State Intelligence

Whitehall,
London S.W.1.

9th November 1962.

The following Address was presented to The QUEEN by the Minister of Education, The Rt. Hon. Sir Edward Boyle, Bt., M.P., on the occasion of the opening by Her Majesty of the new building of the Commonwealth Institute on Tuesday, 6th November 1962:

May it please Your Majesty,

This Institute has had a varied history in the seventy years of its existence. Its main purpose, originally, was to act as a centre for information and investigation concerning trade and industry. At the great inaugural City meeting in January 1887, T. H. Huxley said that he regarded the proposed Institute as "the public and ceremonial marriage of science and industry", following an increasingly intimate flirtation over the previous thirty years.

In the period up to the Second World War, the Institute became renowned for the scientific services it provided, including the supply of commercial and technical information and the analysis of raw materials. At the end of the war the Government decided to take over all the scientific side of the Institute's work. The purposes of the Institute were re-defined, largely in educational terms, and responsibility for it was transferred from the Board of Trade to the Ministry of Education. As the Report of the Committee in 1952 put it, "the main emphasis should shift from products to persons".

I am sure that we have all welcomed this shift of emphasis. The inner strength of the Commonwealth lies in its people. My own concern, as Minister of Education, is to arouse the interest of boys and girls, from their early years, in the Commonwealth story, with all its variety and colour. On the foundation of that interest we want to give them some ideas of the unique position of the Commonwealth in the world today, and of its future as a living and developing partnership.

Above all, we want them to be able to think in practical terms about the many nations which make up the Commonwealth today. In this connection, one of the very best sources of help for the schools is the Commonwealth Institute.

The change in the functions of the Institute is being matched by a change in the type of building which houses it. Whatever its architectural merits, the old building was wasteful of space and quite unsuited to the Institute's present purposes. In its place we have a building of the most contemporary design, combining beauty with efficiency.

I recall that the ode on the opening in 1893 referred to "the airy domes and towers"; now we have no towers, but we have obtained an effect no less "airy" by means of a roof composed of five hyperbolic paraboloids.

It has been essentially a Commonwealth enterprise. The copper covering for the roof above our heads, and the timber for the floor, are both gifts from overseas. Every single government in the Commonwealth, including of course Your Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom, has contributed to the building and its embellishments, or to the exhibitions that it contains.

Queen Victoria opened the original building. Despite changes of location and function, the ultimate purpose of the Institute has never altered. In the faith that, in its new home, the Institute will be better able to serve the interests of the Commonwealth, I invite Your Majesty to open this building.

To which Address Her Majesty was pleased to return the following gracious Answer:

It is just 75 years since my great-great-grandmother, Queen Victoria, laid the foundation stone of the old Imperial Institute. Since that great occasion, the development of the Institute into its present form as the Commonwealth Institute, has mirrored the development of the Commonwealth itself. 75 years ago it was the Queen-Empress and the Imperial Institute; today it is the Head of the Commonwealth opening the new building of the Commonwealth Institute. For the Empire has been transformed into a Commonwealth of equal and independent nations. Only a tiny proportion of its total population lives in dependent or trust territories. The constitutional pattern has undergone an immense change, but the spirit and the ideals and the genuine friendship of its members remained the same.

Contributions for the original building came from all quarters of the globe; and that same generosity and spirit of co-operation have prompted the wonderful contributions, in cash and in kind, for this new building. In fact, the realisation of this whole venture is convincing proof of the success of the Institute in the past and of the faith which all its members have in the future of the Commonwealth.

I suppose that, between us, my husband and I have seen more of the Commonwealth than almost any people alive. To us its diversity and unity, and the friendliness of all its many peoples, are alive and real. Unfortunately, it is not possible for all the people of Britain to travel quite so extensively; but this building provides the next best thing. It has assembled the Commonwealth under one roof. Its imaginative design and lively exhibits will give the Institute much better opportunities than ever before to make the Commonwealth come alive for all who enter within its doors.

The facts and figures about this building are very interesting, as is the technical description of the shape of its roof. But the really important statistics are those concerning the people whom the Institute reaches. The old building attracted 45,000 school children every year, and 15,000 to teacher conferences. Even more important is the audience of over one million who attend the 9,000 talks arranged annually all over the country by the Institute. These are impressive figures; and I am sure that this new headquarters will inspire their very rapid increase in the future.

