

McCann, Agnes.

For courage and resource in saving the life of a fellow-worker entangled in dangerously running machinery, at great risk to her life.

McDonald, James.

For courage in attempting to save the life of a fellow-worker who was gassed in a gas main by entering it at very great personal risk.

McDonald, James, Ironwork Erector.

For courage in the rescue of fellow-workmen who were overcome by gas.

McDougall, George.

For courage in saving the lives of several fellow-workers who were buried in the lining of a furnace which they were repairing.

McFarlane, Edward.

For courage in saving the lives of two of his fellow-workers by entering an ash receiver full of mono-oxide gas.

McGhie, James, Under Foreman Joiner.

For bravery at the cost of serious personal injury in saving a half-blind labourer from being run over by a locomotive.

McGrath, Michael.

For courage in ascending a furnace under conditions so dangerous that all others had refused to do so.

McIntyre, May Louise.

For courage and high example on the occasion of an accident at a filling factory.

McMaddocks, John.

For great courage on the occasion of a fire in an explosives factory. He brought the drenchers into action, and used his own body to prevent draught fanning the flames in stoves.

Male, Albert Herbert.

For courage on the occasion of a fire in an explosives factory.

Marsh, Daisy.

For courage and resource in utilising emergency fire appliances on the occasion of an explosion at an explosives factory.

Martin, Thomas.

For courage displayed on two occasions in dealing with an explosion and a fire at works producing highly inflammable liquids under circumstances of exceptional danger.

Mason, Mollie Josephine, Munition Worker, Chatham Dockyard.

For courage and presence of mind in averting panic among women workers who were occupants of an overturned railway carriage.

Massey, Robert.

For courage and self-sacrifice in carrying out dangerous experiments.

Master, John.

For courage in preventing an explosion and fire at great personal risk.

Maw, Edith Blanche, Supervisor, Telephones.

Displayed great courage and devotion to duty during air-raids.

Mayall, William Alfred.

For courage and high example on the occasion of a fire in an explosives factory.

Medine, Edward.

For courage in saving the lives of several fellow workers who were buried in the lining of a furnace which they were repairing.

Mee, Walter.

For courage and resource in dealing with a fire at the cost of bodily injury.

Menzies, James.

For courage and high example on the occasion of a serious explosion.

Meredith, William.

For courage in saving the life of a fellow workman who had been rendered unconscious by foul gas.

Merralls, Annie Dyer, Supervisor, Telephones.

Displayed great courage and devotion to duty during air-raids.

Miller, Robert.

For courage in saving the life of a fellow worker who was overcome by poisonous fumes, at great personal risk.

Mills, Rose.

For courage displayed on the occasion of an explosion, at great personal risk.

Mitchell, G.

For courage in assisting to extinguish a fire which resulted in a very serious explosion.

Mitchell, George Edgar.

For courage and high example on several occasions of explosion and fire in a shell filling factory.

Monks, John Joseph Christopher, Skilled Workman, G.P.O.

On many occasions continued his work under fire, displaying great zeal and courage.

Moody, Margaret, Telephonist.

Displayed great courage and devotion to duty during air-raids.

Morgan, David George.

For courage and high example in picking up and drowning a shell which had become accidentally ignited.

Morgan, William.

For courage and resource in assisting to extinguish a fire at a filling factory, at imminent risk of serious explosion.

Morphet, Nora.

For courage and high example in continuously working long hours in a poisonous atmosphere which habitually affected her health.

Morris, Frederick Thomas.

For courage on the occasion of a fire in an explosives factory.

Mulholland, Maggie.

For courage and very high example in her behaviour when in charge of a canteen adjoining a store of explosives which was on fire.

Myers, George.

For courage and self-sacrifice in carrying out dangerous experiments.

Naar, Abraham, Sorter.

Devotion to duty under specially difficult and dangerous circumstances.

Nadin, Thomas, Engineer of Yard Craft, Sheerness Dockyard.

For courage, self-sacrifice and exceptional skill in the salvage of a merchant ship in a minefield.

Neal, Arthur John.

For courage in a serious accident due to bursting of crucible of melted metal. Though severely injured, he kept the others calm and had them attended to first, though they were in less danger.

Nelson, Joan.

For courage in continuing to work in an explosives factory, under circumstances of grave danger.

Newson, George William.

For courage in fighting a fire caused by an explosion, at very great personal risk.

Newton, Violet.

For courage in returning to work after a serious accident in which two workers were killed, and she was severely injured.