SUPERANNUATION ACT, 1887.

The Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury have made the following Provisional Warrant dated the 11th December, 1923, under the Superannuation Act, 1887, and the Workmen's Compensation Acts, 1906 and 1923:—

Whereas it is provided by section 9 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, that the Treasury may, by Warrant laid before Parliament, modify for the purposes of that Act their Warrant made under section 1 of the Superannuation Act, 1887, which Warrant, dated 16th September, 1887, with the Warrants amending the same, dated respectively 30th October, 1889, and 23rd April, 1906, regulates the award of compensation to persons employed in the Civil Service of the State who are injured in the discharge of their duty.

And whereas by Warrant laid before Parliament on the 26th August, 1907, the Treasury modified for the purposes of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, the said Warrant, with amending Warrants, framed under the Superannuation Act, 1887, and declared that no award should be made under the last mentioned Warrants in respect of any injury occurring after 1st July, 1907, to any person or to the widow or other relative of any person, employed in the Civil Service of the State, who is within the definition of "workman" as set forth in section 13 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, that is to say, a person employed by way of manual labour, at whatever remuneration, or a person employed otherwise than by way of manual labour at remuneration not exceeding two hundred and fifty pounds a year.

And whereas the said definition of "workman" will, by virtue of section 9 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, have effect, in relation to any injury received on or after the first day of January, 1924, as if for the words "two hundred and fifty pounds" there were inserted the words "three hundred and fifty pounds."

And whereas it is not possible to comply as respects this Warrant with the requirements of section 1 of the Rules Publication Act, 1893, before the said first day of January, 1924.

Now we, being two of the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, do so modify the said Warrant, with amending Warrants, framed under the Superannuation Act, 1887, as to declare that no award shall be made thereunder in respect of any injury occurring on or after the first day of January, 1924, to any person, or to the widow or other relative of any person, employed in the Civil Service of the State, who is within the definition of "workman" contained in section 13 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906, as amended by section 9 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, and we do hereby certify in pursuance of section 2 of the Rules Publication Act, 1893, that on account of urgency this Warrant shall come into operation forthwith as a provisional Warrant and continue in force until statutory rules shall have been made in accordance with the last-mentioned Act.
