, and that such half-sovereign weighed 61·685 grains. We then assayed the said six sovereigns and one half-sovereign separately, and we found the millesimal fineness of such sovereigns to be—the first 916·55, the second 916·92, the third 916·69, the fourth 916·66, the fifth 916·56, and the sixth 916·65, respectively, and the millesimal fineness of such half-sovereign to be 916·70.

Candidates must pass in Writing and obtain such an aggregate number of marks as to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners.

5. No Candidate will be admitted to Examination who does not, at such time as may be fixed by the Civil Service Commissioners, produce an undertaking signed by her Parent or Guardian, that she will, if successful, reside either with her parents or guardians, or with relations or friends approved by such parents or guardians.

6. Candidates for the Post Office Service must be at least 5 feet in height.

7. Persons holding situations in the Civil Service must obtain the permission of the authorities of their Department to attend the Examination, before the commencement of the competition.

8. Persons who have entered upon or completed a course of education or training for the occupation of teacher, on account of which grants are payable from the Exchequer, will not be qualified to receive appointments until the consent of the Board of Education in England, the Committee of Council on Education for Scotland, or the Commissioners of National Education, Ireland, as the case may be, given in conformity with rules sanctioned by the Lords of the Treasury, has been notified to the Civil Service Commissioners.

9. Application for permission to attend an Examination must be made at such time and in such manner as may be fixed by the Civil Service Commissioners.
