“And whereas certain of the duties hitherto performed by Your Majesty's Coastguard under the Board of Admiralty have, since the first day of April, 1923, been carried out by employes of the Board of Trade and Board of Customs at all Stations other than certain

Admiralty Shore Signal Stations where the duties are performed by the Admiralty on behalf of the Board of Trade:

“And whereas the full pay and retiring allowances of Officers of the Royal Navy and Royal Marines are subject to revision periodically, and we are of opinion that the pay and discharge gratuities of Officers of the Royal Naval Shore Signal Service should be subject to revision in the same manner and at the same dates:

Whitehall, June 2, 1925.

The following Address was presented to The KING on Saturday, the 23rd ultimo, on the occasion of the laying of the foundation stone of the new premises of Lloyd's, in course of erection in Leadenhall Street, London, E.C. 3.

CORPORATION OF LLOYD'S.

TO THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

May it please Your Majesty:—

In graciously consenting to lay the foundation stone of the new Lloyd's Your Majesty is giving Royal approval to an enterprise characteristically British both in origin and development. Its origin is to be found in the seventeenth century when Merchants interested in overseas commerce resorted to the Coffee House kept by Edward Lloyd first in Tower Street and then in Lombard Street. To Lloyd's Coffee House, in order to obtain and sometimes to give information, came the most famous "Clerk of the King's Ships," Samuel Pepys, and thus began that relation between the Royal Navy and Lloyd's which has subsisted to the present day.

From this modest, almost casual, beginning there has grown up, by imperceptible gradations, the Corporation of Lloyd's, at once National and International; National in its peculiarly British characteristics, International in its world-wide organisation and influence. Even throughout the vicissitudes of the Great War it continued to command the confidence of the business communities in the allied and neutral nations.

Lloyd's did not emerge from the Coffee House stage until the last quarter of the eighteenth century, when under the guidance of Angerstein it took up its position in the old Royal Exchange, and, after the burning of that building, in the present Royal Exchange, which in 1844 was opened by Her Majesty Queen Victoria. It is from this place that Lloyd's is about to move to a site that has an interest for the Emperor of India, as well as for the King, for here stood the India House, the home of the East India Company, another characteristically British enterprise, which, setting out to exchange merchandise, founded an Empire.

Thus the business which two and a half centuries ago lived only in a coffee house, is now to find its permanent home in the greatest building erected in the City of London since the day of Wren. To that new home the Members of Lloyd's will carry with them the memories and associations which belong inseparably to those who go down to the sea in ships, or who have their business in great waters, and who by their lives and work have wrought in us the ever deepening realisation of the interdependence of all peoples. The nations of the world are knit together by strands woven from commerce of which the old East India House and Lloyd's are representative.

Your Majesty's loyal subjects who form the present Corporation of Lloyd's are conscious that they are the inheritors of a great tradition and that the stone which Your Majesty lays to-day is the symbol of no mere material increase, but of that lasting foundation of honour and integrity which has been well and truly laid by generations of honourable and upright traders. It is to that tradition that we owe Your Majesty's gracious presence here to-day when we are resolving afresh to maintain and transmit it unimpaired; and for this invaluable sympathy and encouragement we desire to lay before Your Majesty our loyal and humble gratitude.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

I thank you for your loyal and dutiful Address and enthusiastic welcome.

It affords me the greatest pleasure to come here and lay the Foundation Stone of Lloyd's new building. I have been impressed, as everyone must be, by the extraordinary and romantic history of Lloyd's, outlined in your Address, and by its evolution from an ordinary seventeenth century Coffee House to the great public and international Institution, familiar to us all. Cromwell said that none rises so high as he who does not know whither he is going, and this has held good in our organisations as well as in men.

You have also referred with legitimate pride to the traditional honour and integrity upon which the greatness of Lloyd's is founded. The history of the Corporation is the embodiment of the highest qualities of British Commerce. Lloyd's policy has never been a one-sided pursuit of gain, but a combination of keenness and efficiency in business with a real and deep public spirit.

It is not a mere coincidence that we owe the institution of our Lifeboat Service to Lloyd's, or that our National Gallery began with the pictures collected by a famous Chairman of your Body.

There is one branch of your work which calls for special reference, and all the more so because you have modestly foreborne to make the least allusion to it yourselves, the inestimable services which Lloyd's has rendered to the country in war time. Throughout the long wars of the Revolutionary period, Lloyd's was constantly able to supply the Admiralty with valuable information as to the safety of commerce, the presence of hostile cruisers in the Channel, or the loss of merchant vessels through enemy action, and took a most active interest in the adoption and better organisation of the convoy system. In similar circumstances in our own day, the Lloyd's of 1914 rose again to the situation and displayed the same loyalty and public spirit as in 1793. The State largely depended on the machinery of Lloyd's for reports, received through its agents and other channels, which contributed to the safety of British shipping and British cargoes of indispensable value to the welfare of the country.

It would, however, give an imperfect view of the scope and effect of your work were no mention made of its international character: your world wide organisations and influence have always been at the disposal of all maritime peoples who are in peace and amity with the British Empire.

