Whitehall, June 29, 1956.

The QUEEN made the following speech when Her Majesty reviewed Holders of the Victoria Cross in Hyde Park on Tuesday, 26th June, 1956:—

On 29th January, 1856, Queen Victoria created the Victoria Cross. It was to be awarded to those fighting men who, in the presence of the enemy, performed some signal act of valour or devotion to their country. In her Royal Warrant The Queen directed that neither rank nor long service, nor wounds nor any other circumstance or condition whatsoever, save the merit of conspicuous bravery, should be held to establish sufficient claim to the honour. It was the first award to be open to officers and men alike, and it was The Queen's desire that, in her own words, "It should be highly prized and eagerly sought after by the officers and men of our Naval and Military Services." If The Queen had been able to see into the future, she would have known that a third Service would arise to seek this supreme award in the air.

For many years the Victoria Cross has held a unique position in the esteem of all my peoples, and its plain ribbon with its simple cross rightly takes precedence over the symbols of all other honours bestowed upon the brave or the distinguished.

Ninety-nine years ago today, here in Hyde Park, The Queen presented the Cross to sixty-two officers and men honoured for their bravery in the Crimean war and the Baltic Sea. Today, I am proud to stand here, with men and women from all parts of the Commonwealth to do honour to the successors of that first gallant band—to the three hundred brave men who are present, and to those others who can be with us only in spirit, or in the memory of family and friends.

We are not a war-like nation. But, whenever war has come, our fighting men have shown a standard of courage which has inspired the respect of all nations and the dread of the aggressor. In all the changes of these hundred years, that courage has not changed. No one in 1856 foresaw how in our time the citizen would take his equal place in war beside the professional fighting man. The tradition of courage has in this century become the common inheritance of all citizens of the Commonwealth.

In the past century, thirteen hundred and forty-four men have won the Victoria Cross—three of them more than once. They were men of all ranks and they came from all walks of life. They were of different colours and creeds. They fought in many lands and with many different weapons. But their stories are linked by a golden thread of extraordinary courage. Each man of them all gave the best that a man can give, and all too many gave their lives. Some, careless of danger, stood firm in battle to hold or secure a position. Some, with sublime self-sacrifice, gave their lives to help wounded comrades. Many exposed themselves time after time to death in conditions of battle beyond the imaginations of our forefathers. All met with honour those demands of war which urge the valiant spirit to the limits of human endeavour and endurance. They dared mightily, and "turned their necessity to glorious gain."

Today, in honouring them for what they did, we pay tribute to an ideal of courage which all in our fighting services have done their best to attain. For beyond this gallant company of brave men there is a multitude who have served their country well in war. Some of them may have performed unrecorded deeds of supreme merit for which they have no reward. To all of us the Victoria Cross is a symbol of the heights to which we all can rise at our country's need. But on this proud occasion let us not forget that courage in battle is only one side of war's account. Do not let us think that it cancels out the suffering and misery which man, whether willingly or unwillingly, has inflicted on man. We must all pray, and strive to secure, that the account may now be closed. But should the need arise, which God forbid, we can be sure of this: that there will not be wanting other brave spirits to uphold the record of those whose deeds, during the past eventful century, we proudly commemorate today.

As Esquires.

Captain Peter Murray Ingledew, R.N.V.R. (Rtd.).
 Edward Warren Sankey.

Civil Service Commission, 29th June, 1956.

The Civil Service Commissioners hereby give notice that the following Regulations are published with the approval of the Lords Commissioners of H.M. Treasury, viz.:—

REGULATIONS FOR THE RECRUITMENT OF DRIVING AND TRAFFIC EXAMINERS IN THE MINISTRY OF TRANSPORT AND CIVIL AVIATION.

1. Age.

Candidates must be at least 30 and under 55 years of age on 1st January, 1956 (i.e. they must have been born on or before 1st January, 1926, and on or after 2nd January, 1901). Candidates over 40 years of age will be considered only if they have held responsible or supervisory positions in their previous employment or have other experience which, in the opinion of the Civil Service Commissioners, is of exceptional value.

2. Sex and Marriage.

(i) Both men and women may compete under these Regulations.

