Air Ministry, 13th April, 1943.

ROYAL AIR FORCE.

The KING has been graciously pleased to approve the following awards in recognition of gallantry displayed in flying operations against the enemy:—

Bar to Distinguished Flying Cross.

Wing Commander Dudley Henderson BURNSIDE, D.F.C. (37464), No. 427 (R.C.A.F.) Squadron.

Distinguished Flying Cross.

Pilot Officer Reginald James HAYHURST (128419), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 427 (R.C.A.F.) Squadron.

One night in March, 1943, Wing Commander Burnside and Pilot Officer Hayhurst were captain and bomb aimer of an aircraft detailed to attack Essen. When nearing the target area, the bomber was hit by anti-aircraft fire. One of the crew was killed and another severely wounded, while the aircraft sustained damage. The aileron control was affected and the windscreen de-icing glycol tank burst drenching Pilot Officer Hayhurst and filling the forward part of the bomber with suffocating fumes. Despite this, Pilot Officer Hayhurst directed his captain to the target which was successfully bombed and a good photograph obtained. The aircraft was held by searchlights for a few minutes but Wing Commander Burnside skilfully evaded the defences and set course for home. On the return flight the aircraft encountered enemy fighters but, each time, he shook them off. Displaying fine airmanship he flew the damaged aircraft back to an airfield in this country. In a very trying situation both these members of aircraft crew displayed courage and determination of a high order.

Bar to Distinguished Flying Cross.

Acting Squadron Leader Frederick Desmond HUGHES, D.F.C. (74706), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 600 Squadron.

Distinguished Flying Cross.

Flying Officer Lawrence DIXON (116698), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 600 Squadron.

As pilot and observer respectively, Squadron Leader Hughes and Flying Officer Dixon have flown together on many night sorties in operations in North Africa. During these flights they have destroyed 3 enemy aircraft. Squadron Leader Hughes and Flying Officer Dixon have displayed great skill and keenness, setting a praiseworthy example.

Distinguished Flying Cross.

Acting Squadron Leader Richard Mansfield PINKHAM (42765), No. 150 Squadron.

This officer has completed 56 sorties during which he has attacked targets in Germany, Italy and Tunisia. He has at all times pressed home his mission with the utmost courage and determination and has obtained many excellent photographs. Squadron Leader Pinkham has invariably displayed exceptional skill and keenness, and has contributed materially to the many successes achieved by his squadron.

Acting Flight Lieutenant Roy Currie BUCHANAN (N.Z.412199), Royal New Zealand Air Force.

Flight Lieutenant Buchanan has flown on 37 long-range reconnaissance missions over enemy-occupied territory, including sorties to Rotterdam, Wilhelmshaven, Cologne, Essen, Bremen and objectives in Norway and Tunisia. On one occasion he descended in very bad weather to within a hundred feet to obtain photographs. This officer's great eagerness to fly on operations has been a magnificent example.

Flying Officer Ruari Ian Lambert CHISHOLM (117694), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 142 Squadron.

This officer is a gallant and determined captain of aircraft. One day in August, 1942, while flying on an anti-submarine patrol in the Bay of Biscay, his aircraft was attacked by a Junkers 88. Flying Officer Chisholm inflicted considerable damage on the attacker and drove it off. In October, 1942, he was detailed to bomb Kiel and whilst over the target area was attacked by a Focke Wulf 190. Flying Officer Chisholm displayed masterly evasive tactics which enabled him to avoid the enemy and complete his mission. On all occasions this officer's steadiness and resolution have been an inspiration to his crew.

Flying Officer Jack ETHELLS (113395), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 142 Squadron.

As captain of aircraft Flying Officer Etchells has consistently shown skill and determination, pressing home his attacks from a low level regardless of the heaviest ground defences. In October, 1942, this officer was detailed to take part in an attack on Cologne. He persisted in his task in the face of intense opposition and successfully bombed the target, afterwards flying his aircraft safely back to base although one engine was badly damaged. Flying Officer Etchells by his outstanding devotion to duty, both in the air and on the ground, has set a high standard to his crew resulting in many successful achievements.

Flying Officer Douglas Haig GREAVES (113989), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 255 Squadron.

Warrant Officer Frederic Mitton ROBBINS (1161497), No. 255 Squadron.

