ROYAL AIR FORCE.

The KING has been graciously pleased to approve the following awards in recognition of gallantry displayed in flying operations against the enemy:—

Bar to the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Acting Flight Lieutenant Colin Falkland GRAY, D.F.C. (41844), No. 1 Squadron.

This officer has destroyed a further eight enemy aircraft bringing his total victories to seventeen. In addition he has probably destroyed a further nine enemy aircraft. Flight Lieutenant Gray has always shown the greatest keenness and enthusiasm and has been of great assistance to his squadron commander.

Acting Flight Lieutenant James Willem Louw, D.F.C. (41190), No. 240 Squadron.

Recently whilst engaged on convoy escort duties, this officer attacked an enemy submarine. Later he engaged an enemy aircraft for an hour and a half, preventing it from making any attack on our shipping and finally driving it off by accurate machine gun fire. This officer has completed 1,300 operational flying hours and has at all times displayed great devotion to duty.

Distinguished Flying Cross.

Acting Squadron Leader Bryan William SMITHERS (41750), No. 105 Squadron.

In September, 1941, in an attack on Cotrone harbour, this officer obtained a hit on a 4,000 ton merchant vessel which subsequently appeared to be a total loss. In the course of a long patrol some days later, Squadron Leader Smithers observed two enemy ships. Attacking one of them he obtained a direct hit and left it in a sinking condition. The next day, Squadron Leader Smithers led a force of bombers which operated against a convoy of six merchant vessels escorted by seven destroyers. Flying through an intensive barrage, he subsequently attacked the largest ship of the convoy. The vessel which was also damaged by other aircraft afterwards caught fire. Although his aircraft sustained damage, Squadron Leader Smithers flew it skilfully back to base. This officer has at all times shown outstanding gallantry and fearless leadership.

Acting Squadron Leader Vashon James WHEELER, M.C. (76594), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 85 Squadron.

This officer has performed excellent operational work during a long period, including convoy patrols and reconnaissance missions over enemy territory. He has also carried out a large number of operational flying hours by night. One night in May, 1941, Squadron Leader Wheeler attacked and probably destroyed a Heinkel 111. The following night he damaged a Junkers 88, setting its port engine on fire. Throughout, Squadron Leader Wheeler has shown great devotion to duty and an intense desire to engage the enemy.

Acting Flight Lieutenant Arthur Avarne James SANDERS (33578), No. 7 Squadron.

One night in September, 1941, this officer was the captain of an aircraft detailed to attack Frankfurt. Unfavourable weather conditions prevailed throughout. Nevertheless, in a determined effort to complete his mission, Flight Lieutenant Sanders flew over the target area for nearly an hour until a break in the clouds occurred. A flare was then released and immediately the aircraft was held in a large concentration of searchlights and subjected to intense anti-aircraft fire. Although his aircraft was repeatedly hit, Flight Lieutenant Sanders pressed home his attack and successfully bombed his objective. This officer has participated in thirty-seven operational missions and has at all times displayed great courage and devotion to duty.

Flying Officer Geoffrey Leonard HOWITT (81037), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 85 Squadron.

This officer has proved himself to be a determined and skilful night fighter pilot. He has destroyed two and severely damaged another hostile aircraft. Flying Officer Howitt has set a splendid example of keenness and devotion to duty.

Flying Officer James Edgar JOHNSON (83267), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 616 Squadron.

This officer has participated in forty-six operational sorties over enemy territory and has destroyed at least four hostile aircraft. Flying Officer Johnson has at all times shown great courage.

Pilot Officer George Gordon DUFF (89378), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 115 Squadron.

One night in September, 1941, this officer was the captain of an aircraft detailed to attack a target at Turin. On the outward journey, it became apparent that, owing to a technical fault, it was not possible to use the fuel in the reserve petrol tank. In spite of the long and difficult flight ahead, Pilot Officer Duff decided to continue his mission and, by skilful control of his engines, thus conserving his fuel, was able to reach and bomb his objective and return safely to base. On a previous occasion, Pilot Officer Duff successfully searched for a dinghy some eighty miles from the English coast. He flew over the position for three hours until he was relieved. This officer has carried out thirty operational missions and has displayed exceptional ability, keenness and courage throughout.

Pilot Officer Philip Whaley Ellis HEPPPELL (86370), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 616 Squadron.

This officer has participated in thirty-three operational sweeps over enemy territory. He has destroyed two and damaged a number of other enemy aircraft. Throughout, Pilot Officer Hepppell has supported his leader with great courage and skill.

Distinguished Flying Medal.

N.Z.401295 Sergeant Jeffery George WEST, Royal New Zealand Air Force, No. 616 Squadron.

This airman has participated in thirty-four operational sorties over enemy territory and has at all times displayed courage and determination. Sergeant West has destroyed at least two enemy aircraft.