(ii) Married women who have formerly been established civil servants and have drawn marriage gratuity (other than those who resigned compulsorily on marriage and whose registration took effect before 15th October, 1946, or who are widows or divorced, or who are separated from their husbands, or whose husbands suffer without hope of recovery from total physical or mental incapacity) will not be eligible unless they undertake to refund on appointment the marriage gratuity paid: provided that this undertaking will not be required if the break between the first period of service (including any period of unestablished service immediately following the period in respect of which the gratuity was paid) and the date of re-establishment is more than seven years.

3. Nationality.

Candidates must be British subjects. They must also satisfy one of the following conditions:—

(a) If natural-born British subjects, they must either:—

(i) have at least one parent who is or was at death a British subject; or

(ii) have resided in Her Majesty's dominions and/or been employed elsewhere in the service of the Crown for at least five years out of the last eight years preceding the date of their appointment.

(b) If naturalised British subjects, they must have resided in Her Majesty's dominions and/or been employed elsewhere in the service of the Crown for at least five years out of the last eight years preceding the date of their appointment.

(c) If not qualified under (a) or (b) of this paragraph they must satisfy the Commissioners that they are so closely connected with Her Majesty's dominions either by ancestry, upbringing or residence, or by reason of national service, that an exception may properly be made in their favour.

4. Qualification.

Candidates must have had at least 10 years driving experience with different types of vehicle, and must have had wide experience of driving within the last 5 years (e.g. something in the region of 4,000 miles per annum will be looked for, but candidates with somewhat less experience will be considered if they are otherwise well qualified). They must also know the Highway Code in detail and have sufficient clerical ability to enable them to write clear and accurate reports. Additional advantages will be an up to date knowledge of motor cycles, a general knowledge of road transport law as it affects commercial passenger and goods vehicles, and experience of driving tuition and testing and of conducting interviews.

N.B.—Candidates convicted of certain motoring offences will not be eligible to compete.

5. Health and Character.

Successful candidates must satisfy the Commissioners as to their health and character.

6. Competition.

Candidates who appear from their application forms to have the best qualifications and experience will be given a special driving test conducted by Supervising Examiners of Driving Tests of the Ministry of Transport and Civil Aviation.

This test will call for an extremely high standard of driving competence; the standard is very much higher than that required for a learner-driver test. Its purpose is to ensure that successful candidates possess thorough knowledge of the principles of good driving and have the ability to apply them, since, if successful in the Competition, they will be called upon to assess the driving competence of others.

In particular, the Examiners will look for

(i) ability to read at a distance of 100 feet in good daylight (with the aid of glasses if worn) a motor car number plate containing six letters and figures;

(ii) expert handling of all controls;

(iii) detailed knowledge and application of the Highway Code and of correct road procedure;

(iv) the ability to anticipate the actions of other road users and to take appropriate action;

(v) sound judgment of speed and distance;

(vi) consideration for other road users.

The result of the driving test will depend solely on the candidate's performance under test conditions, including his answers to questions on the Highway Code.

Those who pass the test will be called before a selection board, which will test their general knowledge of cars and, where appropriate, of motor cycles, and the extent of their general knowledge of road transport law. The selection board will also take into account a candidate's record of education and experience, any recommendations they may have received from persons named by the candidate as having direct knowledge of his work in the past, and the personal qualities of the candidate as shown at the interview. The board will recommend to the Commissioners for appointment the candidates who appear most suitable. The decision of the Commissioners will be final.

7. Candidates trained as Teachers.

Candidates who have been trained as teachers, elsewhere than in England or Wales, and upon whose training public money has been spent, cannot be appointed until the consent of the appropriate central education authority (e.g. the Scottish Education Department, the Ministry of Education for Northern Ireland) has been notified to the Commissioners.

8. Canvassing.

Any attempt on the part of candidates to enlist support for their applications through Members of Parliament or other influential persons, except as referees to be named by them in their application forms, will disqualify them for appointment.

9. Fee.

Every successful candidate will be required to pay a fee of £1 10s. before the issue of a certificate of qualification for appointment.

Civil Service Commission, 29th June, 1956

The Civil Service Commissioners hereby give notice that the following Regulations are published with the approval of the Lords Commissioners of H.M. Treasury, viz.:—

REGULATIONS FOR RECRUITMENT TO THE BASIC GRADES OF CIVIL ENGINEER, STRUCTURAL ENGINEER, AND SANITARY ENGINEER.