We in the Commonwealth form an association of peoples as well as of governments; and our association cannot prosper to the full, unless ordinary people in each country really care about what is happening in the others. It is the thread of personal concern and understanding between individual people that weaves the strong fabric of the modern Commonwealth.

It is in the name of all the peoples of the Commonwealth that I declare this building open.

Notice is hereby given that the St. Pancras Borough Council (hereafter referred to as "the Council") is applying to the Minister of Transport for an Order under section 85 of the Road Traffic Act, 1960, to designate parking places on certain highways (controlled by meters) and, in conjunction with these proposals, is asking the Minister to make regulations under section 34 of the Act (as amended).

The general effect of the proposed Order and Regulations would be to make an area within the Borough of St. Pancras a Controlled Parking Zone. The boundaries of the proposed zone are Euston

Road, Pentonville Road, King's Cross Road, Calthorpe Street, Phoenix Place, Mount Pleasant, Elm Street, Grays Inn Road, Roger Street, Doughty Mews, Guilford Street, Herbrand Street, Bernard Street, Kenton Street, Coram Street, Marchmont Street, Tavistock Place, Tavistock Square and Upper Woburn Place.

The proposed Order would:

- (i) designate parking places in the highways named in the First Schedule hereto;
- (ii) fix the maximum number of parking bays (i.e. spaces on the carriageway where vehicles may be left) in each parking place; provide that the number and situation of such parking bays in each parking place may be determined by the Council and provide that parts of certain parking places shall not be occupied by parking bays;
- (iii) provide that the parking bays may be used for the leaving of vehicles of any class or description specified in the Second Schedule hereto; between the hours of 8.30 a.m. and 6.30 p.m. on any day other than a Saturday, Sunday, Christmas Day, Good Friday or a Bank Holiday;
- (iv) provide that the initial charge for leaving a vehicle in a parking place shall be one shilling for two hours or sixpence for one hour in those streets named in Part I of First Schedule and two shillings for four hours or one shilling for two hours in those streets named in Part II of the First Schedule, and that such charge shall be payable on the leaving of a vehicle in a parking place by the insertion of a coin or coins in a parking meter;
- (v) provide that an excess charge of ten shillings shall be incurred in respect of any vehicle left in a parking place for longer than the period for which payment was made by the initial charge and that payment of any excess charge incurred shall be made to the Council by the seventh day following the day on which the excess charge was incurred;
- (vi) prescribe the manner in which vehicles shall stand in parking places and in particular that every part of a vehicle shall be within the limits of a parking bay;
- (vii) provide that a traffic warden may remove from a parking place any vehicle in respect of which certain provisions of the Order have been contravened or not complied with;
- (viii) empower the Council to install parking meters at parking places; and
- (ix) make other incidental provisions.

The Regulations would:

I.—(a) restrict waiting by vehicles between the hours of 8.30 a.m. and 6.30 p.m. on Mondays to Fridays inclusive, between 8.30 a.m. and 1.30 p.m. on Saturdays, in the lengths of street specified in Part I of the Third Schedule hereto excluding any parts of those streets designated as parking places by the before-mentioned proposed Parking Places Order (these proposals include certain streets at present subject to waiting restrictions); and

(b) prohibit waiting by vehicles for the purpose of loading and unloading goods in certain parts of the streets named in Part II of the Third Schedule hereto (these streets are also included in Part I of the Third Schedule)

The Council proposes that exemption should be provided in the Regulations:

- (i) to permit bicycles propelled by mechanical power and not having a sidecar attached thereto to wait in cycle parking areas within the streets named in the Fourth Schedule hereto;
- (ii) to permit vehicles to wait, to pick up and set down passengers and their baggage, to carry out essential services, or while in use by local authorities in an emergency;
- (iii) to permit vehicles to wait for the purpose of loading or unloading goods in all the above-mentioned lengths of restricted street except in those parts of streets where the prohibition mentioned in I (b) applies;

II. institute one-way traffic working in the streets named in the first column of the Fifth Schedule hereto, in the directions specified in the second column of that Schedule (these proposals include certain streets at present subject to one-way traffic working on an experimental basis).

A copy of the proposed Order and a plan showing the area of the controlled parking zone may be inspected between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4.30 p.m. on Mondays to Fridays inclusive during a period of 28 days from the date of this notice, at the office of the undersigned at the Town Hall, Euston Road, London N.W.1.
