The 22d past the Imperialists began to fire upon our Cassis but the Enemy's Canon having disnounced three of the Imperialists, they were obliged to remove that Battery to another Place, where it is less exposed. That Night the Beseged made a Saliy, and the 24th they made another, but were both times repulsed with considerable Lossfor these two Nights past the Firing has been very great on both sides, and many Bombs were thrown into the Cassis Yesterday by break of Day the Garison falled again with great Fury, and several Men were killed on both sides, but the Enemy were at last obliged to retire with the greater share of the Loss. The Imperialists have begun to make a Breach in the Rampart: They have carried on their Approaches to the Palisadoes, and expect to morrow a tresh supply of Cannon and Ammunition; and they hope in a day or two to carry the Covered-way. They have been reinforced with some of the Duke of Savoy; but his Royal Highness, instead of coming hither, as it was said he intended to do, is making Preparations to attack Valenza.
