*Air Ministry,
7th June, 1940.*

ROYAL AIR FORCE.

The KING has been graciously pleased to approve the undermentioned awards in recognition of gallantry displayed in flying operations against the enemy:—

Awarded a Bar to the Distinguished Service Order.

Wing Commander William Ernest STATON, D.S.O., M.C., D.F.C. (04225).

This officer has continued to display outstanding gallantry and leadership in recent air operations. One night in May, 1940, he led an attack on the oil depot at Bremen. The target was very heavily defended and difficult to identify owing to the exceptional number of searchlights but, after worrying and misleading the defences for an hour, he dived and attacked from 1,000 feet to ensure hitting the target. His aircraft was hit by six shells, the last one of which did considerable damage but he succeeded in reaching his home base. Wing Commander Staton organises and leads his squadron on all new tasks with constant courage and his work on his station is magnificent.

Awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Squadron Leader Patrick John Handy HALAHAN (26033).

In November, Squadron Leader Halahan, with another officer, attacked and shot down a Dornier 17. In May, 1940, he led a formation of eight aircraft on a bomber protection patrol near Maastricht where sixteen enemy aircraft were attacked, six of which were destroyed. In the engagement this officer himself shot down two enemy aircraft. Squadron Leader Halahan has at all times set an excellent example to his pilots and is mainly responsible for the fine spirit of his squadron which, while under his command, has destroyed approximately seventy enemy aircraft.

Flight Lieutenant Peter Russell WALKER (37435).

In March, 1940, this officer was leading a section of three aircraft which attacked nine Messerschmitt 110's near Bozanville. Two of the enemy aircraft were destroyed. In May, 1940, Flight Lieutenant Walker led a section of five aircraft in an attack on fifteen Messerschmitt 110's, which were escorting bombers. In this engagement eight enemy aircraft were shot down. Flight Lieutenant Walker has led his flight in many combats, and has personally shot down six enemy aircraft.

Flying Officer Raymond Alfred CRUICKSHANK (33364).

This officer has been engaged on operational flying since the beginning of the war and has carried out many raids, security patrols and North Sea sweeps. One night in May, 1940, he was ordered to make a bombing attack on bridges over the Meuse in one of the most heavily defended points in the operational area. In spite of almost impenetrable fire, by which his aircraft was hit, he descended to a low altitude and withheld his bombs until certain of the position of the target which he successfully hit. His coolness, determination and dogged disregard of danger enabled him to inflict severe damage on the enemy communications under most difficult conditions.

Flying Officer Geoffrey Peter MIERS (39444).

This officer has been engaged in active operations for the past eight months and has a magnificent record of devotion, coolness and enterprise in the execution of his duty. One night in May, 1940, he was captain of an aircraft engaged in an attack on enemy transport convoys behind the battle zone. He sighted a convoy of some two hundred vehicles, and with the greatest coolness and deliberation in the face of enemy fire, he descended to a low height and made four separate runs over the column. He secured several direct hits.

Flying Officer Herbert Montague ROBERTSON (39568).

Since the beginning of the war Flying Officer Robertson has taken part in many hazardous operations and his tactical skill and complete disregard of danger have been outstanding. One night in May, 1940, he was captain of an aircraft ordered to attack a very important and heavily defended traffic junction. Sighting a long column of enemy transport approaching the point, he successfully attacked it from a very low altitude regardless of enemy fire and the risk of fragments from his own bombs.

Pilot Officer Cecil James Algernon Grant BRAIN (41660).

One night in May, 1940, during a reconnaissance of the Louvain-Maastricht area, Pilot Officer Brain sighted a lighted convoy. After descending to a height of four hundred feet to select his point of attack, he climbed and bombed the convoy from twelve hundred feet scoring a direct hit and causing great destruction. He then again descended to four hundred feet and fired many thousand rounds of ammunition at troops and convoys.

Awarded the Distinguished Flying Medal.

590276 Sergeant Hubert James BARRON.

In May, 1940, this airman was the leader of a half section of aircraft engaged on a low-level bombing attack against enemy columns advancing through Luxemburg. In spite of exceptionally heavy opposition by enemy machine gun and pom-pom fire he pressed home his attack and all his bombs were observed to burst on or near the target. During this attack Sergeant Barron was wounded, but he brought his aircraft and crew back safely.

564821 Sergeant Valentine Ronald HARTWRIGHT.

One night in May, 1940, in overcast weather conditions and in the face of a very heavy enemy defence, Sergeant Hartwright spent fifty minutes in a search for suitable targets to attack. He made a brilliantly executed attack on the aerodrome at Dinant and scored direct hits on a convoy in the vicinity of Namur. He has at all times proved himself to be a most determined, courageous and persevering captain of his aircraft.

534190 Sergeant William David Gordon WATKINS.

Sergeant Watkins was the observer and bomb aimer in an aircraft which carried out an attack on a large convoy of enemy transport one night in May, 1940. Five runs were made over the target, at heights between one thousand and fifteen hundred feet and in the face of anti-aircraft fire and continuous searchlight activity. Sergeant Watkins displayed great coolness and determination throughout the operation. He has been engaged in several other raids and has shown conduct in accordance with the highest traditions of the service. His bomb aiming and navigation have materially assisted in the success of the operations in which he has participated.

551529 Leading Aircraftman Roy JACKSON.

The excellent work of this wireless operator air gunner during many raids over enemy territory culminated in his gallant conduct one night in May, 1940, when, by improvisation and repair, he succeeded in making his wireless apparatus serviceable after it had been damaged by anti-aircraft fire. He succeeded in re-establishing contact and in obtaining homing directions for the aircraft. On twelve operational flights this airman has shown exceptional courage when under fire from the enemy.

629157 Aircraftman 1st Class Thomas Braidwood MOIR.

One night in May, 1940, the aircraft in which this airman was wireless operator air gunner was heavily engaged by enemy ground defences which incapacitated the front gunner and Aircraftman Moir was himself hit in the foot. Despite this, he continued to engage the enemy ground defences and succeeded in extinguishing a searchlight after which the remainder were switched out. As the aircraft was still over enemy territory, this airman remained at his post until loss of blood compelled him to leave and have his wound dressed. As rear gunner this airman has displayed a high standard of devotion to duty on three previous flights during the past month.
