TUESDAY, 8 MAY, 1956

Whitehall, May 8, 1956.

The following Address was presented to The QUEEN to-day by the Chancellor of the University of Exeter on the occasion of the laying of the Foundation Stone of the new building of the Arts Faculty of the University by Her Majesty:—

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY

We, the Court, the Council, the Senate and all the Members of the University of Exeter, present our humble duty to Your Majesty and extend to Your Majesty and to His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh the most loyal and affectionate welcome on this Your visit to the site of our young University. We offer to Your Majesty our most grateful thanks for the grant of Your Royal Charter and for the signal honour which Your Majesty has been pleased to confer upon us by presenting the Charter to us by Your own hand. We are proud that the University which, as the University College of the South West, was honoured by visits from members of Your Majesty's Family in the past, should start its new and expanding career so auspiciously.

The University is very fortunate in being able, so soon after its foundation, to begin the construction of a new building of outstanding importance. It is doubly fortunate that this building is being inaugurated by an act so gracious and propitious as the unveiling of its Foundation Stone by Your Majesty. For this also we desire to express our deepest gratitude. This new building, which will house the departments of the Faculty of Arts, will assist the University to take its full share in the advancement of learning and the pursuit of truth.

The Universities of Your Majesty's Realm have set high standards. In striving to attain them, every member of the University will be encouraged by Your Majesty's interest. It will be the constant endeavour of each one of us to serve Your Majesty with loyalty and devotion throughout Your Reign, which we pray will be long, happy and peaceful.

Mary Devonshire, Chancellor.
B. G. Lampard-Vachell, Pro-Chancellor.
J. W. Cook, Vice-Chancellor.

To which Address Her Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:—

It gives me great pleasure to be here with my husband to-day and to receive this Loyal Address from you, as Chancellor of the University of Exeter, and such a warm welcome from its members.

Nearly a century ago a son of Devon, Sir Stafford Northcote, urged that Exeter should be made a centre of education for the west of England. His good advice was followed, and that imaginative proposal has been so expanded that this University now serves not only the people of the South-West, but the whole country, and also contains many students from overseas, including representatives of most of the countries of the Commonwealth.

It has one great natural advantage in its beautiful site, which enables students to live and work in a most agreeable environment. I feel confident that when the plans for its further fine buildings have been completed this new University will play a prominent part in widening the frontiers of knowledge—a duty for which the West Country, with its long traditions of exploration and discovery, is specially fitted.

To you, as the first Chancellor of the University, I extend my good wishes for a long and successful term of office in presiding over its destinies. My family, like yours, has had a constant interest in it since its foundation. The first building was begun in 1865 in memory of the Prince Consort. One of the wings of this Royal Albert Memorial College was opened, at the end of the last century, by the then Duke of Devonshire and another by my grandfather, King George the Fifth, as Duke of York. More recently, your brother, Lord Salisbury, held for ten years the office of President of the University College of the South-West, and to-day I have come here to hand over to you, my Mistress of the Robes, as its first Chancellor, the Royal Charter which incorporates the University of Exeter.

This is the third University—Southampton and Hull being the others—to be founded in my reign. I think that this bears striking witness to the increase in the facilities for higher education which are being provided throughout the Kingdom—a development which has its counterpart in the Colonies and in the other countries of the Commonwealth. I am glad to know that the advantages of University life and the opportunities for advanced studies and research are being made available to a constantly growing number of young men and women both here at home and overseas.

There is a great need in the world to-day for technical and scientific education, but, side by side with that, it is important to maintain the study of the humanities, in which Britain has for centuries held an honoured name. It will, therefore, give me great pleasure to unveil the foundation stone of the new building of the Faculty of Arts in this University.

Finally, to mark the occasion of my visit to you, I am happy to name the road on which I have just travelled The Queen's Drive.

I now deliver to you the Charter which founds the University of Exeter.

