NATIONAL INSURANCE ADVISORY COMMITTEE

10 John Adam Street, London W.C.2.

THE NATIONAL INSURANCE (CONTRIBUTIONS) AMENDMENT (No. 2) REGULATIONS, 1960

In accordance with section 77 of the National Insurance Act, 1946, the National Insurance Advisory Committee give notice that they have received from the Minister of Pensions and National Insurance for consideration and report thereon the preliminary draft of regulations entitled the National Insurance (Contributions) Amendment (No. 2) Regulations, 1960.

A short explanatory note of these regulations is appended to this notice.

Copies of the preliminary draft of these regulations may be purchased directly (price 4d.) from Her Majesty's Stationery Office at the addresses shown on the last page of this Gazette, or through any bookseller.

The Committee will take into consideration any objection, made by or on behalf of persons affected, received by them not later than 15th July 1960. Objections should be addressed to the Secretary, National Insurance Advisory Committee, 10 John Adam Street, London W.C.2.

Ifor Evans, Chairman.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Part III of these Regulations amends the National Insurance (Contributions) Regulations, 1948, in relation to persons imprisoned or detained in legal custody. Such persons, if sent to hospital because of mental disorder, will not be subject to the special provisions, under which persons imprisoned or detained in legal custody are not normally liable to pay or entitled to be credited with contributions; in the case of a person transferred to hospital while serving a sentence this will apply for any period after his sentence would have expired had he not been so transferred. The Regulations also make other persons imprisoned or detained in legal custody eligible to have contributions credited to them in some cases (for example, while continuing education in an approved school or a remand home) and end their exception from liability to pay contributions while working as employed persons.

Part III of these Regulations contains transitional provisions enabling contributions to be credited to such persons, for the purpose of the right to future benefit, in cases where they were not previously credited because of a restriction on credits which has not ceased to apply.

THE NATIONAL INSURANCE (GENERAL BENEFIT) AMENDMENT REGULATIONS, 1960

In accordance with section 77 of the National Insurance Act, 1946, the National Insurance Advisory Committee give notice that they have received from the Joint Authority (comprising the Minister of Pensions and National Insurance and the Minister of Labour and National Insurance for Northern Ireland) for consideration and report thereon the preliminary draft of regulations entitled the National Insurance (General Benefit) Amendment Regulations, 1960.

A short explanatory note on these regulations is appended to this notice.

Copies of the preliminary draft of these regulations may be purchased directly (price 6d.) from Her Majesty's Stationery Office at the addresses shown on the last page of this Gazette, or through any bookseller.

The Committee will take into consideration any objection, made by or on behalf of persons affected, received by them not later than 15th July 1960. Objections should be addressed to the Secretary, National Insurance Advisory Committee, 10 John Adam Street, London W.C.2.

Ifor Evans, Chairman.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

By virtue of a disqualifying provision of the National Insurance Act, 1946, benefit under that Act is not payable to a person, or in respect of a person as the beneficiary's husband or wife, for a period during which that person is undergoing imprisonment or detention in legal custody, subject to such exceptions as regulations may provide. The National Insurance (General Benefit) Regulations, 1948, provide for exceptions in certain circumstances; and these Regulations make additions to the circumstances in which the disqualification is removed. Insofar as the disqualification would apply to a period of a person's detention between the bringing of a charge against him in criminal proceedings and the end of those proceedings, these Regulations remove the disqualification if, in the result, the person is neither ordered to undergo penal detention nor fined. Insofar as the disqualification would apply to a period of a person's detention as a result of an order made at the end of such proceedings, these Regulations remove the disqualification if the person is liable to be detained in a hospital or similar institution as a person suffering from mental disorder unless he became so liable while undergoing penal detention in accordance with the order. In that case, the disqualification is removed as from the earliest date (if certified by the Secretary of State or the Prison Commissioners) on which he would have been expected to be discharged from the penal detention. Anticipating the coming into operation of the Mental Health Act, 1959, and a corresponding Scottish enactment, the Regulations provide also that if, in such a case, the person's liability to detention in a hospital or similar institution arises under one of these enactments, the disqualification is not to apply unless a direction restricting the person's discharge, given or treated as given under it, is in force.

