ARMY DEPARTMENT

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased to approve the undermentioned award in recognition of Distinguished Service in Aden:

Distinguished Flying Medal

22962989 Sergeant Norman BAILEY, Royal Regiment of Artillery (attached Army Air Corps).

Acting on information an operation was launched to search a village in the Wadi Tiban which was being used as a staging point on a main route into the Federation from the Yemen. Two companies were flown in and 8 Flight Army Air Corps with three Scout helicopters, were in support.

During the operation a group of eight armed men with some camels were seen to act suspiciously. They left the camels and their loads, and made off at speed towards the Yemen border some 1500 metres away. Sergeant Bailey was sent in an armed Scout, with a waist gunner, to cut off the dissidents route to the border, and to give covering fire while the two other Scouts dropped troops off in positions to engage the enemy.

Sergeant Bailey came suddenly on the dissidents moving up a deep re-entrant, and due to the nature of the ground could only engage them with his waist gun at close range, so presenting a broadside target. As he opened fire he came under accurate small arms fire himself, and his aircraft was hit, three times. One round tore away the tail rotor control cables leaving him with no lateral control. The helicopter yawed violently making his guns inoperative.

Sergeant Bailey decided to try and get his crippled aircraft back to the operational base at Habilayn. This involved a twenty mile journey over rugged mountainous country with peaks up to 5000 feet and more. Any normal use of power threw the aircraft into an uncontrollable spin. He found a power/speed combination at which the machine was controllable and eased it up, in steps, to a height to clear the mountains. He had to make for Habilayn on a curved track having little or no directional control. At one stage he met severe turbulence and the aircraft spun almost out of control, but by skilful handling Sergeant Bailey righted it again.

On arrival at Habilayn he had to approach the strip on the curved path that the aircraft adopted, and, on the final approach, close down the engine, and make an engine off landing with no yaw control. That he did this with no further damage was no mean achievement.

By his clear thinking, cool action, and skilful handling during the action, and in the subsequent recovery, Sergeant Bailey saved his aircraft and crew from a nasty situation, and from further harm.

Sergeant Bailey has been in Aden for twenty-two months and has flown 500 hours, of which 400 have been on operations, or in the RADFAN Operational area.

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased to approve the undermentioned award in recognition of gallant conduct in Aden:

Military Medal

22217659 Sergeant Thomas EDWARDS, Welsh Guards.

For six months of the year's tour in Aden, this Sergeant acted as a Platoon Commander. He carried out all the duties both up and down country including patrolling, picqueting and internal security. At all times his platoon achieved a high standard due to his leadership and guidance.

In operation Wellington Barracks from March 25th-March 29th in the Wadi Taym, Sergeant Edwards was given the task of laying booby traps and covering a section of the company arc fire. He laid them very expertly and they together with the mortar fire, caused casualties to the extent of three dissidents killed and at least six wounded.

On 28th March, when, on this operation, his platoon came under heavy and accurate fire from small arms, mortars and blindicides, Sergeant Edwards displayed a cool courage which was an inspiration to the platoon. His calm direction of machine-gun fire undoubtedly contributed to the casualties inflicted.

Throughout the battalion's tour in Aden he has shown magnificent leadership and devotion to duty over and above what is expected of a Non Commissioned Officer of his rank. He has displayed courage and determination in the highest military tradition.

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased to give orders for the publication of the names shown below as having received an expression of Commendation for Brave Conduct in Aden:

22831083 Sergeant Raymond ROBERTS, Welsh Guards.

During an attack on Commando Camp, Dhala, Aden, on the night of 26th May 1966, Sergeant Roberts crawled forward to an exposed sangar and took charge.

He co-ordinated fire, and passed back information, and in a cool and competent manner engaged the enemy with a Carl Gustav anti-tank weapon, regardless of his own safety.

On several occasions he has commanded his platoon without an officer, during which time he has been an example to all. By his cheerfulness, leadership and dynamic personality he has done much for morale.

22831542 Corporal (acting Sergeant) Michael John BUTLER, Welsh Guards.

Although only an acting Platoon Sergeant, Sergeant Butler has commanded his platoon in Aden for over three months.

He has carried out more than thirty ambush patrols and on several he has been under heavy fire and all the mental strain that such operations demand. His courage and example on each occasion have kept all concerned cool and alert.

There is no doubt that his meticulous care and planning has saved many casualties.

He has shown himself to be a brave and resourceful man and has upheld the highest traditions of the service.

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased on the advice of Her Majesty's Australian Ministers to approve the following awards in recognition of gallant conduct in Vietnam with effect from 8th December 1966:

Distinguished Service Order

Lieutenant-Colonel Alexander Vogler PREECE, M.V.O., Australian Staff Corps.