1. Age.

Candidates must be at least 25 and under 35 years of age on 1st January, 1956. But

(1) a candidate who has served or is serving on a regular (including a regular short-service) engagement in H.M. Forces may deduct from his actual age the period of such service rendered before 1st January, 1956;

(2) candidates who have served in any established post to which they were admitted with the Certificate of the Civil Service Commissioners, or who have served on established conditions except for sick leave and pension in a post to which such a certificate would normally apply, may deduct from their actual age any time not exceeding two years which they have spent in such service before 1st January, 1956;

(3) candidates over the age of 34 will be admitted to the competition if they have served in Government Departments as temporary Civil Engineers, Structural Engineers, or Sanitary Engineers (as the case may be) for at least two years continuously up to their date of application.

2. Sex and Marriage.

(i) Both men and women may compete under these Regulations, except that women will not be eligible for appointments under the Admiralty, War Department or Air Ministry.

(ii) Married women who have formerly been established civil servants and have drawn marriage gratuity (other than those who resigned compulsorily on marriage and whose resignation took effect before 15th October, 1946, or who are widows or divorced, or who are separated from their husbands, or whose husbands suffer without hope of recovery from total physical or mental incapacity) will not be eligible unless they undertake to refund on appointment the marriage gratuity paid. Provided that this undertaking will not be required if the break between the first period of service (including any period of unestablished service immediately following the period in respect of which the gratuity was paid) and the date of re-establishment is more than seven years.

3. Nationality.

Candidates must be British subjects. They must also satisfy one of the following conditions:—

(a) If natural-born British subjects, they must either

(i) have at least one parent who is, or was at death, a British subject; or

(ii) have resided in Her Majesty's dominions and/or been employed elsewhere in the service of the Crown for at least five years out of the last eight years preceding the date of their appointment.

(c) If not qualified under (a) or (b) of this paragraph, they must satisfy the Commissioners that they are so closely connected with Her Majesty's dominions either by ancestry, upbringing or residence, or by reason of national service, that an exception may properly be made in their favour.

Provided that a candidate will not be eligible for an appointment under the Admiralty, War Office or Air Ministry unless he or she is a natural-born British subject and born within the United Kingdom or in one of the self-governing Dominions of parents also born within the United Kingdom or in one of the self-governing Dominions, except when the circumstances are such as to justify a departure from the general rule, in which case, provided the candidate satisfies the conditions prescribed by the preceding paragraphs, he or she may be admitted to appointment or competition by special permission of the First Lord of the Admiralty, Secretary of State for War, or Secretary of State for Air, as the case may be.

4. Qualifications.

A candidate who is taking before the closing date for applications an examination necessary to qualify for admission to the competition will be admitted before the result of the examination is known. He will not, however, be declared successful unless on the result of the examination he obtains the requisite qualification.

All candidates should possess professional ability. Normally this should be supported by evidence of appropriate professional experience in private or outside practice or in the service of a Local Authority or Government Department. In all cases the candidate's professional ability will need to be effectively demonstrated within the period of probation (or corresponding period of trial).

At the time of application (subject to the above proviso) candidates must either

6. Application.

Only one application may be made for the competition governed by these regulations.

7. Competition.

Those candidates who on the evidence of the application forms, and any further information which the Commissioners think necessary to obtain, are found to be prima facie eligible, will be summoned to a Selection Board. The Commissioners may, if they see fit, summon only those candidates who by reason of their experience and qualifications appear to be most suitable for appointment. The same Selection Board may consider a candidate at one interview for one or more of the classes. The Selection Boards will take into consideration the candidates' record of experience and training, any recommendations from persons named by the candidates as having direct knowledge of their work in the past, and the personal qualities of the candidates as shown at the interview. The decision of the Commissioners will be final, and will be announced separately for the separate classes.

8. Candidates Trained as Teachers.

Persons upon whose training, elsewhere than in England or Wales, for the occupation of teacher public money has been spent, cannot be appointed until the consent of the appropriate education authority (e.g. the Scottish Education Department, the Ministry of Education for Northern Ireland) has been notified to the Commissioners.

9. Assignment.

The Commissioners will decide to which Department each successful candidate is to be assigned. Assignment will be made in accordance with the needs of the public service but the wishes of candidates will, where possible, be respected.

10. Canvassing.

Any attempt on the part of candidates to enlist support for their application through Members of Parliament or other influential persons, except as referees to be named in their application forms, will disqualify them for appointment.

11. Fee.
