Air Ministry,

8th August, 1941.

ROYAL AIR FORCE.

The KING has been graciously pleased to approve the following awards in recognition of gallantry displayed in flying operations against the enemy:—

Distinguished Service Order.

Acting Wing Commander Peter Fitzgerald WEBSTER, D.F.C. (37776), No. 21 Squadron.

In July, 1941, this officer led a formation of aircraft which carried out a low-level attack on the docks at Rotterdam. By extremely accurate navigation and the excellent tactics employed by Wing Commander Webster, the formation was enabled to carry out a highly successful attack.

Shipping was bombed from mast height with the utmost determination, and seventeen large ships totalling some 90,000 tons were destroyed, whilst others totalling about 40,000 tons were damaged. The brilliant leadership, courage and skill of this officer contributed very materially to the magnificent success of the operation. Since the beginning of June, 1941, Wing Commander Webster has participated in six operational missions, each of which has been an unqualified success.

Acting Flight Lieutenant George Geoffrey DAVIES (87415), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 102 Squadron.

One night in July, 1941, this officer was the captain of an aircraft which carried out an attack on Bremen. Over the target area the aircraft was subjected to heavy anti-aircraft fire whilst held in the beams of a concentration of searchlights. Nevertheless, Flight Lieutenant Davies continued his bombing run and was shortly engaged by enemy fighters. In the course of the action the rear gunner was killed and much damage inflicted to the aircraft causing it to go out of control at 10,500 feet. In spite of great difficulties, Flight Lieutenant Davies, showing exceptional skill and admirable presence of mind, succeeded in regaining control after the aircraft had fallen some 7,000 feet. Coming out of the spin the aircraft was again attacked by enemy fighters but Flight Lieutenant Davies skilfully maintained a level flight and with a superlative display of airmanship succeeded in flying back to an aerodrome in this country where he landed safely without further damage to the aircraft or injury to his crew. Throughout the whole of this most hazardous operation, Flight Lieutenant Davies displayed the utmost courage and determination and was certainly responsible for saving the aircraft and the crew from destruction.

Bar to the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Wing Commander Alan McDonald BOWMAN, D.F.C. (32138), No. 39 Squadron.

This officer has commanded the squadron since April, 1941, during which period it has carried out a large number of long distance reconnaissances. By his leadership, skill and determination, Wing Commander Bowman has contributed largely to the great successes achieved.

Acting Squadron Leader Peter Guy WYKEHAM-BARNES, D.F.C. (33211), No. 73 Squadron.

This officer has been almost continuously engaged on active operations in the Western Desert since the war with Italy began. Since assuming command of the squadron he has displayed outstanding leadership and determination and has contributed in a large measure to its high standard of efficiency and fighting spirit.

Flight Lieutenant Paul Henry Mills RICHEY, D.F.C. (39757), No. 609 Squadron.

This officer has displayed great skill and coolness throughout the numerous operational missions in which he has participated and has destroyed at least nine enemy aircraft and damaged a further seven. As a flight commander he has invariably displayed a high sense of responsibility for the safety of his fellow pilots.

Acting Wing Commander Thomas Noel PARTRIDGE (37574), No. 18 Squadron (missing).

In July, 1941, this officer participated in an attack against enemy shipping at Le Havre. By his skilful leadership, the formation was enabled to carry out an attack from a low level. In spite of accurate anti-aircraft opposition the operation was carried through with great determination and resulted in a loss to the enemy of some 18,000 tons of shipping with a further 4,500 tons damaged. Wing Commander Partridge scored direct hits on the largest ship in the outer harbour. By his careful preparation for the flight and his determined and courageous leadership throughout, Wing Commander Partridge contributed materially to the successes obtained.

Acting Squadron Leader Kenneth Cadham FORSYTHE (41573), No. 110 Squadron.

In July, 1941, this officer participated in an attack on an enemy convoy consisting of five merchant ships with five escorting destroyers. As a result, one merchant ship of 7,000 tons, with ammunition on board, blew up, and another 6,000 ton ship was so severely damaged that, about an hour later, only the stern was above water. A third ship was also so badly hit that the speed of the convoy was reduced in consequence. This enabled Swordfish aircraft to complete the destruction of the disabled vessel and also to destroy another one. By his splendid leadership and skill, Squadron Leader Forsythe contributed materially to the brilliant success of this operation.

Acting Squadron Leader Whitney Willard STRAIGHT, M.C. (90680), Auxiliary Air Force, No. 242 Squadron (missing).

This officer has participated in many engagements against the enemy throughout which he has displayed excellent qualities of leadership and zeal. He has destroyed at least three enemy aircraft, one of which he shot down at night.

