Air Ministry, 17th December, 1943.

The KING has been graciously pleased to approve the following awards in recognition of gallantry displayed in flying operations against the enemy:—

Bar to Distinguished Flying Cross.

Flight Lieutenant Jack Moss, D.F.C. (118471), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 680 Squadron.

This officer has completed a very large number of reconnaissances and has displayed exceptional skill and great devotion to duty. In October, 1943, Flight Lieutenant Moss successfully completed a reconnaissance over an area near Cos Island, obtaining valuable information. Some days later, he undertook a similar mission in the Dodecanese area. In spite of heavy and accurate anti-aircraft fire, Flight Lieutenant Moss persisted in his task and secured highly important information. This officer has displayed great courage and resolution.

Distinguished Flying Cross.

Flight Lieutenant Percival George Brown (100619), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 178 Squadron.

Distinguished Flying Medal.

1330732 Flight Sergeant Bruce John McOWAN, Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 178 Squadron.

This officer and airman were pilot and navigator respectively of an aircraft detailed for a mine-laying mission one night in November, 1943. When approaching the target the aircraft was illuminated by several searchlights and the harbour defences opened fire with great intensity. Defying the barrage, Flight Lieutenant Brown flew on and released his mines with accuracy. Throughout the operation, Flight Sergeant McOwan displayed exceptional coolness and his skilful efforts were of great assistance to his pilot. In hazardous circumstances Flight Lieutenant Brown and Flight Sergeant McOwan displayed a high degree of courage and determination.

Distinguished Flying Cross.

Flight Lieutenant Gerald Grahame Tozer (108837), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 680 Squadron.

This officer has completed a very large number of reconnaissances and has displayed courage and devotion to duty of a high order. By his great skill and untiring efforts he has contributed materially to the high standard of efficiency of his flight which has obtained much success.

Acting Flight Lieutenant Eric Thomas HODGKINSON (127357), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 57 Squadron.

This officer has participated in very many sorties, involving attacks on some of the most strongly defended targets in Germany. Recently, he took part in an attack on Dusseldorf. Although the rear turret of his aircraft became unserviceable during the outward journey, Flight Lieutenant Hodgkinson continued to the target which he successfully attacked. In the bombing run, the aircraft was illuminated by the searchlights and subjected to anti-aircraft fire. A shell burst underneath the tail of the aircraft which temporarily went out of control. Flight Lieutenant Hodgkinson regained control, however, and skilfully evaded the defences. This officer is a highly efficient pilot, whose determination and resource have earned high praise.

Acting Flight Lieutenant William George Wickham WARREN (117661), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 77 Squadron.

This officer was the pilot of an aircraft which attacked Leverkusen one night in November, 1943. During the homeward flight the bomber was hit by anti-aircraft fire and 2 of its engines were put out of action. Later on, the aircraft was again engaged by the anti-aircraft defences but Flight Lieutenant Warren skilfully evaded their fire. Displaying superb airmanship this resolute pilot succeeded in reaching an airfield where he effected a masterly landing. His example of courage and determination was worthy of the highest praise.

Flying Officer William Henry BAKER (148111), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 207 Squadron.

One night in November, 1943, this officer piloted an aircraft detailed to attack Berlin. When nearing the target the aircraft was severely damaged. The front of the bomb aimer's compartment was broken off and within a few minutes, Flying Officer Baker's fingers became frostbitten owing to the intense cold caused by the wind blowing through the aperture. Despite this, Flying Officer Baker continued to the target, and afterwards flew the damaged bomber to base. By his skill, endurance and determination, this officer was largely responsible for the safe return of the aircraft and its crew.

Flying Officer Ernest ELLISON (52560), Royal Air Force, No. 680 Squadron.

This officer has completed a very large number of successful reconnaissances and has displayed great skill and determination in the execution of his tasks. On one occasion in October, 1943, he was detailed to reconnoitre various targets. When nearing the area his oxygen supply failed. Nevertheless, he came down to lower altitude and, displaying great determination, went on to complete his mission successfully. He obtained valuable information. Flying Officer Ellison has set a fine example of courage and devotion to duty.

Flying Officer William Ernest Gifford HUMPHREY (127889), Royal Air Force Volunteer Reserve, No. 105 Squadron.