The Regulations also amend those provisions of the National Insurance (General Benefit) Regulations, 1948, which provide for the suspension of the payment of benefit while the beneficiary is undergoing imprisonment or detention in legal custody. The amendments include those necessary to ensure that the provision made for such suspension will not operate while the beneficiary is liable to be detained in a hospital or similar institution in such circumstances that the disqualification referred to in the preceding paragraph is removed by the provisions there described. The other amendments are of a minor character.

THE NATIONAL INSURANCE (HOSPITAL IN-PATIENTS) AMENDMENT REGULATIONS, 1960

In accordance with section 77 of the National Insurance Act, 1946, the National Insurance Advisory Committee give notice that they have received from the Joint Authority (comprising the Minister of Pensions and National Insurance and the Minister of Labour and National Insurance for Northern Ireland) for consideration and report thereon the preliminary draft of regulations entitled the National Insurance (Hospital In-Patients) Amendment Regulations, 1960.

A short explanatory note on these regulations is appended to this notice.

Copies of the preliminary draft of these regulations may be purchased directly (price 6d.) from Her Majesty's Stationery Office at the addresses shown on the last page of this Gazette, or through any bookseller.

The Committee will take into consideration any objection, made by or on behalf of persons affected, received by them not later than 15th July 1960. Objections should be addressed to the Secretary, National Insurance Advisory Committee, 10 John Adam Street, London W.C.2.

Ifor Evans, Chairman.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

These Regulations substitute a single definition of "free in-patient treatment" for the existing definitions, in the National Insurance (Hospital In-Patients) Regulations, 1949, of "hospital or similar institution" and of "free in-patient treatment". The effect of the substitution is that the provisions for adjusting benefit will extend to patients maintained free in any hospital provided by the Minister of Health (including, as at present, any provided by him under the National Health Service or as successor to the former Minister of Pensions) or in Scotland by the Secretary of State, and to civilian patients maintained free in service hospitals.

The Regulations also make an additional provision for the adjustment of benefit which otherwise would be payable to or in respect of a hospital patient in certain cases where (as certified by a doctor who is treating the patient) either no sum, or no more than a weekly sum which is less than the amount of the weekly benefit otherwise payable, can be applied for the patient's personal comfort or enjoyment. The provision applies only where the patient has received free in-patient treatment for at least fifty-two weeks. In cases where the provision applies, the benefit which otherwise would be payable and cannot be applied for the patient's personal comfort or enjoyment is not payable immediately but will become payable (to the extent to which it would otherwise have been payable for not more than fifty-two weeks) to the patient in the event of his or her approved discharge from hospital.

The Regulations also confine the application of the existing provision for setting-off unpaid resettlement benefit accrued for one period of free in-patient treatment against resettlement benefit accrued for another to cases in which the interval between the two periods exceeds twenty-eight days.

The remaining provisions are of a minor or consequential character.

THE NATIONAL INSURANCE (UNEMPLOYMENT AND SICKNESS BENEFIT) AMENDMENT (No. 2) REGULATIONS, 1960.

In accordance with section 77 of the National Insurance Act, 1946, the National Insurance Advisory Committee give notice that they have received from the Joint Authority (comprising the Minister of Pensions and National Insurance and the Minister of Labour and National Insurance for Northern Ireland) for consideration and report thereon the preliminary draft of regulations entitled the National Insurance (Unemployment and Sickness Benefit) Amendment (No. 2) Regulations, 1960.

A short explanatory note on these regulations is appended to this notice.

Copies of the preliminary draft of these regulations may be purchased directly (price 3d.) from Her Majesty's Stationery Office at the addresses shown on the last page of this Gazette, or through any bookseller.

The Committee will take into consideration any objection, made by or on behalf of persons affected, received by them not later than 15th July 1960. Objections should be addressed to the Secretary, National Insurance Advisory Committee, 10 John Adam Street, London W.C.2.

Ifor Evans, Chairman.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

These Regulations amend the provision in the National Insurance (Unemployment and Sickness Benefit) Regulations, 1948, that a day is not to be treated as a day of incapacity for work if, on that day, a person does any work other than work as a non-employed person or, subject to an earnings limit, work under medical supervision while the person is a hospital patient. These Regulations increase that earnings limit; they apply it also to work done as a non-employed person, and require that such work, to be expected, must be done with good cause. The Regulations also amend the rules of behaviour which are required to be observed by specifying the work which is described above as work which may be done without infringing those rules.
