Awarded the Military Cross.

Subadar (now Subadar-Maj.) Amir Khan, 2/21st Punjabie, I.A.

During operations at Jandola, on 29th June, 1921, his company commander was killed, whereon he took charge of the company, and handled it with great skill and coolness. At the time he took over command the company was just starting to cross the Sagar Algard, being on the extreme right of the battalion. The enemy had held up this advance at this point by heavy fire and by carrying out an outflanking movement in force. The situation at this time was critical; if this company had not defeated the enemy flanking movement the remainder of the regiment would have been taken in rear. Although short of ammunition he defeated the flanking movement, after which, still under heavy fire, he got in all the wounded, rifles and equipment. When the retirement was started the enemy charged; in face of this he completely broke the enemy's rush and carried out a most skilful retirement. His company did not lose a single rifle or piece of equipment, and brought in the equipment of a Lewis gun number who had been killed.

It was mainly due to the courage, skill and coolness of this Indian officer that the regiment was able to effect a successful retirement without the heavy loss in men and rifles which at one time seemed inevitable.

He himself displayed great personal bravery and set an excellent example to his men.

The KING has been graciously pleased to approve of the undermentioned reward, on the recommendation of the General Officer Commanding-in-Chief, for distinguished service in the Field with the British Army of the Black Sea:—

To be dated 31st October, 1920.
