

played the utmost devotion and courage in attending wounded under fire. He saved several lives in this manner before reporting his own wound.

27644 Pte. F. Dolling, Som. L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He made several journeys across open ground swept by machine gun and rifle fire in order to rescue wounded men. It was due to his splendid example that several lives were saved.

19334 Sjt. J. Donovan, R.G.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He assisted an officer to extinguish a burning lorry, and organised a party to rescue the battery stores, which were also on fire. This work was carried out under heavy hostile fire.

S/4936 Cpl. (A./Sjt.) J. Duncan, Gord. Highrs.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his men in the most gallant manner, and was largely responsible for the capture of an enemy strong point.

12159 Pte. J. P. Dunn, Hrs

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. His horse being killed and himself wounded, he found a dug-out and collected a large number of wounded into it, and for several days tended them, finding food and covering for them. He undoubtedly saved the lives of many wounded.

240504 C./S./M. F. Easthope, R. War. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He took forward a platoon to support the front line. On arriving he assumed command of the leading platoon also, and with these two platoons rushed the enemy position, which he captured and consolidated.

240492 Sjt. W. E. Edwards, Worc. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He assumed command of his platoon, and in the face of heavy fire at short range succeeded in gaining his objective. He was largely responsible for the success of the operations.

65935 2nd Class Air Mech. L. H. Emsden, R.F.C.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He has displayed the utmost gallantry and skill as an observer in aerial combats, continually bringing down his opponents with great skill and daring.

201286 (frmly. 3964) Cpl. (now Sjt.) J. E. Farnsworth, Linc. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He showed great courage and determination when commanding a wire-cutting party. He finally withdrew his party, covering their retirement himself, and got several of the wounded under cover.

240647 Pte. (L./Cpl.) P. Fearies, Leic. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He displayed great courage and ability when commanding a patrol under heavy fire. He has at all times set a fine example.

11915 Pte. A. Fidler, Shrops. L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He handled his machine gun team with the greatest skill, and was largely responsible for the success of the operations.

2729 Pte. W. Flaherty, Manch. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He displayed great promptness and initiative in the newly captured position. He caused a block to be made and brought a machine gun into action against enfilade fire, inflicting a large number of casualties. He set a splendid example throughout.

5074 Sjt. P. Fleming, Cam. Highrs.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He assumed command of his company and gallantly led his men forward in the face of very heavy fire. He set a splendid example throughout.

20210 Actg. Sjt. H. Flewitt, L'pool R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led a bombing attack with the greatest dash, and throughout the whole operation his conduct was a magnificent example to his men.

16637 L./Cpl. H. J. Francis, Som. L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Although his own group was in danger of being surrounded he waited until another group had effected their withdrawal, keeping the enemy off with rifle fire.

7992 Pte. G. Garside, Lanc. Fus.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. An enemy aeroplane was brought down in No Man's Land. Failing to make it good by daylight, he went out again at night and bombed off the enemy, and brought back maps and guns from the machine.

5739 L./Cpl. M. Gear, Bord. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He displayed great courage and determination when in command of a salvage party. In spite of heavy shelling he kept his section together and persisted in his work until severely wounded.

203143 (frmly. 6533) Pte. (A./Cpl.) F. C. Gee, Hamps. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When all the crew except himself had become casualties, he jumped into the river and pulled the boat into the shore, thus saving the pontoon and the lives of the wounded men in it.

5/28118 C./S./M. J. W. Gill, Yorks. L.I.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He carried out a difficult reconnaissance under very heavy fire and brought back most valuable information.

240099 Cpl. H. Gisbourne, Worc. R.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He assumed command of his platoon, and in spite of very heavy hostile fire succeeded in reaching his objective.

11558 Pte. H. W. Green, Hrs.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He formed a dressing station in a