240754 C.S.M. A. Jenkins, Worc. R. (Worcester).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He was untiring in his work, and he was very largely responsible for the excellent training of his company in patrol work, taking out patrols night after night under his own instruction. On several occasions when coming into contact with the enemy while on patrol, his personal gallantry and fine fighting spirit afforded the very highest example to his men. His handling of working and carrying parties was beyond all praise.

84012 C.S.M. E. H. Johns, R.E. (Norwich).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during a long period of continuous active operations. On all occasions he displayed great courage and ability, and by his fine example under fire he instilled confidence into all ranks.

29977 Sjt. E. A. Johnson, R.G.A. (Walthamstow).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. At all times during the operations he has proved an excellent No. 1 of his gun, which he has kept consistently in action under shell fire of every degree of intensity. He always afforded a most inspiring example of coolness and courage.

66535 Cpl. F. W. Johnson, R.E. (Mildmay Park, London).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. His work with the company has always been of outstanding merit, and in laying and maintaining lines under heavy shell fire he has displayed marked gallantry and splendid courage, serving to inspire the men under him to the highest degree. During the whole of his two years active service his work has been of the same high standard.

S.3447 Pte. T. Johnson, Rif. Bde. (Stockton).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He has rendered excellent service as a battalion runner during twenty-four months. His work of guiding platoons and parties of stretcher-bearers under heavy shell fire during a particularly critical period was magnificent. His complete indifference to shell fire was most marked.

9424 Sjt. S. Johnstone, Sco. Rif. (Whiteinch).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He has served continuously with his battalion for a very long period, and has taken part in many engagements. He has always carried out his duties with great skill and shown splendid courage under fire.

26550 Sjt. A. Jones, M.G. Corps (Stoke-under-Ham).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. During an attack he handled his machine guns with great skill, and on one occasion extricated his teams from a difficult situation, showing great initiative under heavy fire. He has done excellent work during a long period, and has always set a splendid example of courage.

11867 A./Cpl. F. G. Jones, D. of Corn. L.I. (Plaistow).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in charge of the battalion runners. He invariably displayed great organising capacity and splendid courage and endurance. He performed his duties in the most fearless manner, keeping his command together and carrying messages backwards and forwards through heavy enemy machine-gun, rifle and artillery fire.

302534 L./Cpl. J. Jones, Manch. R. (Hengoed, S. Wales).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He volunteered to swim across a river to obtain information, and although he encountered an enemy patrol and a working party, he successfully returned with the information required.

33092 Cpl. J. H. Jones, R.G.A. (Birmingham).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. As N.C.O. in charge of the signaller he showed marked courage, ability, and devotion to duty. On several occasions, when maintaining communications, he worked under shell fire for several hours, and invariably succeeded in establishing communication where others failed, carrying out his duties in a thoroughly efficient manner.

22153 R.S.M. J. R. Jones, M.C., R.W. Fus. (Strafford).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. In action he exhibited splendid coolness and power of organisation. On one occasion he found himself in command of the battalion, and appreciating the situation at once, he issued the necessary orders for consolidation and reorganisation. He invariably showed splendid keenness and energy.

86354 Spr. R. Jones, R.E. (Merioneth).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. On many occasions he showed great courage and performed excellent work in mine rescue operations. He was severely gassed whilst attempting to save his officer's life when the latter had become buried. On this occasion his coolness undoubtedly was the means of preventing others from being gassed.
