

and controlling men of his own and other units by his example and leadership.

287 Sjt. R. A. F. Campbell, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He led his platoon with great success in an attack and handled it with splendid skill under difficult conditions. He assisted in capturing an enemy machine gun with its crew. He sent back valuable and timely information, and contributed to the success of the operation by his courage and leadership.

928 C.S.M. H. M. Cook, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When in charge of a strong point he drove off single-handed a hostile patrol twenty strong, and prevented them from locating the position of his post. On another occasion he took part in an important raid, and has always set a splendid example of coolness under heavy fire.

1616 Cpl. H. F. Eagle, A.F.A.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty and consistent good work. He has rendered valuable service particularly in two important engagements, and has always set a splendid example of coolness and determination. He frequently attended to wounded men under heavy shell fire.

334 Sjt. A. W. Farmer, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty as transport serjeant. His work at all times has been worthy of the highest praise, and all duties entrusted to him have been carried out in a most capable manner. He rendered valuable service to his unit during heavy fighting by getting forward rations under the most difficult conditions.

622 Sjt. R. P. Farris, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He showed splendid courage and determination in an attack, and has always set a magnificent example to his men.

3101 Cpl. A. Flavell, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. On two occasions he dispersed enemy patrols and captured prisoners, and displayed great initiative and skill. During an attack he showed splendid courage and determination, and after the capture of the enemy's trenches he held a post single-handed when all his men had become casualties.

10609 Sjt. (now 2nd Lt.) S. Fountain, Engrs.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty as signalling N.C.O. He showed great ability in handling difficult situations during an engagement, and by his initiative and coolness succeeded in maintaining communication, in spite of casualties among his men and heavy shelling.

806 Sjt. C. E. Free, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty and consistent good work. He showed splendid courage and initiative in an attack. On many occasions he displayed great coolness and resource, and proved himself an excellent leader.

456 R.S.M. R. F. Gray, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty and consistent good work. He has always set a splendid example to the N.C.O.'s and men of his unit, and has displayed untiring energy in the performance of his duties.

2709 Sjt. L. G. Howe, Engrs.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty and consistent good work, often under trying circumstances. He invariably displayed great courage and resource in the performance of his work, and set a fine example to his men.

1295 Sjt. L. G. Jarvis, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in command of a platoon holding an important isolated post. He handled his men with great skill, and was able to secure very important information as to the enemy's movements. His never failing cheerfulness and courage were an inspiration to his men.

938 Sjt. J. H. Leach, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty and consistent good work. He has taken part in many engagements, and has always shown great courage and coolness under fire.

396 2nd Cpl. L. T. J. Marshall, Engrs.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. His energy and determination in consolidating part of a captured position were most marked. He has frequently carried out difficult work of this nature, and set an excellent example of coolness and resource.

1455 S./M. A. E. McDonald, Fld. Arty.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in action. When the battery was being heavily shelled, he was, although suffering from shell shock, continually in the open, passing orders, and by his courage and splendid example under heavy shell fire greatly encouraged the men working at the guns.

386 S./S. A. V. D. Moody, Engrs.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. He carried out his duties in connection with the installation of electric power for mining and pumping with great energy and initiative, and rendered valuable service by his skilful work.

1861 2nd Cpl. J. L. Mounsey, Engrs.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when in charge of telephone communication. When a signal station near to his position was destroyed by shell fire he showed great promptness and resource in dealing with the situation. He laid a new line, and was the means of re-establishing communication with as little delay as possible. He has always shown great skill and determination at his work.

1764 Sjt. B. F. Murphy, Inf.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during a long period. He has always volunteered for any difficult or dangerous task, and frequently secured valuable information by leading patrols. He has taken part in many engagements, and has done splendid work.