This officer has completed many sorties and has displayed commendable courage and determination. One night in November, 1943, he piloted an aircraft detailed to attack a target in the Ruhr. Whilst over the target area the aircraft was subjected to heavy anti-aircraft fire. A shell burst close under the nose of the bomber and caused damage to the controls. Flying Officer Humphrey was injured in the foot by a fragment of shrapnel which cut away the toe of his flying boot. Nevertheless, he pressed home his attack with vigour, afterwards flying the damaged bomber to an airfield in this country. This officer displayed a high degree of skill and resolution throughout.

Pilot Officer Henry Arthur Laurence ELLIS (Aus. 412932), Royal Australian Air Force, No. 77 Squadron.

One night in November, 1943, this officer piloted an aircraft detailed to attack Leverkusen. When nearing the target the bomber came under heavy fire from the ground defences. Two of the aircraft's engines were hit and other damage was sustained. Undeterred, Pilot Officer Ellis flew on to the target and pressed home his attack. Not long afterwards both the defective engines became useless. In spite of this, Pilot Officer Ellis flew the bomber to base. He displayed superb skill, great courage and resolution.

Pilot Officer Harold Wallace MITCHELL (Can./J.18923), Royal Canadian Air Force, No. 429 (R.C.A.F.) Squadron.

One night in November, 1943, this officer piloted an aircraft which attacked Stuttgart. When more than 100 miles from the target one of the bomber's engines became unserviceable. Pilot Officer Mitchell continued to the target, however, and despite heavy fire from the ground defences, pressed home his attack, afterwards flying the aircraft safely to base. He displayed great skill, determination and devotion to duty.

Distinguished Flying Medal.

Aus.414342 Flight Sergeant William Walter DODSWORTH, Royal Australian Air Force, No. 199 Squadron.

One night in November, 1943, this airman was the pilot of an aircraft detailed to attack Leverkusen. In the bombing run the aircraft was hit by shrapnel. The gun turrets and the inter-communication system were rendered unserviceable and a fire started. In spite of this, Flight Sergeant Dodsworth coolly continued his run and successfully attacked the target whilst other members of the crew dealt with the fire which they succeeded in extinguishing. In harassing circumstances, Flight Sergeant Dodsworth displayed skill, coolness and resolution of a high order.

Aus.425680 Flight Sergeant Roy Alexander LEARMONT, Royal Australian Air Force, No. 619 Squadron.

This airman was the rear gunner of an aircraft which attacked Berlin one night in November, 1943. During the operation the bomber was attacked by two enemy aircraft. In the ensuing fight, Flight Sergeant Learmonth displayed great skill, giving his captain clear and concise evading directions whilst using his guns to good effect. Following his accurate burst of fire, one of the enemy aircraft caught fire and dived steeply and the other one terminated the engagement. By his resolute work, Flight Sergeant Learmonth contributed materially to the success of the operation. He has participated in many sorties and his keenness and vigilance have always been evident.

Air Ministry, 17th December 1943.

The KING has been graciously pleased to approve the following award:

Military Medal

539610 Acting Flight Sergeant Charles Louis SCHOFIELD, Royal Air Force, No. 74 Squadron.

On the 6th October, this airman was detailed to man an Italian Breda gun at Simi. He remained on the site for seven days sharing the duties with another airman. The gun was in a key position and was attacked incessantly by Stukas, but Flight Sergeant Schofield remained at his post and fired his gun even when the flash eliminator was burnt off and the sights had fallen off owing to the heat of the gun. This airman probably destroyed one of the enemy aircraft although he had been wounded in the arm. On the first day of the invasion of Simi some Germans were detected below the position of the gun. Flight Sergeant Schofield participated in an attack against them and brought back one of the enemy's wounded.

AMENDMENTS.

In notification of 19th October 1943 (p. 4618, col. 2), for Acting Warrant Officer (now Pilot Officer) Raymond Frank DENTON (1390294) read Acting Warrant Officer Raymond Frank DENTON (1390284).

In notification of 24th September, 1943 (p. 4248, col. 2), awards of allied decorations. In heading preceding name of Lieutenant-Colonel Stephen Alexander Melville, O.B.E., South African Air Force, for "Commander" read "Officer."