Lieutenant-Colonel Preece was appointed to command The First Battalion, The Royal Australian Regiment, in Vietnam on 3rd December 1965 at short notice when the previous commanding officer became a casualty. At that time the Battalion was participating in operation "New Life," a divisional sized offensive operation against the Viet Cong in Binh Tuy Province. Without any hesitation and with great determination he assumed immediate and effective command of the First Battalion, The Royal Australian Regiment tactical group and maintained pressure on the enemy forces until the operation was brought to a successful conclusion two weeks later.

During the next four weeks Lieutenant-Colonel Preece planned and, with outstanding success, commanded three battalion group heliborne assault operations deep into Viet Cong territory in Binh Hoa, Hau Nghia and Binh Duong Provinces. During the third of this series of operations, operation "Crimp" which lasted from 8th January to 14th January 1966, his battalion, after carrying out a well-planned assault against enemy opposition in the landing zone, located a major Viet Cong tunnel complex. This complex proved to be the target for the Brigade, the Viet Cong Headquarters which supervised enemy operations in the Bien Hoa and Gia Dinh Provinces which includes Saigon. The Battalion group cleared, searched, and destroyed many thousands of yards of tunnels deep underground, large quantities of documents were captured which provided valuable intelligence to the Government of Vietnam.

In the following four months Lieutenant-Colonel Preece continued to command his Battalion during a further four major and successful operations, three of which included heliborne assaults. Between these operations the Battalion continued to dominate its area of responsibility in the Bien Hoa airfield defences by using a well co-ordinated and aggressive patrol programme.

Throughout this period of six months of command, during which his Battalion was in almost continuous contact with a militarily proficient and fanatical enemy, Lieutenant-Colonel Preece set by personal example the very highest standards of courage, leadership and professional skill. Under his leadership the battalion has played a full and effective part in turning the tide against the Viet Cong and in restoring many thousands of South Vietnamese people to Government control.

Military Cross

Captain Felix FAZEKAS (48049), Australian Staff Corps.

Following service in the Citizen Military Forces, Captain Felix Fazekas was granted a Commission in the Australian Regular Army in September 1959. He served successively in the 1st Recruit Training Battalion, 1st Battalion, the Royal Australian Regiment and at the Infantry Centre, Ingleburn, and in September 1965 was posted to the Australian Army Training Team Vietnam.

On 13th November 1965 Captain Fazekas was the senior advisor to a Vietnamese Civil Irregular Defence Group Company, engaged in a search and destroy operation in the Tra Bong Valley, 15 kilometres east of the Tra Bong Special Forces Camp in Quang Ngai Province.

The company was operating on three platoon axes. Captain Fazekas accompanied the centre platoon, whilst two other Australian Army advisors, Warrant Officers K. A. Wheatley and R. J. Swanton accompanied the platoon on his right flank.

At about 1330 hours on that day, Captain Fazekas' platoon made contact with a small Viet Cong Guerilla force and a fire fight, directed by him, ensued. The enemy withdrew, leaving one weapon behind. Whilst this action was in progress the platoon on the right came under heavy accurate machine gun and rifle fire from what was later found to be a dug-in Main Force company of Viet Cong. They were in a prepared and well-sited position. The right platoon suffered heavy casualties in a short period including Warrant Officer Swanton. Assistance was called for from Captain Fazekas' platoon.

Captain Fazekas immediately rallied and led a force of fifteen Vietnamese soldiers at the run over a distance of some 800 metres to the scene of the action. At this stage only his personal example emboldened the Vietnamese groups sufficiently to stay with him and the remainder of the platoon to follow at a distance.

On arrival, Captain Fazekas led his group in an immediate assault on the flank of the enemy position through knee deep rice paddy in the face of direct and flanking automatic fire. Though at one stage forced to adopt a firing position in the paddy from where he shot at least two enemy, he again rallied seven of his group and together they continued the assault, returning fire whilst on the move. This resolute and offensive action caused the enemy to abandon his advantageous position and move rearwards leaving behind a significant number of weapons, dead and wounded. Firing now broke out in the vicinity of the rear elements of his platoon. Captain Fazekas returned to that position through continuous enemy flanking fire and proceeded to reorganise his platoon and direct their fire with such success that the enemy ceased firing and withdrew. He then organised the evacuation of casualties and directed a successful air strike onto the suspected enemy assembly area to the rear. The Vietnamese Company Commander decided to withdraw. Captain Fazekas, aware that two wounded Australian advisors were still unaccounted for and not being able to entice the Vietnamese to return to their last known position, organised a relief force which arrived in the area at last light. He led a search force next morning and recovered the bodies of Warrant Officers Wheatley and Swanton. The complete engagement resulted in 38 enemy killed and 40 wounded.

