For the purpose of enabling effect to be given to the International Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea signed in London on 17th June 1960 (in this Act referred to as "the Convention") which replaces the International Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea signed in London on 10th June 1948 (in this Act referred to as "the Safety Convention") the Merchant Shipping (Safety Convention) Act 1949 as extended to Hong Kong by the Merchant Shipping Safety Convention (Hong Kong) No. 1 Order 1953 (which Act as so extended is in this Act referred to as "the Act of 1949") shall have effect as if—

New requirements for cargo ships

Cargo ship construction and survey rules

2.—(1) The Governor in Council may make rules (in this Act referred to as "cargo ship construction and survey rules") prescribing requirements for the hull equipment and machinery of ships to which this section applies and requiring any such ships which are registered in Hong Kong as to be surveyed to such extent, in such manner and at such intervals as may be prescribed by the rules.

(2) The said rules shall include such requirements as appear to the Governor in Council to implement the provisions of the Convention relating to the hull, equipment and machinery of such ships, except so far as those provisions are implemented by any other rules or regulations made under the Merchant Shipping Acts.

(3) This section applies to—

- sea-going ships of not less than five-hundred tons gross tonnage; and
- sea-going ships of not less than such lower tonnage and of such description as to the Governor with the consent of the Board of Trade may by order specify ;

other than passenger steamers, troopships, pleasure yachts, fishing vessels and ships not propelled by mechanical means ; except that it applies to ships not registered in Hong Kong only while they are within a port in Hong Kong and are not exempted from the cargo ship construction and survey rules under the following provisions of this Act.

(4) The matters with regard to which fees may be prescribed by regulations under section 33 of the Act of 1949 shall include surveys required by the cargo ship construction and survey rules, and the provisions applied by section 13(2) of that Act (which relate to the delivery of declarations of survey and appeals to the court of survey) shall apply to such surveys whether or not they are made for the purpose of the issue of any certificate.

(5) In relation to surveys required by the cargo ship construction and survey rules which are carried out otherwise than by a Government surveyor appointed under the Hong Kong Merchant Shipping Ordinance 1953 (in this Order referred to as "the Ordinance")—

(a) so much of the said section 33 as requires fees to be paid to the Government of Hong Kong shall not apply ; and

(b) the provisions applied by the said section 13(2) shall apply with such modifications as may be prescribed by the cargo ship construction and survey rules ; and

(c) the definition of "declaration of survey" in section 36 (1) of the Act of 1949 shall not apply.

(6) An order under subsection (3)(b) of this section may be varied or revoked by a subsequent order.

(7) For the purposes of this section and without prejudice to the generality of the powers therein contained the cargo ship construction and survey rules made from time to time by the Board of Trade under the Merchant Shipping Acts shall unless varied by or repugnant to the cargo ship construction and survey rules made under this section be deemed to be cargo ship construction and survey rules made under this section.

Cargo ship safety construction certificates and exemption certificates.

3.—(1) If the Governor or such person as he may authorise for the purpose is satisfied, on receipt of declarations of survey in respect of a ship to which section 2 of this Act applies and which is registered in Hong Kong, that the ship complies with the cargo ship construction and survey rules applicable to the ship and such voyages as she is to be engaged on he shall, on the application of the owner, issue in respect of the ship—

(a) if the ship is of not less than five hundred tons gross tonnage and is to be engaged on international voyages, a certificate in the form prescribed by the Convention ;

(b) in any other case, a certificate showing that she complies with the said rules ;

and any such certificate is in this Act referred to as a cargo ship safety construction certificate.

(2) If the Governor, on receipt of declarations of survey in respect of such a ship, is satisfied that the ship is exempt, by virtue of any exercise by him of a power conferred on him by section 28 of the Act of 1949 or the cargo ship construction and survey rules, from any of the requirements of those rules applicable to the ship and to such voyages as she is to be engaged on, and that she complies with the rest of those requirements, he shall, on the application of the owner, issue in respect of the ship—

(a) if she is of not less than five hundred tons gross tonnage and is to be engaged on international voyages—

(i) an exemption certificate stating which of the requirements of the Convention, being requirements implemented by the rules and applicable as aforesaid, the ship is exempt from and that the exemption is conditional on the ship's plying on the voyages and complying with the other conditions (if any) specified in the certificate ; and

(ii) a certificate showing that the ship complies with the rest of those requirements ;

(b) in any other case, a certificate showing that the ship complies with such of the requirements of the cargo ship construction and survey rules applicable to the ship and to the voyages she is to be engaged on as she is not exempt from ;

and any certificate issued under paragraph (a)(ii) or paragraph (b) of this subsection is in this Act referred to as a qualified cargo ship safety construction certificate.

