Berne, March 31. N. S. The Deputies at the Diet of Arrau have enter'd into a new Negotiation with the French Embassador about the Neutrality of Neufchatel. They sent their Secretary to him with a Letter, to desire him to employ his good Offices with the King his Master, towards settling this Point, and restoring the Commerce between Neufchatel and Franche Compté, which has been interrupted ever since the Investiture given to the King of Prussia: Their Minister is fully instructed to make it evident that Country has been always deem'd Part of Switzerland, and as such entitl'd to the same Peace which the other Parts of it enjoy. Upon these Instances Mr. de Pufieux dispatch'd his Secretary and Interpreter to the Diet, to treat with the Deputies, and to deliver them a Letter containing his Answer, and referring 'em more particularly to what should be communicated to 'em by these his Agents. Since their Arrival a Project of Neutrality is agreed upon, which was brought hither Yesterday from Arrau by one of the Deputies of Berne, and is at this Hour under Examination in the great Council, where there appears a general Disposition to ratifie it. It contains in Substance, That Neufchatel shall remain in Neutrality 'till the General Peace, according to the Treaty of perpetual Alliance with France.

Berlin, March 31. N. S. His Majesty has lately receiv'd the News of the decease of the Margrave of Culmbach, who had some Years before transferr'd to the King all his Pretensions to the Succession of Barienth-Culmbach and Anspach. An Officer was immediately dispatch'd to Beverling, where the Margrave died, with Directions for his Interment with all the Solemnity that is due to his Quality. The Court is in Mourning on this Occasion, and the Regiment which the Deceas'd Commanded is given to his Eldest Son, who, with his Brother, is at the King's Expence a Student at Utrecht. There are many Pretenders to the Order of the Prussian Eagle, in which there is a Vacancy by his Death; but it is thought it will be given to the Prince of Saxe-Eisenach. Letters from Warsaw of the 22d Instant say, That the Passtine of Kiow was retir'd to Wyozkoff, seven Miles from that Place, and intended to retreat into Lithuania, upon Advice, that the Army of the Crown had sent a Detachment against him; he has also receiv'd Intelligence, That Prince Rubinski marches with great Expedition, in order to oblige him to a Battel, nevertheless there were no certain Advices that Prince Rubinski had pass'd the Vistula.

Hague, April 10. N. S. We have for some Days been in great Incertainty concerning the French Fleet, design'd for the Invasion of Scotland; some Advices have inform'd us, that the Enemy was landed in the North of that part of Great Britain, which Intelligence was confirm'd by publick Rejoicings of the French; but those Reports are found to have been groundless by the Post of this Day from Flanders, which brings us undoubted Advice, that the Enemy return'd to Dunkirk on the 6th Instant: Some Letters say, many of their Ships have been separated from their main Body in a Storm; and 'tis confidently reported, both from Lille and Mons, that the Vessel wherein the Pretender himself was on Board, was driven from the reef off the Texel. All our Advices agree, that their Troops return'd in so distress'd a Condition, and that the Number of their Sick was so great, that all the Hospitals and Convents of Dunkirk, Furnes and Bergue were too few for their Accommodation. Prince Eugene arrived here the 5th Instant.

Hague, March 11. N. S. His Grace the Duke of Marlborough embark'd at Margate on the 29th of the last Month, O. S. at seven in the Evening; and the next Day, at two in the Afternoon, came in sight of the Coast of Holland, but there being no Pilot to carry in the Yacht, his Grace came in an open Boat with Oars to Maetland Sluys, from whence he arriv'd at the Hague about eleven of the Clock that Night.
