Ships from Brifol; and yefterday came in the Joseph and two other Men of War, with 50 Sill of Vessels from Swanzer, bound about Land.

Falmoath, Aug. 17. This Morning a French Privateer of about 30 Guns appeared off this Harbour, and soon after an English Frigat gave chase to her, and we have since heard the firing of several Guns.

Plimouth, Asg. 18. Yesterday came in the Anne-Galley Privateer, with a Prize laden with Silt; and this day the Smirns-Fastor, with several Merchant-ships bound to the Westward. Yesterday were seen off the Lizard two French Privateers, one of 40, the other of 24 Guns; and His Majesty's Ship the Lizastild afterwards engaged one of them, but we do not vet know the Islue.

Portsmouth, Aug. 18. Yesterday came to Spithead His Majesty's Ship the Neptune, with several other Ships from the Downes. The Coventry, Capt. Misters Commander, is likewise come in, having off Dartmouth retaken the Mar v Pink of Tinmouth, which had 5 French-men on board her. From on Board His Majesty's Ship the Shrewsbury, Aug. 18. On the 16th, my Lord Berk. Ley, with the Ficer under his Command, came to an Anchor before Calais; but it proved too calm for the Bomb-vessels to stand in that Evening. The 17th, about Eleven in the Morning, Col. Richards anchor'd with the seid Romb-vessels in three Fashon. Water.

The 17th, about Eleven in the Morning, Col. Richards anchor'd with the faid Bomb-vessels in three Fathom Water, and began to Bombard the Town, which by One a Clock was on fire in feveral places; and about this time the Enemy's Half-Galleys, and other armed Vessels, to the number of 20, came out, and shood close under their own Shore, of 20, came our, and those close unser their own snore, to the Eastward, thinking to annoy our Line of Bombhips; but my Lord Berkeley sending in the Brigantines and several small Vessels, they put the Enemy into such Confusion, that they got back with much difficulty to the Peer-heads: About Iwo a Clock, one of our Bombs set fire to their Magazine in the Ricebank, which occasioned a state District and after this there over the ro their Magazine in the Ricebank, which occationed a great Diforder among them; and after this they never fired either their Cannon or Meriars, of which they had feweral Batteries. We continued to play our Bombs till Five in the Evening; and floot about Six Hundred Shells, which did fuch Execution, that we are confident the Town is very much rule'd: Our Bombardiers behaved themfilves extreamly well in this Occasion: and our Loss is very small: Capt. Osborne, Commander of the Alborough-Kerch, was killed by a Cannon-shot from the Enemy's Galleys. my's Galleys.

Deal, Aug. 20. The 18th came into the Downes the Elizabeth and Charles-Galley from the Fleet commanded by my Lord Berkeley, which they left in Dows-Road. And the same day came in the Mary, Berkeley Costle and Prince of Orange, with the homeward bound Streights Fleet.

My Lord Berkeley went associates the Downes, and is gone for the Fleet came into the Downes, the Costle and Prince of Downes.

Lindon. The Fleet came into the Downes this day, commanded by Sir Cloudesty Skovell, who is on board the Northumberland. The Norewsbury, Cambridge, Tarmouth and Maiastone are gone for Perssmouth.

The Paris-Gazette of the 20th of this Month concludes with a long Article about the Bombard. ing of Brassels; and would perfuade the World, that the French King always detested such Hostilities, and offer'd now to forbear them, upon condition the Allies would promife the like on their fide; but omits what is very remarkable. That the Mareschal de Villeroy, who sent that Message to the Governor of Brussels, would not stay till an Answer could be had from His Majesty, but begun to fire so soon as his Batteries could be got ready; and thereby shewed that he had no other Design in what he proposed, than to delude ignorant People. One would have thought, that before the French had complain'd of the Allies having Bombarded the Maritime Places of France, and pretended to fo much Aversion to make Reprisals in the same kind, they would let us have forgot the destruction of the City of Genous in a time of Peace, and upon no other Provocation than their being Diffatisfied with the Conduct of that Re-publick, and the many Cruelties and horrible Desolations which their Troops have made in the Palatinate, Piedmont, and other places, to a degree that the most barbarous Nations would be asham'd of. But they are in possession of doing and publishing whatever may be for their purpose, without thinking themselves obliged by any Tyes of Justice or Sincerity; as, among other things, appears by so many shameful Fassities as are Weekly printed by publick Authority, to amuse and keep up the Hearts of the People; And particularly, by the Account which the Gazette of the 13th gives That 8 Men of War of Admiral Ruff. P. Fleet wete That 8 Men or war or Admiral Ray as received funk, and 15 unmaited by the Storm that drove them to Sardinia: And it deserves to be likewise taken notice of, That while they boast to have Bombarded Brussels in sight of the Consederate Armould not venture a Ratest for which my, who would not venture a Battel, for which the Mareschal de Villeroy sought an Occasson, they do not remember how lately the French Army cover'd themselves behind their Lines to avoid one, when they had a more equal Force to deal with. But it is a Sign their Affairs are in an ill Condition, when they need such Methods to fupport them.