(3) A certificate issued under this section, other than an exemption certificate, shall remain in force for five years or such shorter period as may be specified in it, but without prejudice to the Governor's power to cancel it ; and an exemption certificate issued under this section shall remain in force for the same period as the corresponding qualified certificate.

(4) The Governor with the consent of the Board of Trade may by order extend the period for which a certificate under this section may be issued to a period not exceeding six years.

(5) Without prejudice to the power of extension conferred by section 13(5) of the Act of 1949, where a certificate under this section is in force in respect of a ship and the certificate was issued for a shorter period than is allowed under the foregoing provisions of this section, the Governor or any person authorised by him for the purpose may, if satisfied on receipt of declarations of survey in respect of the ship that it is proper to do so, grant an extension of the certificate for a period not exceeding one year, and not exceeding, together with the period for which it was issued and any period by which it has been previously extended under this subsection, the longest period for which it could have been issued under this section.

(6) In relation to a certificate issued or extended under this section by a person authorised by the Governor—

(a) the provisions applied by section 13(8) of the Act of 1949 (which relate to the transmission, cancellation, surrender, posting-up and falsification of certificates issued by the Governor) except section 10(11) of the Hong Kong Merchant Shipping Ordinance 1899 (transmission of certificates) as amended by the Ordinance ; and

(b) section 33 of the Act of 1949 (fees) ;

shall apply as they apply in relation to certificates issued by the Governor, except that so much of the said section 33 as requires fees to be paid to the Government of Hong Kong shall not apply.

(7) An order under subsection (4) of this section may be varied or revoked by a subsequent order.

Notice of alterations and additional surveys.

4.—(1) The duty of the owner or master of a ship under subsection (2) of section 11 of the Act of 1949 to notify alterations and renewals shall extend, in relation to any ship in respect of which a certificate under section 3 of this Act is in force, to the hull, machinery and any equipment other than that mentioned in that subsection, but may, if the certificate was issued by a person authorised under the said section 3, be discharged by notifying him instead of the Governor.

(2) Subsection (4) of the said section 11 (additional survey and cancellation of certificates) shall have effect, in relation to any such ship, as if—

(a) paragraph (a) thereof extended to any alteration or renewal which is notifiable by virtue of this section ; and

(b) paragraph (b) and not paragraph (c) thereof were applicable, notwithstanding that the ship is not a passenger steamer ;

and the power of the Governor under that subsection to cancel such a certificate shall be exercisable also where the ship has not been submitted for survey as required by the cargo ship construction and survey rules.

Prohibition on proceeding to sea without appropriate certificates.

5.—(1) No ship to which section 2 of this Act applies and which is registered in Hong Kong shall proceed to sea unless there is in force in respect of the ship either—

(a) a cargo ship safety construction certificate ; or

(b) a qualified cargo ship safety construction certificate and, if the ship is about to proceed on an international voyage, a corresponding exemption certificate ; or

(c) such certificate or certificates as would be required if she were a passenger steamer, applicable to the ship and to the voyage on which she is about to proceed.

(2) If any ship proceeds, or attempts to proceed, to sea in contravention of this section the owner or master of the ship shall be liable to a fine not exceeding $2,000.

(3) The master of every ship to which section 2 of this Act applies and which is registered in Hong Kong shall produce to the Director of Marine from whom a clearance for the ship is demanded the certificate or certificates required by the foregoing provisions of this section; and the clearance shall not be granted, and the ship may be detained, until the said certificate or certificates are so produced.

Exemption of ships holding appropriate certificates

6. Where there is produced in respect of a ship not registered in Hong Kong—

(b) accepted Safety Convention certificates equivalent respectively to a qualified cargo ship safety construction certificate and to a corresponding exemption certificate;

the ship shall be exempt from the cargo ship construction and survey rules.

Penalty for non-compliance with rules and power to detain

7.—(1) If the cargo ship construction and survey rules are contravened in any respect in relation to a ship, the owner or master of the ship shall be liable on conviction on indictment to a fine not exceeding $10,000 or on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $2,000.

