Midshipman Anthony John Cobham, R.N.

Able Seaman George Paterson Niven, R.N., Official Number J. 26679.

On the 26th July, 1929, H.M.S. "Devonshire," was carrying out full calibre firing, when at the first salvo there was a heavy explosion which blew off the roof of one of the turrets.

When the explosion occurred, Midshipman A. J. Cobham immediately took stretcher parties aft and ordered one crew to follow him and the other crews to rig hoses. On reaching the turret he assisted men who were coming out of it with their clothes on fire, and took charge of the work of extinguishing the flames, getting them into stretchers etc. He followed the gunnery officer into the turret when the latter first went in and remained in the gun house until all necessary work was completed. He displayed marked initiative, coolness and pluck for an officer of his age.

Able Seaman G. P. Niven, entered the turret shortly after Midshipman Cobham and helped to evacuate wounded. He followed the gunnery officer down to the pump room, saying "I'm not going to let him go down alone." After this officer had returned to the gun house, Able Seaman Niven heard someone call from below and went right down to the shell handling room to see what was wanted.
