

V.A.D. Moyra Cavanagh, St. John's Ambulance Brigade.

For gallantry and devotion to duty during an enemy air raid. Miss Cavanagh was in charge of four wards, two of which were entirely wrecked. She continued to perform her duty, and in addition was very active in removing the wounded to a place of comparative safety.

Nurse Edith Hounslow, A.R.R.C., St. John's Ambulance Brigade.

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during an enemy air raid. A bomb fell between two of her wards and injured many patients. She behaved with the utmost coolness, and set a fine example, attending wounded under most trying circumstances.

Asst. Matron Mabel Chittock, St. John's Ambulance Brigade Hospital.

For gallantry and devotion to duty during an enemy air raid. She displayed great presence of mind, and instilled courage and confidence throughout a very trying time.

Matron Constance Elizabeth Todd, St. John's Ambulance Brigade Hospital.

For gallantry and devotion to duty during an enemy air raid. She moved freely about the wards during the bombing, encouraging the Sisters and patients, and displayed great bravery and presence of mind throughout.

Sister Kathleen Warner, St. John's Ambulance Brigade Hospital.

For gallantry and devotion to duty during an enemy air raid. She displayed the utmost coolness, and maintained a cheery spirit throughout, showing great bravery.

Sister Jane Bemrose, St. John's Ambulance Brigade Hospital.

For gallantry and devotion to duty during an enemy air raid. She showed disregard of danger, and continued to attend the wounded in her charge during the heavy bombardment.

Sister Molly McGinnis, St. John's Ambulance Brigade Hospital.

For gallantry and devotion to duty during an enemy air raid. She showed great courage, took charge of a ward, and sustained her patients.

Sister Margaret Hendebourck Ballance, St. John's Ambulance Brigade Hospital.

For gallantry and devotion to duty during an enemy air raid. Her fortitude and courage were most conspicuous. She devoted herself entirely to her patients.