(2) A Government Surveyor may inspect any ship for the purpose of seeing that she complies with the provisions of the cargo ship construction and survey rules (other than those relating to survey) and for that purpose shall have all the powers of a Board of Trade inspector under the Merchant Shipping Acts; and if he finds that the ship fails to comply with those provisions he shall give to the owner or master notice in writing stating in what respect she fails to comply with them and what in his opinion is requisite to remedy the failure.

(3) Every notice under subsection (2) of this section shall be communicated in manner directed by the Governor to the Director of Marine; and the ship shall be detained until a certificate under the hand of a Government surveyor is produced to the effect that the failure has been remedied.

Damage control and life-saving appliances

Damage control plans and stability information for passenger steamers

8. Construction rules (that is to say, rules made under section 1 of the Act of 1949 relating to the hull, equipment and machinery of British passenger steamers registered in Hong Kong) may require the provision in such ships—

(a) of plans exhibited as provided by or under the rules, and of other information, relating to the boundaries of watertight compartments, the openings therein, the means of closing such openings and the arrangements for correcting any list due to flooding; and

(b) of information necessary for the guidance of the master in maintaining sufficient stability to enable the ship to withstand damage.

Radio installations and certificates

Requirements for portable radio apparatus carried in survival craft

10.—(1) Radio rules may prescribe requirements for such portable radio apparatus as boats or life rafts may be required to carry by the rules for life-saving appliances.

(2) Subsections (7) and (8) of section 3 of the Act of 1949 (which relate to the inspection and detention of ships to ensure conformity with the radio rules) shall apply in relation to the portable radio apparatus so required to be carried by the boats or life rafts on any ship as they apply in relation to the radio installation of the ship.

A 2

Radio installations

11. For subsection (4) of section 3 of the Act of 1949 (which specifies the radio installations to be required under the radio rules) there shall be substituted the following subsection:

“(4) The radio installation required under the said rules to be provided—

(a) for a passenger steamer of whatever tonnage, or for any ship of sixteen hundred tons gross tonnage or upwards which is neither a passenger steamer nor a fishing vessel, shall be radiotelegraph installation; and

(b) for any other ship shall be either a radio telephone installation or a radiotelegraph installation, at the option of the owner.”

Renewal of radio certificates for small cargo ships

12. Where a radio certificate or qualified radio certificate is in force in respect of a ship of less than five hundred tons gross tonnage, other than a passenger steamer, and the ship is surveyed by a Government surveyor at a time not earlier than two months before the end of the period for which the certificate is in force, then, if on receipt of the declaration of survey a new certificate is issued before the end of that period—

(a) the current certificate may be cancelled; and

(b) the new certificate may, notwithstanding anything in section 13(3) of the Act of 1949, be issued for a period ending not later than twelve months after the end of the first-mentioned period.

Miscellaneous

Issue of exemption certificates where Convention country issues corresponding qualified certificates

13. Where the Governor, under section 13 (9) of the Act of 1949, requests the government of a country to which the Convention applies to issue in respect of a ship such certificates as he is authorised to issue under subsection (2) of section 7, 8 or 9 of that Act or under paragraph (a) of section 3(2) of this Act, and that government is willing to issue, in pursuance of that request, a qualified certificate thereunder but is not willing to issue the corresponding exemption certificate, the Governor may issue that exemption certificate in respect of the ship.

Information about ship's stability

14.—(1) The following provisions of this section shall have effect with respect to the information about a ship's stability which is required to be supplied under section 18 of the Act of 1949.

(2) Except as provided by the following subsection, the information shall, when first supplied, be based on the determination of the ship's stability by means of an inclining test and shall be replaced by fresh information whenever its accuracy is materially affected by alterations made to the ship; and in any such case the Governor may require a fresh inclining test.

(3) The Governor may—

(a) in the case of any ship, allow the information to be based on the determination, by means of an inclining test, of the stability of a sister ship;

(b) in the case of a ship specially designed for the carriage of liquids or ore in bulk, or of any class of such ships, dispense with an inclining test if satisfied from the information available in respect of similar ships that the ship's proportions and arrangements are such as to ensure more than sufficient stability in all probable loading conditions.

