Flying Officer Charles Michael Miller, D.F.C. (72437), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 148 Squadron.

This officer was pilot of an aircraft detailed to attack an enemy aerodrome. He carried out four accurate attacks despite intense opposition from light and heavy anti-aircraft guns. On returning to his base, Flying Officer Miller offered to re-arm his aircraft and make another flight to the same target, although he knew that one aircraft had already been shot down by anti-aircraft guns. He again obtained good results, in spite of his seeing another aircraft shot down. He has continually shown keenness, determination and courage of the highest order.

Awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Squadron Leader Patrick Hunter Dunn (34018), No. 274 Squadron.

Mainly due to his outstanding and determined leadership, the present and former squadron commanded by Squadron Leader Dunn have destroyed at least sixty-eight enemy aircraft. Squadron Leader Dunn has personally destroyed at least seven of that number.

Squadron Leader Antony Greville Dudgeon (33240), No. 55 Squadron.

This officer is an outstanding leader who seeks every opportunity to inflict damage on the enemy. He has led his squadron on numerous operational raids and has contributed largely to the many successes obtained.

Squadron Leader Ian Duncan MacLachlan, No. 3 Squadron, Royal Australian Air Force.

This officer has displayed fine qualities as a fighter pilot. Under his determined leadership many fine military feats have been accomplished, often against overwhelming numbers of enemy aircraft.

Flight Lieutenant Graham Danson Jones (37265), No. 211 Squadron.

One day in December, 1940, this officer led his flight in a successful attack on an enemy objective in weather conditions so severe that two flights had to turn back. All bombs were dropped with great success despite considerable opposition from enemy fighters, one being shot down. Ten days later he made a successful attack on enemy objectives during a blinding snowstorm. He has taken part in over forty raids, many of which have been carried out in appalling weather conditions and against severe enemy opposition. As senior flight commander he has consistently shown himself to be a leader of great skill, courage and determination.

Flying Officer Ernest Mitchelson Mason (40734), No. 274 Squadron.

In January, 1941, this officer destroyed three of a formation of nine enemy aircraft. He has continually shown a fine fighting spirit and has contributed materially to the heavy losses caused to enemy aircraft. He has shown outstanding courage and initiative and has destroyed at least thirteen hostile aircraft.

Flying Officer Adrian Warburton (41635), No. 431 Flight.

This officer has carried out numerous long distance reconnaissance flights and has taken part in night air combats. In October, 1940, he destroyed an aircraft and again, in December, he shot down an enemy bomber in flames. Flying Officer Warburton has at all times displayed a fine sense of devotion to duty.

Awarded the Distinguished Flying Medal.

745736 Sergeant Frank Bastard, Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 431 Flight.

This airman was observer of an aircraft the pilot of which was injured and rendered unconscious causing him to fall forward over the control column. Sergeant Bastard, however, managed to take over the control and flew the aircraft level until the pilot recovered. He subsequently assisted the pilot, whose left arm was useless, by manipulating the throttle when landing on the aerodrome. His actions were instrumental in saving the aircraft and crew. He has also been engaged in numerous combats with enemy fighters and has at all times displayed exceptional keenness and set a fine example.

776201 Sergeant Kenneth Murrell, Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 237 (Rhodesia) Squadron.

On the 4th January, 1941, this airman was air gunner of an aircraft which led dive-bombing attacks on enemy objectives. Heavy anti-aircraft fire was encountered and, on pulling out of the second dive, Sergeant Murrell was hit in the knee by a piece of shrapnel which he removed with a screw-driver. He then began to deal with a fire which had broken out. He discovered that the airscrew covers had evidently been lighted by hot shrapnel and had flared up as a result of the increased draught in the rear cockpit. He threw these covers overboard and beat out with his hands the smouldering fire which had extended to the bomb-aimer's breast rest. The pilot had signalled to him to land by parachute, but he declined the invitation and continued to deal with the fire. The pilot then landed and the fire was extinguished by water, and the aircraft flown safely back to base. Sergeant Murrell displayed courage, initiative and devotion to duty of a high order.

ADMIRALTY NOTICE TO MARINERS.

No. 1 of the year 1941.

Caution when Approaching and Navigating within British Ports.

Former Notices.—Nos. 1 and 1437 of 1940; hereby cancelled.

PART I.

Control of entry.

(1) My Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty hereby give notice that measures are in operation to control the entry of shipping into the majority of ports of the United Kingdom and the British Empire.

(2) Subject to the provisions of the Defence. (Approach of Merchant Vessels) Order, 1940, issued in pursuance of Regulation No. 43 of the Defence Regulations, 1939, which restricts the approach of merchant vessels within 3 miles of the coasts or ports of the United Kingdom at night or in fog or low visibility, vessels may approach thereto by day or night, but, before entry, they will be subject to the orders of the Examination Service (see Part II). Particular caution should be used when approaching in a fog.

