ROYAL AIR FORCE.

The KING has been graciously pleased to approve the following awards in recognition of gallantry displayed in flying operations against the enemy:—

Distinguished Flying Cross.

Acting Squadron Leader John HARRISON-BROADLEY (41695), No. 82 Squadron (missing).

In June, 1941, this officer participated in a successful formation attack on an enemy convoy, strongly protected by destroyers, south of Pantelleria. Despite heavy opposition from the destroyers, which opened fire when the formation was four or five miles from the convoy, Squadron Leader Harrison-Broadley persisted in his mission. When two or three miles from the convoy, the port engine of his aircraft was hit and caught fire. In spite of this, Squadron Leader Harrison-Broadley flew on but, when closing in to the attack, his starboard engine also caught fire. His flying speed, however, carried him the short distance necessary to enable him to drop his bombs, one of which struck a ship. With both engines on fire, Squadron Leader Harrison-Broadley was compelled to descend on the sea after passing over the ship. By his splendid leadership and courage, this officer contributed largely to the success of the operation.

Acting Flight Lieutenant Edward Preston WELLS, Royal New Zealand Air Force, No. 485 Squadron, R.N.Z.A.F.

This officer has served with fighter squadrons since May, 1940, and has taken part in many engagements against the enemy. He has destroyed at least five of their aircraft and has damaged others. He has at all times shown the greatest courage and determination.

Flying Officer Robert Sinckler WOODWARD (74698), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 600 Squadron.

This officer has shown great perseverance and keenness during night-flying operations and has destroyed three enemy aircraft. One night in May, 1941, his aircraft was set on fire when a considerable distance out to sea.

Nevertheless, Flying Officer Woodward succeeded in flying the burning aircraft back over this country and did not abandon it until he had first ensured that his observer had left the aircraft safely. In pressing home his attacks against the enemy, Flying Officer Woodward has displayed great skill and determination.

Flying Officer Ernest Waite WOOTTEN (42667), No. 234 Squadron.

This officer has displayed great dash, enthusiasm and flying ability throughout all the operations in which he has participated. He has destroyed at least five enemy aircraft, of which two were shot down in one engagement.

Pilot Officer William Thomas de Rouffignac WATERS (62342), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 53 Squadron.

In August, 1941, this officer was pilot of one of two aircraft detailed to search for enemy shipping in the Borkum area. A convoy of one large merchantman escorted by five destroyers was observed and both aircraft flew low over the water to attack. They were met by very heavy fire and, whilst taking avoiding action, a wing of Pilot Officer Waters' aircraft struck the water and the tip of the wing was torn off. He then flew into cloud without attacking but, finding that his aircraft was flying correctly, he again searched for the convoy and, on finding it, attacked in a position which necessitated flying down the line of the enemy fire. Pilot Officer Waters displayed gallantry and determination in the face of strong opposition.

Distinguished Flying Medal.

741968 Sergeant James FLINT, Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 49 Squadron.

One night in July, 1941, Sergeant Flint was captain of an aircraft detailed to attack a target in North West Germany. Shortly after crossing the Dutch coast the aircraft was held in a large concentration of searchlights and was hit several times by the fire from an enemy fighter. Sergeant Flint succeeded eventually in escaping from the enemy fighter and, unperturbed, resumed his course to the target. Later, his aircraft was again held by searchlights, whereupon he took evasive action and had to descend to 1,000 feet below getting clear. Sergeant Flint then set course for base but, when approximately 50 miles from the English coast, the aircraft was attacked by two Messerschmitt 110's. Bursts from the enemy ignited Verey light cartridges, which exploded in the pilot's cockpit, and inter-communication was rendered impossible between the members of the crew. The port engine was also hit and put out of action but Sergeant Flint continued to fly on the remaining engine, keeping only a few feet above the surface of the water, with the enemy still attacking from the rear. When about 4 or 5 miles from the coast the enemy aircraft withdrew and shortly afterwards Sergeant Flint was compelled to descend on the water about 800 yards from the shore. His cool courage and determination, together with his calmness and skill, have set a splendid example to the members of his squadron.
