For conspicuous gallantry in action. Although himself badly shaken by a shell, with two men he attacked an enemy bombing post, killing the occupants and establishing a post there.

AUSTRALIAN IMPERIAL FORCE.

671 Sjt. (now 2nd Lt.) C. H. Miller, Aust. Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry when commanding a platoon in action. When several of his men were wounded he ran along the parados to get stretchers, and assisted in getting the wounded away. He has always shown coolness under fire.

CANADIAN CONTINGENT.

110134 Sjt. G. Dibblee, Can. Mtd. Rifles.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He assumed command of and led his platoon with great courage and determination. Later, although severely wounded, he remained at his post.

108311 Pte. R. Joblin, Can. Mtd. Rifles.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. With an N.C.O. he jumped on the parapet and bombed the enemy back, accounting for many with his revolver after his supply of bombs ran out, and saving the situation at a critical time.

73473 L./Cpl. M. E. Lawrence, Can. Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. When a live shell, the fuse of which was burning, was left in his trench mortar he ordered the crew to leave, and, tipping the gun up, caught the shell as it fell out and threw it over the parapet, when it at once exploded.

532244 Pte. (A. S./M.) J. McAskill, Can. A.S.C.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He showed great courage and determination in extricating the transport of the field ambulances and in continuing to evacuate the wounded under intense artillery fire.

110510 Cpl. J. D. Shearer, Can. Mtd. Rifles.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. He carried out a daring reconnaissance and obtained most valuable information. Later, with a private, he captured an enemy machine gun after killing the crew, turned the gun about, and opened fire on the enemy. On another occasion he led out a patrol and obtained valuable information.

117553 Cpl. J. W. Stephenson, Can. Mtd. Rifles.

For conspicuous gallantry in action. Accompanied by one man he jumped on the parapet and bombed the enemy back, accounting for many with his revolver after his supply of bombs ran out, and saving the situation at a critical time.