(3) If it is necessary to prohibit entry to a port which is usually open, the following signals will normally be displayed by the Examination Vessel and/or in a conspicuous position ashore:—

By Day—Three red balls disposed vertically.

By Night—Three red lights disposed vertically.

If these signals are displayed, vessels must approach the port with the greatest caution and keep a good lookout for signalled instructions which may be given by the Examination Vessel or Signal Station.

Should lighting restrictions necessitate, it may not be possible to display these signals at night, and Examination Vessels may be withdrawn in bad weather or for other reasons. Vessels not finding the Examination Vessel in her usual station should, unless instructed to the contrary, assume that the port is closed and either anchor in the Examination anchorage or proceed to sea.

VESSELS ARE PARTICULARLY WARNED NOT TO ENTER A DECLARED " DANGEROUS AREA " OR APPROACH BOOM DEFENCES WITHOUT PERMIS-SION, NOR TO ANCHOR OR REMAIN STOPPED IN A DANGEROUS AREA OR PROHIBITED ANCHORAGE, UNLESS SPECIALLY INSTRUCTED TO DO SO.

PART II.

Examination Service.

(4) In addition to controlling entry generally it is also necessary to take measures to examine individual vessels before they are permitted to enter. This is the function of the Examination Service.

(5) Examination Vessels, carrying the distinguishing flags or lights mentioned in paragraph (7) are charged with the duty of examining ships who desire to enter a port, and may allot positions in which they are to anchor, or give such other directions as are necessary for the safety of the vessels and the security of the port, including the channel to be followed, should up-to-date information on this point not already have been issued by routing authorities.

Notes.—(a) Information regarding emergency alterations of searched channels, closing of ports or other instructions may also be passed to merchant vessels by patrols.

(b) Where pilotage is compulsory the pilots will be in possession of the latest information regarding the searched channels, as well as the regulations for the entry into the port.

(6) It is the responsibility of the approaching vessel to identify the Examination Vessel by the signals mentioned in paragraph (7) and to bring-to at once if ordered to do so. Failure to obey these orders will be met by the firing of a bring-to round by the Examination Battery, followed by effective fire if the way is not immediately taken off the ship.

(7) By Day the distinguishing flag of the Examination Vessel will be a square flag coloured White and Red Horizontal surrounded by a Blue border. Examination Vessels who are commissioned will wear the White Ensign; if not commissioned, the Blue Ensign.

By Night the Examination Vessel will carry:—

(a) Three White lights vertically disposed if the port is open.

(b) Three Red lights vertically disposed if the port is closed (see also paragraph (3)).

The above lights will be carried in addition to the ordinary navigation lights and will show an unbroken light around the horizon.

Note.—These lights may not invariably be displayed—(see paragraph (3)).

(8) Merchant vessels approaching a British Port at which an Examination Service is in force, must hoist their signal letters on arriving within visual signal distance of the port, and are not to wait for the signal "What is the name of your vessel" to be made by the Examination Vessel.

(9) Vessels allowed to proceed into harbour by the Examination Vessel will be given a Special Signal to hoist consisting of a combination of flags by day and coloured lights by night to enable them to pass the defences in safety. Vessels should be ready to hoist these signals immediately, and should by night have two red and two white lanterns ready for this purpose.

By Day flags should be well shaken out.

The Examination Vessel will give instructions as to the point at which these signals can be lowered.

As a general rule Merchant Vessels will be examined in the order of their arrival, and if permitted to enter, will proceed up harbour in the same order unless instructed to the contrary.

(10) If ordered to anchor in the Examination Anchorage Masters are warned that it is forbidden, except for the purpose of avoiding accident, to do any of the following things without permission from the Examining Officer:—

To move the ship.

To work cables.

To lower any boat.

To communicate with the shore or with other ships.

To allow any person or thing to leave the ship.

To get into communication with the Examining Officer when in the Examination Anchorage Merchant Vessels are to hoist the following signals:—

By Day—Flags J.G. International Code.

By Night—2 lights, red over white, 3 feet apart at the fore masthead.

(11) The restriction on communications in the Examination Anchorage also applies to vessels when approaching the port when the use of private signals, whether by day or night, will render a vessel liable to be fired upon. The sounding of sirens or whistles by ships in British Waters which might be heard on land is to be restricted to the minimum necessary for the safety of navigation.

Attention is drawn to the regulations forbidding the use of W/T in tidal waters of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, and to such orders as may be issued similarly in British Dominions and Colonies. W/T offices will normally be sealed on arrival in harbour and the seals may not be broken without the permission of the customs or other authority responsible.

PART III.

Lights to be displayed.

(12) Subject to any other general or local orders the following regulations regarding display of lights at night are to be observed.

(a) Outside the harbour, including the Examination Anchorage if so situated, steaming and bow lights are only to be exhibited when necessary for safe navigation and to avoid danger of collision. Similarly anchor lights of vessels in the Examination Anchorage are to be displayed only when other vessels are navigating in their immediate vicinity. They are always to be ready, however, for use as described above.

