THE NATIONAL INSURANCE (MARRIED WOMEN) AMENDMENT REGULATIONS, 1961.

In accordance with section 77 of the National Insurance Act, 1946, the National Insurance Advisory Committee give notice that they have received from the Minister of Pensions and National Insurance for consideration and report thereon the preliminary draft of regulations entitled the National Insurance (Married Women) Amendment Regulations, 1961.

A short explanatory note on these regulations is appended to this notice.

Copies of the preliminary draft of these regulations may be purchased directly (price 4d.) from Her Majesty's Stationery Office at the addresses shown on the last page of this Gazette, or through any bookseller.

The Committee will take into consideration any objections, made by or on behalf of persons affected, received by them not later than Friday, 27th October 1961. Objections should be addressed to the Secretary, National Insurance Advisory Committee, 10 John Adam Street, London W.C.2.

Ifor Evans, Chairman.Explanatory Note

The Regulations amend the National Insurance (Married Women) Regulations, 1948, by the addition of two new regulations, 8E and 8F.

The new Regulations enlarge the provisions for crediting contributions to widows, contained in Regulations 6 and 6A of the National Insurance (Contributions) Regulations, 1948. Provision is now made for certain credits to be given irrespective of exception from liability to pay contributions, to widows to whom widow's benefit is payable, and, for the purpose of retirement pension, to widows to whom widow's benefit would be payable but for the existence of certain circumstances. Widows who are only entitled to benefit under the Industrial Injuries Act or a war pension, which is payable at a certain rate, will receive credits, for the purpose of retirement pension, on re-marriage. The new Regulations also provide for women entitled to widow's benefit immediately before attaining pensionable age, and those who would be so entitled but for certain disqualifying causes, to be deemed to have satisfied the contribution conditions for a retirement pension as respects the minimum number of contributions required to have been paid since entry into insurance.

The remaining provisions are consequential.

THE NATIONAL INSURANCE (GENERAL BENEFIT) AMENDMENT REGULATIONS, 1961.

In accordance with section 77 of the National Insurance Act, 1946, the National Insurance Advisory Committee give notice that they have received from the Joint Authority (comprising the Minister of Pensions and National Insurance and the Minister of Labour and National Insurance for Northern Ireland) for consideration and report thereon the preliminary draft of regulations entitled the National Insurance (General Benefit) Amendment Regulations, 1961.

A short explanatory note on these regulations is appended to this notice.

Copies of the preliminary draft of these regulations may be purchased directly (price 3d.) from Her Majesty's Stationery Office at the addresses shown on the last page of this Gazette, or through any bookseller.

The Committee will take into consideration any objection, made by or on behalf of persons affected, received by them not later than Friday, 27th October 1961. Objections should be addressed to the Secretary, National Insurance Advisory Committee, 10 John Adam Street, London W.C.2.

Ifor Evans, Chairman.Explanatory Note

One of the provisions of the National Insurance (General Benefit) Regulations, 1948, relating to the calculation of the yearly average of contributions paid by or credited to a person prevents the taking into account, in such a calculation for the purpose of a widow's right to a retirement pension on her own insurance, of contributions credited to her by reason only of her being in receipt of widow's benefit under the National Insurance Act, 1946, if, when she attains pensionable age, she is entitled to any of certain descriptions of widow's benefit payable otherwise than under the Act. These Regulations cause that provision not to have effect in relation to any retirement pension, insofar as it is payable for a period after they have come into operation.
