

Temp. 2nd Lt. Patrick Stephen Lynch, 7th Bn., Leins. R.

For conspicuous gallantry when successfully laying and firing a torpedo under the enemy's wire. His cool bravery is very marked, and his influence over his men very great.

2nd Lt. Donald Patrick MacIver, 12th Bn., Arg. and Suth'd Highrs. (attd. 11th Bn.).

For conspicuous gallantry and determination. When the enemy had gained a footing in our lines and had erected a barricade, he attacked them with such vigour that he drove them back 60 yards beyond their barricade. Though wounded in the shoulder by a revolver bullet and slightly stunned by a bomb, he continued bombing till too stiff and faint for further activity.

2nd Lt. Archibald Stuart Charles MacLaren, K. O. Sco. Bord., Spec. Res., and R.F.C.

For conspicuous gallantry. On approaching an enemy aerodrome he observed a hostile aeroplane on the ground preparing to start, with pilot and observer in their seats and mechanics holding on to the wings. He descended to 100 feet, dropped a bomb squarely into the machine and blew it up, together with pilot, observer and mechanics. He then attacked and set fire to a Fokker which was in a hangar.

2nd Lt. James Cooke Macnab, 1/9th Bn., High. L.I., T.F.

For conspicuous gallantry during a raid. He took many prisoners, as ordered, at greater risk than if he had killed his opponents. He has repeatedly shown great daring on patrol.

Temp. 2nd Lt. Noël de Putron MacRoberts, 13th Bn., R. Suss. R.

For conspicuous gallantry. When two men of a wiring party fell wounded into the wire 2nd Lt. MacRoberts immediately went out under heavy machine-gun fire to their assistance. With the aid of two men of the wiring party, he extricated the wounded men and finally got them into our trenches. It was bright moonlight and machine-gun fire was continuous.

2nd Lt. Douglas Stewart Marchant, 9th Bn., High. L.I., T.F.

For conspicuous gallantry during a raid. He led his men with great skill, personally accounting for four of the enemy and taking six prisoners.

Temp. 2nd Lt. Bernard Sanderson Marshall, 6th (S.) Bn., S. Wales Bord.

For gallant conduct and devotion to duty when consolidating a crater. Though badly hit in the arm he carried on till exhausted. He had his wound dressed and returned to superintend his working parties.

Temp. 2nd Lt. Frederick Terry Douglas Mathews, 12th Bn. (attd. 11th Bn.), Arg. and Suth'd Highrs.).

For conspicuous gallantry when leading a patrol into the enemy's trenches. Though wounded by a bomb and dazed by the explosion, he pushed on along the enemy's trench, shot one man, and carried on till he was a second time badly wounded. He then withdrew with his patrol.

2nd Lt. Clacy William Patrick May, R. Ir. Rif., Spec. Res., and R.F.C.

For conspicuous gallantry and skill. He dived low over the enemy lines under heavy fire to attack a kite balloon. He succeeded in hitting it and in bringing it to the ground in flames.

Temp. 2nd Lt. Arthur McArthur, 12th Bn., North'd Fus.

For conspicuous gallantry. With another officer he organised at short notice and carried through a raid on the enemy's trenches. His coolness inspired his men and was largely responsible for the success of the raid, whereby six enemy were made prisoners.

Temp. 2nd Lt. Arthur William McCluskey, 21st Bn., North'd Fus.

For conspicuous gallantry when holding a barricade guarding a flank. He repelled no less than six attacks made by the enemy with bombs and rifle grenades during the day.

Temp. 2nd Lt. David Sidney Alexander McKimm, 6th Bn., Shrops. L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry. After leading a raiding party into the enemy's trenches he observed some twenty of the enemy trying to cut him off. He at once attacked them and held them up with bombs till all his party had withdrawn. He has done other fine work.

2nd Lt. John McWhannell, 2nd Bn., Wilts. R.

For conspicuous gallantry. He led a party of eight N.C.O.'s and men into the enemy's trenches to reconnoitre, and inflicted loss on the enemy. Next night, when another reconnoitring patrol had failed owing to hostile fire, he went out alone to the enemy front line and brought back the required information. He has set a fine example.

Temp. 2nd Lt. Harold Meldrum, 14th Bn., Glouc. R.

For conspicuous gallantry. He led a bombing party into the enemy's trenches, captured and brought back a machine-gun after killing the gun crew, and successfully bombed dug-outs. They were heavily shelled when returning.

2nd Lt. Frederick Auber Menzies, Ind. Army Res. of Off. (attd. 1st Sappers and Miners).

For conspicuous gallantry in going out, accompanied by one man, to within 100 yards of the enemy's lines and cutting the wires of six land mines. He then brought in his companion, who had been severely wounded. Three days later he was himself severely wounded.

2nd Lt. Hayward Hugh Moffatt, 1st Bn., Aus. Imp. Force.

For conspicuous gallantry during a raid. He ably assisted his senior officer during the withdrawal under heavy fire, and finally carried back a wounded officer.