(b) Inside the harbour, vessels permitted to navigate are to employ bow and steaming lights, and vessels at anchor, anchor lights.

(c) All these lights are to be screened from above and dimmed as laid down in "Navigation and Anchor Lights Order, 1939", issued in pursuance of Regulation No. 43 of the Defence Regulations, 1939.

(d) No other lights are to be visible from outboard, as laid down in "Darkening Ship Order, 1939", issued in pursuance of the above Defence Regulation No. 43.

PART IV.

Internal Movement and Leaving the Port.

(13) Local instructions regarding internal movement can be obtained from the Examining Officer and particular attention should be paid to the action to be taken during Air Raid alarm periods. Merchant Vessels are invariably to keep clear of H.M. Ships and Government Vessels whether under way or not.

(14) Vessels are only to leave the port under instructions from the local authorities and it must be stressed that they must leave punctually at the time ordered so that they may be passed safely through the defences and avoid delaying and thus endangering other vessels. A blue flag hoisted ashore indicates that no Merchant Vessel is to leave the port while this signal is flying.

PART V.

Mine-Sweeping Operations.

H.M. Vessels engaged in mine-sweeping operations or exercises are hampered to a considerable extent in their manoeuvring powers. VESSELS MUST KEEP CLEAR OF MINE-SWEEPERS.

With a view to indicating the nature of the work on which they are engaged, these vessels will show the signals hereinafter mentioned. For the public safety all other vessels, whether steamers or sailing craft, should endeavour to keep out of the way of vessels flying these signals and not approach them inside the distances mentioned herein, specially remembering that it is dangerous to pass between the vessels of a pair or group sweeping together.

1. Signals shown by Day.

When towing sweeps.

All vessels towing sweeps are to show:—

By day.—A black ball at the fore masthead and a black ball at the yardarm on the side or sides on which it is dangerous for vessels to pass.

By night.—All round green lights instead of the black balls, and in a similar manner.

(b) VESSELS OR FORMATIONS SHOWING THESE SIGNALS ARE NOT TO BE APPROACHED NEARER THAN 500 YARDS ON EITHER BEAM AND SHIPS ARE NOT TO CROSS ASTERN AT A LESS DISTANCE THAN 1,000 YARDS.

IN NO CIRCUMSTANCES IS A SHIP TO PASS THROUGH A FORMATION OF MINE-SWEEPERS.

(c) Mine-sweepers should be prepared to warn Merchant Vessels who persist in approaching too close by means of any of the appropriate signals from the Merchant Navy Code or the International Code of Signals.

PART VI.

Other regulations in force.

Nothing in this Notice is to be taken as overruling such general or local regulations as may be issued by the Public Traffic Regulations at each port, through routeing authorities, by Notices to Mariners or other means to meet new dangers or situations which may arise, or to cover local conditions.

Attention is called to Notices to Mariners at present in force as follows:—

(a) Cautions regarding extinction or alterations of coastal lighting in British, Dominion, and Allied colonial waters.

(b) Navigation lighting restrictions (Navigation and Anchor Lights Order, 1939.)

(c) Instructions regarding darkening ship. (Darkening Ship Order, 1939.)

(d) Instructions regarding use of W/T. (W/T (Ships) Order, 1939.)

(e) Routeing and safe channels.

(f) Coasts and Ports—approach prohibited in certain areas and at certain times. Defence (Approach of Merchant Vessels) Order, 1940.

(g) Regulations for Fishing Vessels.

(h) The regulations for shipping brought into force by the issue of Navigation Orders from time to time.

ADMIRALTY NOTICE TO MARINERS.

No. 7.

Caution with regard to Single Ships approaching Squadrons or Aircraft Carriers.

Former Notice.—No. 7 of 1940.

1. The attention of shipowners and mariners is called to the danger to all concerned which is caused by single vessels approaching a squadron of Warships or Merchant vessels in convoy so closely as to involve risk of collision, or attempting to pass ahead of, or through such a squadron.

2. Mariners are warned that it would be in the interests of safety for single vessels to adopt early measures to avoid approaching a squadron under the above conditions which might involve risk of collision and to keep out of its way.

3. Attention is also drawn to the uncertainty of the movements of Aircraft Carriers which must usually turn into the wind when aircraft are taking off or landing.

4. In circumstances where a single vessel has not taken early measures to keep out of the way of a squadron or Aircraft Carrier, the "Regulations for preventing Collisions at Sea" must be the guide.

Note.—This Notice is a repetition of the former Notice quoted above.

Former Notice.—No. 8 of 1940.

British vessels, when engaged in hunting enemy submarines, display a cone, point up over a rectangular Red Flag.

Vessels are cautioned to steer so as to give a wide berth to any vessel flying such a signal.

Vessels are cautioned to steer so as to give a wide berth to any vessel flying such a flag.
