

mained at duty and continued to attend to the wounded under fire. He set a splendid example to all.

206564 Sjt. G. H. Emery, R.W. Surr. R. (Woking).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during an attack. By his example and leadership he inspired his men with confidence during the advance, and when the objective was reached he did most excellent work in helping to consolidate and organise the position.

610002 B./S./M. J. Farrow, R.H.A. (Leicester).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Though stunned by a shell while at work in an observation post, he at once resumed his duties with great courage and determination on regaining consciousness.

84473 Gnr. A. E. Fisher, R.F.A. (Battersea).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. The camouflage of his gun-pit caught fire, and also some spare charges, which blazed up violently. He entered the blazing pit, although he knew it contained a magazine full of H.E., which might have blown up any minute, and coolly threw water on the fire from buckets passed up to him, till it was extinguished. Owing to his great gallantry and presence of mind no serious damage was done.

300069 Pte. W. Flockhart, R. Scots (Leith).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During an action he searched for and brought in wounded all day and night under heavy shell and machine-gun fire. He showed great determination and self-sacrifice.

10066 Sjt. J. H. Fraser, Gord. Highrs. (Alvah).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He has at all times rendered most valuable services and has consistently performed his duties in an exemplary manner.

235825 Pte. W. R. Free, Glouc. R. (Bristol).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During an action he made several journeys under heavy and continuous fire to bring in wounded. He showed great determination and self-sacrifice.

39741 Pte. J. Gallimore, R.A.M.C. (Tyldesley).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He showed great courage and self-sacrifice in attending to the wounded under heavy fire.

3926 Cdr. (now A.C.O. and Hon. Lt.) F. W. Gardner, A.O.C. (Aldershot).

For conspicuous devotion to duty. He has rendered at all times most valuable service, and has efficiently carried out his responsible duties with the utmost zeal and devotion to duty.

20247 Sjt. P. J. Gill, R.G.A. (Bristol).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. An explosion occurred in the gunpit and the netting collapsed in flames. Two cartridges ignited, and he, together with four other men, were very badly burnt. In spite of this, and well knowing the risk he ran, he re-entered the gunpit and brought out two men. His conduct offered a splendid instance of utter contempt of danger and fearless devotion to duty.

S4/173134 Pte. (A./Cpl.) A. Given, A.S.C. (Galashiels).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He rendered splendid service during the operations, and has consistently done good work during a long period.

9185 L./Cpl. C. Goldsmith, S. Lan. R. (Ashford).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. Though aware that an enemy force was approaching his isolated position he remained at his post until the enemy arrived. He then sent back information of the fact by runner and hid himself for three days until the enemy cleared away. He at once resumed his post and informed headquarters. By his initiative and determination he obtained much valuable information.

3395 L./Cpl. A. Goodey, A. Cy. C. ("E" London).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on many occasions in patrol actions and skirmishes. On one occasion, when in charge of a Lewis gun, although wounded, he brought his gun into action, and continued to fight it, regardless of pain. His conduct has been magnificent throughout.

300081 Cpl. G. W. Grant, Yeo. (Newark, Notts.).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He has done excellent and consistent good work, and set a fine example to his men during a long period.

7/14077 C./S./M. (A./R./S./M.) P. Hall, S.W. Bords. (Crumlin).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on several occasions. During a gas attack and during active operations he set a splendid example to the remainder of the battalion. He has always shown a fine devotion to duty.

290907 L./Cpl. (A./Cpl.) F. Hallsworth, Midd'x R. (Hendon, N.W.).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He attended to a very large number of wounded under continuous shell and rifle fire. He remained in the open at this work throughout the whole night, showing the greatest devotion to duty and self-sacrifice.

B.1 Sjt. Hamisi Bin Abdullah, Intelligence Dept.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He displayed marked courage and coolness in action when with the baggage guard. Having rallied some armed scouts together with some troops of other units, under heavy machine gun fire, he succeeded in beating off the enemy's first attack, and by his resource saved some baggage and ammunition and, in particular, a regimental