Flight Lieutenant Anthony John Mander SMYTH (36137), No. 55 Squadron.

This officer has taken part in over fifty operational missions over enemy and enemy occupied territory. He has led the squadron on many occasions and has at all times displayed the greatest keenness and determination, setting an excellent example to all.

Acting Flight Lieutenant Arthur Benjamin BROADLEY (87659), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 105 Squadron.

One evening in July, 1941, this officer participated in a raid against shipping at Rotterdam. The attack was carried out from mast height and Flight Lieutenant Broadley succeeded in obtaining direct hits on an 8,000 ton ship, apparently under construction and nearing completion, in one of the harbour docks. Flight Lieutenant Broadley has participated in twenty-two operational missions and throughout has displayed great skill and courage.

Acting Flight Lieutenant Colin Hamilton MCFIE (90657), Auxiliary Air Force, No. 616 Squadron (missing).

This flight commander has carried out many operational sweeps over enemy territory. He has at all times displayed efficiency and qualities of leadership which have proved of great value. He has destroyed two and damaged a further three of the enemy's aircraft.

Pilot Officer George Stanley Evan MORRIS (82204), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 70 Squadron.

This officer was rear gunner of an aircraft which was attacked from the rear with cannon and machine gun fire from three enemy fighters while making a run over Nasrulla aerodrome. The enemy's first burst of fire destroyed the hydraulic system of the rear turret and wounded Pilot Officer Morris in the abdomen and right leg. Despite his wounds he operated his turret by hand and fired a long burst into one of the attacking fighters which burst into flames and crashed. The remaining attackers concentrated on the rear turret which was shot to pieces. Pilot Officer Morris, however, continued to keep his guns in action and fired another long burst of fire which, with one from the front gunner, entered another of the enemy fighters and caused it to dive towards the ground. It was probably destroyed. Further bursts from the front and rear guns were fired into the remaining fighter causing it to break off the engagement. Throughout the action Pilot Officer Morris set a splendid example of courage and endurance.

Pilot Officer William Jeffrey REES (86395), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 75 (N.Z.) Squadron.

952538 Sergeant Ivan William LEWIS, No. 75 (N.Z.) Squadron.

One night in July, 1941, Pilot Officer Rees and Sergeant Lewis were the captain and wireless operator respectively of an aircraft which attacked a target at Duisburg. Although the aircraft was hit by anti-aircraft fire, Pilot Officer Rees persisted in his attack and completed a successful run over the target. On the return journey whilst over the Ruhr, the aircraft was held in the beams of a large searchlight belt and subjected to an attack by an enemy fighter which inflicted severe damage. The second pilot was killed and two other members of the crew dangerously wounded, while Sergeant Lewis was badly shocked and rendered temporarily deaf when a cannon shell exploded close to him. Nevertheless, realising that his captain was without aid and could not leave the controls, Sergeant Lewis tended his wounded comrades, afterwards collecting the navigator's log and maps and assisting him in setting out the courses. Pilot Officer Rees, with exceptional skill, finally overcame all navigational difficulties and, helped by Sergeant Lewis who had repaired his wireless set and obtained bearings, flew back to this country where a safe landing was made. Pilot Officer Rees displayed outstanding courage and determination in extremely harassing circumstances and was ably assisted by Sergeant Lewis who showed great fortitude and initiative. Both have participated in numerous operational missions.

N.Z.391352 Sergeant Reginald Joseph Cowan GRANT, Royal New Zealand Air Force, No. 145 Squadron.

This pilot has taken part in twenty-two operations over enemy territory during which he has destroyed two enemy aircraft and damaged several others. His keenness and devotion to duty have set an excellent example.

745790 Sergeant John Anthony HUGHES-REES, Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 609 Squadron.

This airman has completed a large number of operational sorties against the enemy and has destroyed at least four of their aircraft. In every engagement he has shown courage and enterprise.

AUS.400019 Sergeant Reginald Daly MOHR, Royal Australian Air Force, No. 39 Squadron.

This airman was the observer of an aircraft which carried out a long distance reconnaissance over enemy territory. In the course of the flight the pilot became incapacitated and fell over the controls. The aircraft went into a dive and Sergeant Mohr, with great coolness and initiative, fitted the auxiliary control and succeeded in regaining control of the aircraft after it had lost height for some 4,000 feet. He then flew safely back to base before handing the controls over to his pilot who had recovered sufficiently to land the aircraft safely. By his initiative and promptitude, Sergeant Mohr saved the aircraft and crew from becoming a loss.

741982 Sergeant Arthur Gordon PALMER, Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 609 Squadron.

This airman has taken part in eighty-eight operational sorties. He has at all times shown tenacity and great devotion to duty and has destroyed one of the enemy's aircraft.
