

Lt. John Marshall Baker, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He personally led the advance to the extreme end of the task allotted, supervising the establishment of posts, and displaying great gallantry and initiative.

Capt. (temp. Maj.) Dougall Carmichael, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He displayed great courage and determination in carrying out the destruction of an important enemy work. He has previously done fine work.

Lt. William Albert Dawe, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in command of a raiding party. He cleared 100 yards of the enemy trench and captured two prisoners. Later, he remained behind after the withdrawal and blew up a concrete machine-gun emplacement.

Lt. Wilfred Derbyshire, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He gallantly led his party to their objective, bombed several dug-outs, and inflicted many casualties on the enemy. Later, he rescued several wounded men of his party under very heavy fire. He set a splendid example of courage and determination throughout.

Lt. Andrew Warwick Duncan, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in command of a raiding party. He gallantly led his men into the enemy trench, in spite of heavy fire, and carried out the task allotted to him with conspicuous success.

Lt. Frederick Charles Gillingwater, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Although severely wounded, he continued to lead his men with great dash, and himself killed two of the enemy. He was again severely wounded.

Lt. Charles Ridgeway Gilpin, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in command of a raiding party. He carefully organised his party and carried out the task allotted with conspicuous success. He set a splendid example to his men.

Lt. Robert Dickson Harkness, M.M.G. Ser.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during a raid on the enemy's trenches. He handled his machine gun with marked ability, and later, although suffering from shell shock, effected the withdrawal of his guns. He carried a wounded man to a place of safety.

Lt. David Vandewater Ketcheson, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in command of a raiding party.

Although wounded, he continued in command of his men, and led the assault on the enemy trench in a most determined manner. Later, he was again severely wounded.

Lt. James Arthur Murphy, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He rallied several raiding parties at a critical time. He displayed great gallantry throughout, and, although wounded, by his example and effort rendered invaluable assistance in making the operation a success.

Lt. Melbourne Parker Neily, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in command of a raiding party. Although severely wounded on entering the enemy trench, he continued to direct operations, and later effected a skilful withdrawal. He set a splendid example of courage and determination throughout.

Lt. Hubert Nelson Pitcher, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during a raid on the enemy's trenches. Although wounded before reaching the enemy trench, he continued to lead his men, and was subsequently the last man to leave the trench. He set a splendid example to all ranks.

Lt. Samuel John Reeves, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during a raid on the enemy's trenches. Although wounded, he led his men with great gallantry, and succeeded in establishing a block at a critical time. Later, he searched "No Man's Land" for two and a half hours in order to find a wounded N.C.O.

Lt. Harry Reymes, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in command of a raiding party. He led his men with great gallantry, and himself accounted for several of the enemy.

Lt. William Cameron Ross, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He reorganised his men under heavy fire, and led them forward to their objective. He set a splendid example throughout, and was largely responsible for the success of the operation.

Lt. Conn Smythe, Fld. Arty.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He organised some men and led them forward with great dash, thereby dispersing an enemy party at a critical time. He himself accounted for three of the enemy with his revolver. He has previously done fine work.

Lt. John Henry Grasset Strathy, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He displayed great courage and determination in assisting to destroy an