Modification of section 29 of Act of 1949

15. Subsection (1) of section 29 of the Act of 1949 (which exempts certain ships from certain provisions) shall not prevent the application—

(a) to any ship of three hundred tons gross tonnage or upwards, of so much of the provisions mentioned in paragraphs (a) and (b) of that subsection as relates to certificates issued under section 9 of that Act or equivalent accepted Safety Convention certificates;

(b) to any ship to which section 2 of this Act applies and which is registered in Hong Kong, of so much of the provisions mentioned in paragraph (a) of that subsection as relates to certificates issued under section 3 of this Act;

by reason only that she is of less than five hundred tons gross tonnage.

Extension of duty to report dangers to navigation

16. The matters of which information is to be sent by the master of a ship in accordance with rules under section 24 of the Merchant Shipping (Safety and Load Line Conventions) Act 1932 as applied to Hong Kong by the Merchant Shipping Safety Convention (Hong Kong) No. 1 Order 1935 shall include—

- (a) air temperatures below freezing point associated with gale force winds causing severe ice accretion on the superstructure of ships; and
- (b) winds of force 10 or above on the Beaufort Scale for which no storm warning has been received.

SupplementaryTransitional provisions

18.—(1) Nothing in section 5 of this Act or section 17(1) of the Act of 1949 shall prohibit a ship from proceeding to sea without such a certificate as is required, or is equivalent to one required, under the said section 5, until the expiry of two years from the commencement of this Act.

(2) Nothing in section 15(a) of this Act or section 12(1)(b)(ii) or 17(1) of the Act of 1949 shall prohibit a ship of less than five hundred tons gross tonnage from proceeding to sea without such a certificate as is required, or is equivalent to one required, under the said section 12(1)(b)(ii), until the expiry of one year from the commencement of this Act.

(3) The Board of Trade may by regulations provide that for such purposes, for such a period and subject to such conditions as may be specified by or under the regulations—

- (a) any country to which the Safety Convention applies shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as if it were a country to which the Convention applies; and
- (b) any certificate which immediately before the commencement of this Act was an accepted Safety Convention certificate within the meaning of the Act of 1949 as originally enacted may be treated as if it were an accepted Safety Convention certificate within the meaning of that Act as amended by this Act;

and those regulations shall have effect for the colony of Hong Kong as for the United Kingdom.

Construction

19.—(2) In the Act of 1949 "the Merchant Shipping Acts" shall mean the Merchant Shipping Acts 1894 to 1958 and this Act; and this Act shall be construed as one with those Acts.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND FISHERIES FOR SCOTLAND

Diseases of Animals Act 1950

Notice is hereby given in pursuance of section 85 (3) of the Diseases of Animals Act 1950 that the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food and the Secretary of State for Scotland, acting jointly, have made the following Order:

Statutory Instruments 1965 No. 1981

The Markets (Protection of Animals) (Amendment) Order 1965

(Made 17th November 1965)

This Order, which is made under the Diseases of Animals Act 1950, requires market authorities to provide covered accommodation in their markets to protect calves, dairy cows in milk and pigs from the weather, with effect from 1st July 1966. The accommodation must have been approved as adequate by the Minister of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food (if in England or Wales) or by the Secretary of State (if in Scotland). The market authority must also see that the accommodation is made available, and identified in a conspicuous place by means of a plan or otherwise, for the benefit of users of the market. It will be an offence to permit calves, dairy cows in milk or pigs to be exposed for sale in the market, or kept there afterwards, otherwise than in approved accommodation if such accommodation is available.

Where approved accommodation is provided in a market under this Order, the provisions of article 6 of the Markets (Protection of Animals) Order 1964 (which requires calves, dairy cows in milk and pigs to be kept in roofed accommodation, if available) will cease to apply to the market. There are also some minor and technical amendments of the 1964 Order.

This Order provides for the approval of accommodation at any time after 30th November 1965, and a market authority is given a right to make representations against a proposed adverse decision to a person appointed for the purpose. The Minister or Secretary of State may in exceptional circumstances issue a certificate exempting a market authority from the requirement to provide approved accommodation, subject to such conditions and for such period as may be stated in the certificate.

Copies of Statutory Instruments 1965 No. 1981 may be obtained from Her Majesty's Stationery Office, York House, Kingsway, London W.C.2, price 6d. each (by post 9d.).
