HONOURS AND AWARDS

CENTRAL CHANCERY OF THE ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD

St. James's Palace, London S.W.1.

26th August 1966.

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased to approve the award of the George Medal to:

Lieutenant Allan Leigh TARVER, Royal Navy.

Lieutenant Tarver was the pilot of a Sea Vixen aircraft returning to H.M.S. ARK ROYAL from an operational patrol over the sea. Halfway home one of his two engines stopped through a mechanical failure and the aircraft, already low on fuel, began to lose more fuel from the damaged engine. A Scimitar tanker aircraft from the carrier closed Tarver's disabled aircraft, and while endeavouring to take fuel from the tanker in mid air, the Sea Vixen's other engine cut out at a height of approximately 12,000 feet, and the now powerless aircraft began to fall towards the sea.

In the Sea Vixen aircraft the two aircrew sit strapped in ejector seats in separate cockpits in the forward half of the fuselage, a closed hatch over head securing the Observer's escape route, and they are not in direct visual communication with one another. Lieutenant Tarver coolly remained in his cockpit, retaining control as best he could as the aircraft fell, and initiated a count-down for himself and his Observer to eject at a height of 6,000 feet. He was in continuous radio communication both with the ship and with the pilot of the Scimitar tanker above him at this stage, and both have testified that he reported the sequence of events to them in a calm voice.

At 6,000 feet, when the count-down reached zero, the Observer initiated the firing of his ejector seat, but the cartridge did not fire, and he began to attempt to bale out manually. Although it was now clear that every moment that delayed his own ejection reduced Lieutenant Tarver's already limited chances of survival, he elected to remain in his cockpit to further the Observer's escape as best he could. He first inverted the aircraft in the hope of assisting the Observer's manual escape. With the hatch cover jettisoned there was hope that this manoeuvre might be successful, although in doing so, precious height and speed were lost and the time remaining before the inevitable crash into the sea was diminished. Twice Lieutenant Tarver carried out this manoeuvre, but to no avail because his Observer, having got himself half out of his access hatch appeared to lose consciousness and it is likely that his harness became caught up in the airframe.

With all reasonable chance of his own survival now gone, Lieutenant Tarver still took no action to save his own life and leant back and put his arm through to push on his Observer's foot (the only part of him he could see) in the hope of jerking him clear before the aircraft hit the sea. This was also fruitless.

The Scimitar pilot watching the Vixen from above reported that as the Sea Vixen rolled over on its final plunge into the sea, the body of Lieutenant Tarver was seen ejecting from the pilot's cockpit, hitting the sea direct, before his parachute had time to deploy within the splash circle of the aircraft crash.

An air-sea rescue helicopter had been flown off from the ship, but in the opinion of the Scimitar pilot, who was the only eye-witness of the crash, there could be no chance of Lieutenant Tarver having survived, and he reported this on his recall on board. In the event, however, Lieutenant Tarver did survive and the helicopter rescued him from the sea and brought him back on board the carrier.

That he was unsuccessful in saving his Observer's life in no way diminishes the quality of his own bravery, and by making his first concern the survival of his fellow aircrew, Lieutenant Tarver acted in the highest traditions of the Service; by remaining for several minutes in the crashing aircraft so forfeiting his own chances of escape beyond the point where he could reasonably expect to live, he exhibited most conspicuous courage in circumstances of extreme danger.

PRICES AND INCOMES ACT, 1966

Reference to the National Board for

Prices and Incomes

Productivity Agreements

A number of productivity agreements have been concluded which provide for changes in working practices for the purpose of improving the utilisation of both capital and labour, in return for improvements in pay. In view of the importance of increasing productivity the First Secretary of State and the Minister of Labour request the National Board for Prices and Incomes to examine and report on productivity agreements negotiated at company or industry level, including, among others, those concluded by:

Esso Oil Company Limited.
The Electricity Supply Industry.
Imperial Chemical Industries Limited.
The British Oxygen Company Limited.
Alcan Industries Limited.