In operations in North Africa, Flying Officer Greaves and Warrant Officer Robbins have flown together as pilot and observer of aircraft respectively. They have co-operated in the destruction of 5 enemy aircraft. In one combat, Flying Officer Greaves opened fire from extremely close range, causing the enemy aircraft to explode and disintegrate in the air. The outside of his own aircraft was smothered in oil, blown from the enemy's tanks by the force of the explosion, making it impossible to see through the windscreen. In spite of this Flying Officer Greaves flew the aircraft to an airfield where he succeeded in cleaning the windscreen sufficiently to enable him to effect a landing. Flying Officer Greaves and Warrant Officer Robbins have displayed outstanding skill, high courage and excellent teamwork.

Pilot Officer William Orson RUBLEE (Can/J.16205), Royal Canadian Air Force, No. 150 Squadron.

Pilot Officer Rublee has completed 34 operational sorties against targets in Germany, Italy and Tunisia, always pressing home his attacks with great determination. On one occasion when over Sicily his aircraft was repeatedly hit. A petrol tank caught fire and the hydraulic system was put out of action. After the fire had been extinguished Pilot Officer Rublee flew the aircraft back to base and made a successful crash landing. This officer's fine record of constant devotion to duty is worthy of the highest praise.

Conspicuous Gallantry Medal (flying).

1161447 Flight Sergeant (now Pilot Officer) Charles Clayton CORDER, No. 248 Squadron.

This airman has participated in 71 operational missions, including sorties off the Norwegian coast, over the Mediterranean and over the Bay of Biscay. He has displayed great navigational skill and perfect teamwork which have made him a valuable member of aircraft crew. On one occasion, in August 1942, he skilfully located a dinghy adrift in the Mediterranean and the crew were later rescued. In March, 1943, he was the navigator of one of a section of Beaufighters patrolling over the Bay of Biscay. During the operation his aircraft sustained severe damage in an encounter with a Junkers 88, which was shot down. The situation appeared hopeless but, as the intercommunication system was un-serviceable, Flight Sergeant Corder crawled through to the cockpit where he gave his pilot a course for base. Returning to his seat he attempted to signal their plight to other aircraft of the formation but his efforts were unavailing. In the meantime, the pilot was having considerable difficulty in controlling the aircraft so Flight Sergeant Corder once more crawled to the cockpit to assist. The port engine failed and the possibility of flying to this country seemed remote. Nevertheless, Flight Sergeant Corder calmly continued his duties, repairing the intercommunication, obtaining bearings and doing everything within his power to assist his pilot. The aircraft, which was extremely difficult to control, was now being flown almost at sea level. When nearing the English coast the second engine caught fire while some oil in the cockpit also caught alight. Just as the pilot had decided that the damaged aircraft should be abandoned the English coast was sighted, so he struggled on. Meanwhile, Flight Sergeant Corder coolly sent out distress signals and fired Verey cartridges intermittently to attract the attention of people on shore. He guided the pilot to the lowest part of a cliff which was crossed safely and a crash-landing effected on an airfield. On impact the aircraft burst into flames but both Flight Sergeant Corder and his pilot were able to jump clear. In the face of an appalling situation, this airman displayed skill and courage in keeping with the highest traditions of the Royal Air Force.

Distinguished Flying Medal.

1256561 Flight Sergeant William Frederick BUNTING, No. 150 Squadron.

Flight Sergeant Bunting has completed 40 operational sorties. At all times he has displayed the utmost devotion to duty and by his efficiency as bomb aimer and gunner has fully contributed to the successful results attained by his crew.

Can/R.55311 Flight Sergeant Charles Edward DELANY, Royal Canadian Air Force, No. 142 Squadron.

This airman has completed 31 operational sorties as a rear gunner and by his steady and skilful method of guiding his pilot through heavy ground defences has contributed in no small measure to the successes achieved. One night in May, 1942, Flight Sergeant Delany was a member of a crew detailed to attack Stuttgart. Whilst over the target area the bomber was attacked by an enemy night fighter. Flight Sergeant Delany drove off the first attack and directed his pilot in the subsequent evasive tactics, which resulted in the engagement being broken off, and enabled the mission to be successfully completed.

639767 Flight Sergeant Arthur DRABBLE, No. 150 Squadron.

This airman has completed many operational missions. Invariably he has displayed the utmost keenness while his technical skill as wireless operator has materially contributed to the many successes achieved by his crew.

Can/R.103566 Sergeant Lionel Wollaston MATHEWS, Royal Canadian Air Force, No. 150 Squadron.

This airman has completed 31 operational sorties over Germany, Italy and Tunisia. He has invariably pressed home his attacks with courage and determination and has obtained many excellent photographs. On one occasion when taking part in an operation over Sicily, his aircraft sustained damage and his rear gunner received wounds which proved fatal. Sergeant Mathews brought his damaged aircraft safely back, landing with his wounded comrade at an aerodrome where hospital attention was available.
