HONOURS AND AWARDS

CENTRAL CHANCERY OF THE ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD

St. James's Palace, London S.W.1.
10th September 1965.

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointment to the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire:

To be an Additional Member of the Military Division of the said Most Excellent Order, for Gallantry:

Lieutenant Richard Edward Smith, Royal Navy.

On the night of 18/19th March, Lieutenant R. E. Smith was the pilot of a helicopter exercising with the 22nd Special Air Service at Castlemartin. He had a co-pilot, Lieutenant J. H. Adams, and a Crewman, Chief Air Fitter R. C. S. Kentsbeer. In turbulent conditions, with only very intermittent moonlight to assist, and with a radio altimeter that had a poor presentation of heights below 50 feet, Lieutenant Smith and his crew located three canoes in distress and marked their position, which was about 4 miles off the coast.

Despite poor visibility, the fact that the aircraft's starboard generator had failed and that the aircraft was not properly equipped for, nor are Commando aircrew trained in, night rescue operations, Lieutenant Smith decided to attempt recovery of at least one canoeist. One canoeist was rescued by winch and taken back to the Special Air Service Camp and Lieutenant Smith and his crew then returned to attempt a further winch recovery, which was eventually accomplished, despite worsening weather conditions and the poor state of the survivor. At the same time, the Tenby Lifeboat was alerted to assist in recovering the remaining canoeists and bodies.

Lieutenant Smith showed considerable determination and courage in attempting two winch recoveries in hazardous weather conditions some way out to sea. Without doubt his efforts, and his efficient organisation of his team, saved the lives of the survivors.