Accordingly, in pursuance of their powers under section 2 (1) of the Prices and Incomes Act, 1966, the First Secretary of State and the Minister of Labour hereby refer to the National Board for Prices and Incomes for examination the question of productivity agreements.

24th August 1966.

Reference to the National Board for
Prices and Incomes

Costs and Prices of Aluminium
Semi-Manufactures

Earlier this year all the major and most of the minor producers of aluminium semi-manufactures announced increases in their prices in order to take account of increases in costs of production. In view of the scope that appears to exist in this industry for increasing productivity and the significance of increases in the prices of its products for such a wide range of British industry, the First Secretary of State and the President of the Board of Trade consider it desirable that costs and prices in the industry should be examined by the National Board for Prices and Incomes.

Accordingly, in pursuance of their powers under section 2 (1) of the Prices and Incomes Act, 1966, the First Secretary of State and the President of the Board of Trade hereby refer to the National Board for Prices and Incomes for examination the question of the costs and prices of the aluminium semi-manufactures industry.

Reference to the National Board for
Prices and Incomes

Costs and Charges in the Motor Repairing
and Servicing Industry

During the past two years there have been indications of a considerable increase in charges for motor vehicle repairs and servicing. It is known that over this period there have been increases in labour costs and also, in the case of repairs, in the costs of components and spares.

In view of the rapidly growing importance of this service industry to the public, the substantial amount of consumer expenditure involved and the significance for vehicle insurance rates of rising repair charges, the First Secretary of State and the Minister of Technology consider it desirable for costs and charges in this industry to be examined by the National Board for Prices and Incomes.

Accordingly, in pursuance of their powers under section 2 (1) of the Prices and Incomes Act, 1966, the First Secretary of State and the Minister of Technology hereby refer to the National Board for Prices and Incomes for examination the question of costs and charges in the motor vehicle repairing and servicing industry.

MINISTRY OF LAND AND NATURAL RESOURCES

COMMONS REGISTRATION ACT 1965

Notice of Application for an Exemption Order

Application has been made to the Minister of Land and Natural Resources by the Mayor, Aldermen and Burgesses of the Borough of Harrogate for an Order under section 11 of the Commons Registration Act 1965 exempting the land of which particulars are given below from registration under the Act.

The Act provides for the registration of common land and town or village greens and of rights of common. The registration of rights of common entails the registration of the land over which they are exercised. Persons claiming the freehold ownership of land registered under the Act will be required to register their claims unless the freehold title is registered at the Land Registry.

Registration will not begin before 1st January 1967, and detailed information about it will be given nearer that date.

Applications for exemption from registration must be made to the Minister before 1st October 1966. The Minister may not make an Order for exemption with respect to any land unless it appears to him—

(a) that the land is regulated by a scheme under the Commons Act 1899 or the Metropolitan Commons Acts 1866 to 1898 or is regulated under a local Act or under an Act confirming a provisional order made under the Commons Act 1876; and

(b) that no rights of common have been exercised over the land for at least thirty years and that the owner of the land is known.

If the Minister grants the application and makes the Order, the registration provisions of the Commons Registration Act 1965, as briefly outlined above, will not apply to the land described below. However, land that is common land or a town or village green will not cease to be so if an Order is made in respect of it, nor will the rights or interests of any person in the land be prejudiced by the Order.

Local authorities in whose area any part of the land lies have been sent copies of the application (incorporating a map of the land), which they are required by law to keep available for public inspection. Any person wishing to object to the grant of an exemption Order, and any person who has exercised, or who knows of the exercise of, common rights over any part of the land at any time during the last thirty years, should, within forty days of the date of this notice, send a written and signed statement of the facts to The Secretary, Ministry of Land and Natural Resources, Queen Anne's Mansions, Queen Anne's Gate, London S.W.1.

Dated 19th August 1966.

K. W. Evans, on behalf of the Minister.
