

naissance gained valuable information. On the 24th March he again displayed great courage in the performance of his duties under heavy machine-gun and shell fire.

AWARDED THE MILITARY CROSS.

T./Asst. Surg. James Michael Connor, Indian Medical Department. (INDIA)

For marked gallantry and devotion to duty at Barley Hill Picquet on July 18th, 1919. He went out from Fort Maude, and, after being wounded himself, attended the wounded under fire until they were evacuated. He was again wounded while leaving, but continued at duty at Fort Maude until the 20th.

Lt. (A./Capt.) Eric Norman Goddard, O.B.E., 107th, attd. 128th, Pioneers, I.A. (Mesopotamia).

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty during the attack on Suwari Camp, on the 14th August, 1919, when he displayed the most untiring zeal and contempt of danger. Throughout the day he controlled his command most ably, and it was almost entirely due to his foresight that the hostile attack failed.

Lt. Cecil Walter Lewery Harvey, 2/1st Gurkha Rifles. (INDIA)

At Dakka, on 3rd July, 1919, after three unsuccessful attempts had been made to assault Twin Peaks, he led two weak platoons against the near peak successfully, and then on the other, inflicting many casualties on the enemy, who retreated. He showed gallant and able leadership.

2nd Lt. William John Hook, 1st Bn., R. Suss. R. (INDIA)

On 18th and 19th July, 1919, he on three occasions took out small parties to shift snipers. During the attack on Orange Patch Ridge, when some of the enemy penetrated his wire he showed great coolness and ability to command.

Lt. Augustus Oates, D.S.O., 2/67th Punjabis, I.A. (INDIA)

He was in command at Fort Maude on 18th July, when Barley Hill was attacked, and showed cool and able leadership in directing the efforts to assist that picquet. The heavy losses inflicted on the enemy were largely due to his excellent dispositions.

Ressaidar Rewat Singh, 32nd Lrs., I.A. (MESOPOTAMIA)

For marked gallantry and good work on the 30th May, 1919. At Qara Anjir his squadron was heavily attacked. He took a Hotchkiss gun to a flank, and used it with such effect that it delayed the enemy for a considerable time. Though wounded in the thigh he continued in action, withdrawing his gun to various positions and thereby enabling his squadron to retire.

Jemadar Lal Shah Gul, 126th Baluchistan Infy., I.A. (MESOPOTAMIA)

For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty at Sheranis on 17th September, 1919, when with two sections he attacked and captured a point within close range of the enemy sangars at Khantur. Although heavily fired on he maintained his position unsupported for two hours until ordered to withdraw. Whilst holding the position he showed great gallantry in moving wounded men, and controlled his command most skilfully throughout.

Capt. Harry Victor Yule, 25th Cavalry (F.F.), attd. Zhob Militia, I.A. (INDIA)

Between the 6th and 8th June, 1919, he marched a party of 200 Gurkhas through enemy country, some 54 miles in 43 hours, to reinforce Fort Sandman, and forced his way through after suffering considerable casualties. He showed bold and able leadership, and materially aided the situation at the fort.

His Majesty the KING has been graciously pleased to approve of the award of the Distinguished Conduct Medal to the undermentioned Non-Commissioned Officers and Men for gallantry and distinguished service in the Field:—

AWARDED THE DISTINGUISHED CONDUCT MEDAL.

D/548 Cpl. (L./Sjt.) A. Browning, 1st King's Dn. Gds. (Henfield, Sussex). (INDIA).

At Dakka, on 16th May, 1919, he was in command of a troop on the extreme left. He handled his troop with marked skill and coolness, and on one occasion, when his rear-most section was in danger of being cut off, he returned and withdrew it successfully.

47923 Sjt. S. Moore, 15th M.G. Sqdn. (Barrow-in-Furness). (INDIA)

For conspicuous gallantry at Leo Dakka, 16th-17th May, 1919. He and Private Withey volunteered and galloped back under heavy fire at close range to save a wounded man.

64121 Spr. J. Neill, 122nd Fd. Coy., R.E. (Belfast). (FRANCE)

For conspicuous gallantry on the 16th October, 1918, during the bridging operations at Coutrai. When the first pontoon across the River Lys was grounded near the enemy side, he, under heavy machine-gun fire, dived overboard, and brought the rope ashore, thus saving any delay. Later, he volunteered to swim across the canal to deliver a message, and after two attempts succeeded, thus rendering valuable service. (Award to date 23rd November, 1918.)

9363 Cpl. A. W. Redfern, 2nd Bn., N. Staffs. R. (Haughton). (INDIA)

For marked courage and initiative at Bagh, on 11th May, 1919. He crept up and threw a bomb into the enemy trench and killed all the occupants. He then moved to the other flank, and threw four bombs. He then charged with his men, captured the trench, and killed all the occupants.
