

From the Imperial Camp before Landau, August 10. The 6th Infantry, we sprung 2 Mines, and by the means of one became Masters of a Redoubt, and by the other made 3 Lodgments within the Palisades of the Contercarp, which advantageous Posts cost us a Lieutenant Colonel and 2 or 3 Captains killed, and about 200 Men more killed and wounded. We carry on our Works with all possible Diligence, and hope to be shortly in a readiness to make a general Assault.

From the Camp of the Allies at Everbeck, August 17. The 22nd August, the Army marched from Peci, and came back to this Camp, as lying more conveniently with regard to the present Situation of the Enemy, as well for covering our Convoys from Mattheit and the Bosch as the Siege of Venlo, towards which Place 4 English and 6 Dutch Battalions of Foot, with 17 Squadrons of Horse, were detached this morning under the Command of Lieutenant-General Fagell; My Lord Coote commands the English Foot as Major-General, and Mr. Bingham-General Hamilton under him. The States-General have sent to the Prince of Nassau to repair forthwith thither to command in chief, and Lieutenant-General Couronne is to carry on the Siege under him; the Place is to be invested on the other side of the Mine by the Baron of Heyden, who commands the British Troops, and some Battalions of Nimeghen and the Gate is also to be commanded out upon this Service, wherein we reckon about 20 Battalions and 50 Squadrons will be employed. The Enemy have divided their Army into three several Camps and he between Bengeit and Eyndhoven. The 14th in the afternoon, Lieutenant-General Schmitz marched with 4 Battalions and 700 Horse and Dragoons to attack Weert, the Governor of which Place defended the Gates for about an hour, and killed us 2 Men, and then retired into the Camp; and our Men having received their Cannon and Mortars the next evening, began yesterday morning to play upon the Castle, and continued to be very vigorously till this day about noon, when the Garrison capitulated, who are to be conducted to Kutenmond. We had but 6 Men killed and 10 wounded in this whole Action. We have received several Convoys of Provisions from Maastricht, and expect one from both the 15th Infantry with a considerable Sum of Money for the Army, and for their greater security the Detachment for Venlo has made a Halt near Richmond, to cover their March, having been joined by 10 Squadrons of Horse from our Army, under the Command of the Earl Rivers.

Hague, August 13. N. S. The Swedish Ambassador went from hence the 15th Instant for Aix-la-Chapelle. We have now a certain Account, That the Duke of Holstein was shot in the Reins with a Cannon Ball, in the beginning of the late Engagement between the Kings of Sweden and Poland, and died in an hour after. They write from Cracow of the 29th past, That the Swedish Army was still near Pinfchoff, about 2 Leagues from the Place where this Action happened; and the King of Poland with his Army near Cracow. There are Letters from the North which give an Account, That a great Army of Muscovites had defeated 10000 Swedes commanded by General Schlippenback, which lay on the Frontiers of Livonia, and had afterwards invested to Dorpad.

Falmouth, Aug. 2. The Spanish Expedition Paquet-Boat arrived here yesterday from Lisbon; The Wind proving Northerly soon after their coming out of that Port, they stood 100 Leagues to the Westward before they met with a fair Wind. Her Majesty's Ship the Edgar came in here this evening with several Merchant Ships under her Convey from the Downes.

Plimouth, August 9. Sir Cloudesly Shovel, Admiral of the White, on board Her Majesty's Ship the Queen, came in here the 7th Instant with Her Majesty's Ships the Nortoik, Russell and Rochester. The same day arrived here Her Majesty's Ship the Mary, with several English homeward bound Merchant Ships under her Convey, when she met in the Soundings, and in her way thither she retook the Thomas and Ann of Bristol, laden with Sugar from Nevis, which was taken by a French Privateer off of the Blaskets. Her Majesty's Ships the Nattau and Dragon arrived here likewise that night, and in their Cruise took a Privateer of St. Malo called the Fortune, of 12 Guns, and retook her Prize, the Catherine Pink of Poole, laden with Fish and Oil, from Newfoundland; as also the Faulkon Brigantine of Bristol, laden with Cotton and Sugar from Antegoa, which was taken by a another French Privateer off of the Island of Lundy.

Windsor, August 9. The Queen having required the Proceedings upon the Trial of Sir John Mordaunt, Rear Admiral of the Red Squadron, to be laid before Her, and having considered all the Circumstances relating to the Expedition to Couronne; Her Majesty finding that Sir John Mordaunt has not done his Duty, pursuant to his Instructions, does not think fit to continue him in Her Service, and has therefore declared Her Pleasure, that his Royal Highness the Lord High Admiral of England should immediately discharge him from his Post and Command in the Royal Navy, and his Royal Highness has accordingly given the necessary Orders for it.
