

where he was severely wounded. He remained with his platoon until weakness, through loss of blood, forced him to leave the trench.

Lt. William Black Stewart Morgan, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his men under heavy fire with great gallantry, and his fine example largely contributed to the success of the operations.

Lt. Ronald David Newitt, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his platoon with great gallantry and skill, repelling the enemy and capturing a machine gun and inflicting many losses.

Capt. John Patrick O'Neill, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Although considerably outnumbered, he maintained his position and prevented the enemy from breaking through, in spite of the fact that his left flank was exposed.

Capt. Stanley Vincent O'Regan, Army Med. Co., attd. Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He worked continuously throughout the day tending to the wounded under very heavy fire. He set a fine example to all ranks.

Capt. Norman Percy Owen, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He displayed the utmost gallantry and skill in leading his company in the face of heavy fire. His skilful leadership and personal example largely contributed to the success of the operations.

Lt. William Parsonage, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his men in the most gallant manner, and personally covered the withdrawal. He set a splendid example to his men.

Lt. Bernard Charles John Rose, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He organised a party of bombers and, counter-attacking, drove the enemy back and established a block which he held against repeated attacks. He has previously done fine work.

Lt. Reginald William Sampson, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led a patrol over open country in the face of heavy fire and succeeded in gaining possession of a village. He set a splendid example to his men.

Capt. Harold William Hastings Seager, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He rendered valuable service while in command of a rescue company. He attacked with the utmost skill and determination, thereby relieving the pressure at a very critical time. He set a fine example of courage and coolness throughout.

Lt. Eric Ralph Shelley, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his platoon with great dash, and succeeded in capturing two enemy strong points. He set a splendid example to his men.

Lt. Richard Victor Shield, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He went forward under very heavy fire and took charge of an advanced post at a critical time. Later, although his leg was broken, he remained in command of his men and succeeded in driving the enemy back.

Lt. Frederick William David Smith, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. In spite of being subjected to very heavy hostile fire he maintained his position and inspired his men by his magnificent example.

Lt. James Allan Stanton, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He rallied his men under very heavy fire and led them forward in the most gallant manner. He set a splendid example of courage and initiative.

Capt. Lewis Tuckett, Engrs.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He rendered invaluable service in establishing and repairing communications under heavy fire. He set a fine example throughout to his men.

Capt. James Gordon Tyson, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He gallantly led half of his company forward at a critical stage in the attack, and thus enabled an enemy strong point which was holding up the advance to be captured.

Capt. William Robert Wadsworth, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He gallantly led his company forward in the face of very heavy fire and captured the first and second objectives. He set a splendid example throughout.

2nd Lt. Clarence Waight, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He gallantly led his men forward in the face of very heavy fire, and was himself the first man to reach the enemy trenches. He was wounded.

Lt. William Waite, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He has carried out several valuable reconnaissances, and obtained important information, which largely contributed to the success of the operations.

Lt. Douglas John Walsh, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Although wounded, he led his men forward in the most gallant manner and succeeded in driving the enemy out of their trench.

Lt. William Watson, Infy.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He went forward under very heavy