Remembering the history of your Corporation and its record of services to Great Britain and the whole world, we confidently hope for still greater things from that expansion and development—the outcome of to-day's inauguration. Even without the assurance in your Address, your fellow countrymen proudly recognise that you are conscious of your great inheritance and traditions and determined to hand on these to future generations.

I pray that the Blessing of God may rest upon the Corporation of Lloyd's. May your new home witness a continual growth in your work, prosperity and well-earned honour.

Lord Chamberlain's Office,
Buckingham Palace,
5th June, 1925.

The KING has been graciously pleased to appoint Paymaster Rear-Admiral Henry Horniman, C.B., to be Keeper of Virginia Water, in the room of Paymaster Rear-Admiral Sir John Henry George Chapple, K.C.B., C.V.O., deceased. The appointment to date from the 1st June, 1925.

Whitehall, 25th April, 1925.

The KING has been graciously pleased to give and grant unto Archibald Thomas Morgan, of Maybury Mansions, New Cavendish Street, in the County of London, Gentleman, His Royal Licence and Authority that he may take and henceforth use the surname of Lewis in addition to and after his own surname of Morgan and that he may bear the Arms of Lewis quarterly in the first quarter with his own Arms and that the said surname and Arms may in like manner be taken, borne and used by his issue; the said Arms being first duly exemplified according to the Laws of Arms and recorded in Our College of Arms, otherwise the said Royal Licence and Permission to be void and of none effect.

And to Command that the said Royal Concession and Declaration be recorded in His Majesty's College of Arms.

The Civil Service Commissioners hereby give notice that the following Regulations are published with the approval of the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, viz.:—

REGULATIONS FOR THE COMPETITIVE SELECTION OF ASSISTANTS IN THE NAUTICAL ALMANAC OFFICE UNDER THE ADMIRALTY.

N.B.—These Regulations are liable to alteration from time to time. Competitions do not take place at fixed intervals, but are held as occasion arises on the occurrence of vacancies.

1. Candidates must have attained the age of 22 and must not have attained the age of 40 on a date to be fixed in respect of the competition in which they are to take part.*

2. Candidates must be natural-born British subjects and born of a father also a natural-born British subject; provided that exception may be made in the case of candidates serving in a civil situation to which they were admitted with the certificate of the Civil Service Commissioners, and provided that exception may be made as to the father in the case of candidates who have served in His Majesty's Armed Forces during the Great War between the 4th August, 1914, and the 11th November, 1918.

* For competitions subsequent to the competition now announced the upper age limit will be reduced to 30.

3. Until further order, special consideration will be given to candidates who have served in His Majesty's Forces during the War.

No person will be eligible who obtained from any tribunal established under the Military Service Acts, 1916 to 1918, exemption from service in His Majesty's Forces under those Acts on the ground of a conscientious objection to the undertaking of military service or, although not so exempted, declined to comply with obligations imposed upon him by those Acts.

4. Persons holding situations in the Civil Service must obtain the permission of the authorities of their Department to apply for appointment.

No person actually serving in the Army, Navy or Air Force, will be eligible for consideration unless he produces, when called upon to do so, the permission of his Commanding Officer to apply for appointment, dated before his appearance before the Selection Board, and given in accordance with such orders as may from time to time be issued.

Persons upon whose training for the occupation of teacher public money has been spent cannot be appointed until the consent of the appropriate education authority has been notified to the Civil Service Commissioners.

5. Candidates must make application in their own handwriting on the appropriate form, which may be obtained from the Secretary, Civil Service Commission, 6, Burlington Gardens, London, W. 1, when a competition is announced.

6. Candidates must satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners that they have received such systematic education as in the opinion of the Commissioners fits them for the post. Candidates must have a university degree in mathematics or its equivalent. High honours in mathematics are an advantage. Credit will be given to any candidate possessing astronomical knowledge.

7. Candidates must satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners as to their health and character. Female candidates must be unmarried or widows and will be required to resign their appointments on marriage.

8. Such candidates as from their application forms appear to the Civil Service Commissioners to possess the requisite qualifications and to be suitable will be summoned to an interview before a Selection Board, who will recommend for the existing vacancy that candidate who appears to them to possess the highest qualifications, and their decision will be final. The Selection Board will be nominated by the Commissioners in consultation with the Admiralty who will be represented on the Selection Board, and when practicable one of the Commissioners will be the Chairman. The Selection Board will take into consideration the candidate's record of experience and education, any recommendations that they may receive from persons named by candidates as having direct knowledge of their work in the past, and the personal qualities of the candidate as shown at this interview; and on their estimation of all the above evidence they will frame their decisions. The decision of the Selection Board will be final.

9. Any attempt on the part of candidates to enlist support for their applications through

Members of Parliament or other influential persons, will disqualify them for appointment. The Selection Board will disregard spontaneous recommendations from persons who are not personally acquainted with the candidate's work, whether at school, at the university, in the Forces, or otherwise.

10. A selected candidate will be required to pay a fee of £8 before the issue of the certificate of qualification for appointment.

The Civil Service Commissioners further give notice of a competition for a vacancy as Assistant in the Nautical Almanac Office to be held under the foregoing Regulations.

No person will be considered from whom the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission has not received, on or before the 9th July, an application, in the candidate's own handwriting, on a prescribed form, which may be obtained from the Secretary at once.
