HONOURS AND AWARDS

CENTRAL CHANCERY OF THE ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD

St. James's Palace, London S.W.1.

1st May 1964.

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased, on the advice of Her Majesty's Canadian Ministers, to approve the award of the George Medal to the undermentioned:

Chief Petty Officer Second Class Joseph Henry Kenneth LAY, CD 24909-H, Royal Canadian Navy.

At 0700 on 13th January 1962, Chief Petty Officer Joseph Henry Kenneth Lay and a companion, Chief Petty Officer W. Thompson, were at Western Head, Lockeport, Nova Scotia, preparing to go duck hunting. At the time there was intermittent snow with onshore winds from the N.N.E. at 20 knots and air temperature 27°F. Sea temperature was 40°F. with waves up to four feet except off shore where local tidal effects caused rip tides and waves 10 to 15 feet in height. While standing on the shore, deciding whether to go duck shooting or not in view of the weather conditions, they were informed that an overturned boat had been sighted and a cry for help heard. Bystanders reported there was a small boat some distance away which Chief Petty Officer Lay and his companion located and skidded over the snow some three quarters of a mile before launching into the sea. Due to the size of the boat it was not possible for both Chief Petty Officers to attempt the rescue. However, Chief Petty Officer Lay, dressed in heavy winter clothing and without regard for his own personal safety, rowed the boat to the overturned craft. Realising his boat would capsize if he attempted to bring the delirious man into it, Chief Petty Officer Lay persuaded him to hang onto the stern. Due to his exhausted condition the man was unable to do so. Chief Petty Officer Lay then positioned his feet over the man's arms and held him in place. In this manner Chief Petty Officer Lay rowed his small eight foot boat some 300 yards to the shore through the hazardous, shoaling waters and rip tide with seas ranging in height to fifteen feet. In view of the sea state and prevailing weather conditions, this rescue demanded great courage, endurance and alertness. Chief Petty Officer Lay undoubtedly risked his own life in saving Mr. Fiske from death by drowning.