The Civil Service Commissioners hereby give notice that the following Regulations are published with the approval of the Lords Commissioners of H.M. Treasury, viz.:—

REGULATIONS FOR RECRUITMENT FROM ESTABLISHED CLERICAL OFFICERS FOR THE EXECUTIVE CLASSES (GENERAL AND DEPARTMENTAL) OF THE HOME CIVIL SERVICE.

1. Age.

Candidates must be at least 21 and under 28 years of age on the 1st August of the year in which the competition is held.

Provided that the Commissioners may, at their discretion, waive the maximum age limit in favour of a candidate who, although eligible, was prevented from attending an earlier Limited Competition for the Executive Classes as a result of having been recalled from the Reserve for a period of service or training with H.M. Forces.

2. Sex.

Both men and women are eligible, but women will not ordinarily be appointed to posts in the Admiralty or War Office or to the Immigration Service of the Home Office.

3. Service.

Candidates must on 1st August of the year in which the competition is held to be serving either

(a) in an established situation in the General Clerical Class or in the Departmental Clerical Classes of the Customs and Excise Department and the Valuation Office of the Board of Inland Revenue with a certificate of the Civil Service Commissioners; or

(b) on the established conditions of the General Clerical Class or of the Departmental Clerical Classes of the Customs and Excise Department and the Valuation Office of the Board of Inland Revenue except for pension, pending the issue of the certificate of the Civil Service Commissioners, and have been notified by the Commissioners by that date that a decision as to physical eligibility has been deferred; or

(c) (if on medical grounds they were not accepted for fully established appointment), on the established conditions of the General Clerical Class or of the Departmental Clerical Classes of the Customs and Excise Department and the Valuation Office of the Board of Inland Revenue except for sick leave and pension; or

(d) in clerical posts in the Metropolitan Police Commissioner's Office, the Office of the Receiver for the Metropolitan Police District, the Office of the Crown Agents for Oversea Governments and Administrations, the Foreign Compensation Commission, the Forestry Commission, the Nature Conservancy, or Trinity House, having been appointed to a post in one of those Departments after success in an examination for similar posts held by the Civil Service Commissioners.

Members of the General Clerical Class who have been accepted for transfer to Branch B of the Foreign Service are not eligible.

4. Number of Attempts.

No candidate may compete in more than three Limited Competitions for the Executive Classes, excluding any candidature in the Reconstruction Limited Competition.

5. Health and Character.

Successful candidates must satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners as to their health and character.

6. Examination.

The written examination will consist of papers in English and Arithmetic, a General Paper, and a test of General Intelligence.

Of the candidate who obtain the highest marks in the written examination a certain number, to be fixed by the Commissioners, will be invited to interview, at which the Interviewing Board will award each candidate a mark for his or her record and personal qualities. The Department of each candidate invited to interview will be asked to supply a confidential report and this will be taken into account by the Interviewing Board.

The final order of merit will be determined by combining the marks for written examination and interview.

Even if there are unfilled vacancies no candidate will be appointed who does not reach a standard which satisfies the Civil Service Commissioners.

7. Assignment.

The Commissioners will decide to which Department each successful candidate is to be assigned. A candidate who declines to accept the post offered will have no claim to be assigned to another, but will be regarded as having declined appointment. Assignments will be made in accordance with the needs of the public service, but regard will be paid, so far as vacancies permit, to the previous Departmental experience of the candidates and to the wishes of Departments for the assignment of particular candidates who have served under them, and the wishes of candidates will, where possible, be taken into account.

8. Fee.

An application fee of 15s. is payable by all candidates. This must be sent with the application form, and is not returnable in any circumstances. A further fee of £1 5s., being the balance of the prescribed fee of £2, must be paid by each candidate on admission to the examination.

The Civil Service Commissioners further give notice that a Competition will be held under the above Regulations, the written examination commencing on 9th August, 1956.

No person will be admitted to the Competition from whom the Secretary of the Civil Service Commission has not received, on or before 7th June, 1956, an application on the prescribed form which may be obtained from the Secretary at once.