Captain Fazekas displayed heroic personal courage and outstanding resoluteness and aggressiveness in all his actions during this engagement, whilst continually under enemy fire and with complete disregard for his own personal safety. His actions inspired the Vietnamese soldiers to stand and fight, caused the rout of an enemy party of superior strength, inflicted significant casualties and enabled the capture of a considerable number of enemy weapons. Throughout the engagement, Captain Fazekas demonstrated outstanding leadership attributes. His actions were in keeping with the highest traditions of individual bravery and professional dedication to duty in the Australian Army.

Distinguished Conduct Medal

24980 Warrant Officer Class II Kenneth William STOKER, Royal Australian Infantry Corps.

Warrant Officer Kenneth William Stoker enlisted in the Australian Regular Army in 1951 and served in Korea with 1st Battalion, The Royal Australian Regiment. In 1954 he joined 3rd Battalion, The Royal Australian Regiment and between 1957 and 1965 he served with the Air Support Unit as a parachute jump instructor and with 1st Battalion, Royal New South Wales Regiment as an instructor. In October 1965 he was posted to the Australian Army Training Team, Vietnam.

On 8th December 1965 Warrant Officer Stoker was a military advisor with the 1st Battalion of the 5th Vietnamese Regiment, engaged on offensive operations in Thang Binh District of Quang Tin Province, Republic of Vietnam.

At about 1500 hours on that day, the 1st Battalion was halted by heavy enemy fire and forced to adopt a hasty defensive position. This position was then attacked by a Viet Cong force estimated at two battalions, whose morale was high, having already over run another battalion of 5th Regiment on the right flank of 1st Battalion. The attack continued through the night. All Battalion Officers and the majority of its Non-Commissioned Officers were killed. The defences held and the attack was repulsed. Throughout this attack Warrant Officer Stoker organised and reorganised defensive fire positions, directed mortar fire and personally incited the defenders to repel the enemy. He continually exposed himself to hostile fire with no regard to his personal safety.

In darkness at 0630 hours on the 9th December the Viet Cong again attacked under cover of heavy bombardment. It was evident that the superior strength of the enemy would overrun the position and the decision to break out to the rear was taken. Warrant Officer Stoker was wounded by shrapnel during this attack but disregarding this, he took charge of the situation, organised and directed an orderly withdrawal and by his example, encouragement and professional ability, prevented a probable rout. He regrouped the remaining Vietnamese troops into fighting squads and directed their movement to a point some 3,000 metres to the rear. Approximately 100 only men remained but with these, he organised a new defensive perimeter. This was attacked at 1200 hours and the defenders commenced to break. Warrant Officer Stoker rallied them again and his coolness under fire, personal influence and control was such as to impel them to stand and fight effectively so that eventually the position was held and the attack repulsed with heavy casualties to the enemy.

In the series of attacks on the 8th and 9th December enemy casualties were estimated at 720 whilst 1st Battalion suffered some 500 casualties.

By his coolness and exemplary conduct under enemy fire, in the face of three consecutive enemy attacks in some twenty-four hours, Warrant Officer Stoker prevented the defeat of the Vietnamese Unit to which he was advisor, was instrumental in saving the lives of friendly soldiers including United States Army Advisors and finally brought about the defeat of a numerically superior enemy force. The determination, professional competence and personal bravery which he displayed throughout the 8th and 9th December was outstanding and in the highest traditions of the Australian Military Forces.

Military Medal

54593 Private Walter BRUNALLI, Royal Australian Infantry Corps

Private W. Brunalli enlisted in the Australian Regular Army in 1962. He saw service in Malaya during 1963-64 and accompanied First Battalion, The Royal Australian Regiment to Vietnam in June 1965.

During operation "Rolling Stone", East of Ben Cat, Private Brunalli was acting as Section Commander of 10 section, 4 Platoon, "B" Company. On the night of 3rd February 1966, he was commanding a standing patrol of 6 men forward of his company locality to give early warning of enemy attack, and to destroy any enemy within his capability.

At 0215 hours, a three battalion enemy attack was launched against HQ 1 United States Brigade located 500 metres away. Caught in cross-fire between enemy and friendly forces, Private Brunalli was wounded twice but retained his position. Shortly afterwards a three man Viet Cong patrol approached but was dispersed at 25 yards range, with one Viet Cong killed. Brunalli then adjusted his patrol's position, and at 0400 hours a further 15 Viet Cong approached. These were surprised again at close quarters, a platoon commander and three others killed, two seriously wounded and later captured, the remainder fleeing. Ordered now to return to his company, Brunalli detected a group of Viet Cong following him. He organized a quick ambush, killing the leading Viet Cong at a distance of 5 feet and dispersing the rest. A daylight patrol recovered 6 dead and two wounded Viet Cong, 7 weapons and a quantity of ammunition and important documents.

Private Brunalli carried out his mission in an outstanding manner against considerable odds. His aggressive and firm leadership, his outstanding tactical handling of his patrol and his cool conduct, although wounded himself, were an inspiration to his men and in the highest traditions of the Australian Army.
