MINISTRY OF DEFENCE

ARMY DEPARTMENT

CENTRAL CHANCERY OF THE ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD

St. James's Palace, London S.W.1.

22nd August 1967.

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased to give orders for the following appointment to the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire in recognition of gallant conduct in Aden:

To be an additional Member of the Military Division of the said Most Excellent Order, for Gallantry:

Lieutenant Brian Anselm Robert HARRINGTON-SPIER (470081), 3rd (16th/44th Foot) Battalion, The Royal Anglian Regiment.

Lieutenant Harrington-Spier commands 15 platoon, D Company, 3rd (16th/44th Foot) Battalion, The Royal Anglian Regiment.

As the result of freak floods, five days general strike and intensified terrorist activity, the streets in the native town of Sheikh Othman were littered with rubbish and debris. The terrorists were using the rubbish as cover for mines and on 4th April 1967, a Saladin armoured car was blown up on an anti-tank mine hidden in the rubbish. One of the tasks of 3rd Royal Anglian was to ensure free access through the streets of Sheikh Othman for wheeled armoured and soft skinned vehicles.

On the morning of 6th April 1967, Lieutenant Harrington-Spier and his platoon were ordered to clear the roads of mines in a part of Sheikh Othman. This was a tricky operation as it was known that enemy snipers and grenadiers were active in the area. The task was carried out by half platoons moving up parallel streets, Lieutenant Harrington-Spier directly commanding one half and his platoon sergeant the other.

After a period of sporadic firing three grenades were thrown at Lieutenant Harrington-Spier's half of the platoon. The grenadiers were supported by automatic fire from seven terrorist roof top positions. In the initial encounter one soldier was slightly wounded and one terrorist grenadier was shot but managed to make good his escape into a mosque. Lieutenant Harrington-Spier, finding his small force pinned down by heavy enemy fire, ordered his platoon sergeant to outflank the enemy positions with the other half of his platoon, but they too were soon pinned down by automatic fire. At this stage a half troop of armoured cars was ordered forward to help extricate the platoon.

Lieutenant Harrington-Spier first organised the withdrawal of his platoon sergeant's force. He indicated enemy positions to the armoured cars and engaged them himself from several positions to cover the withdrawal of his men. He then led the armoured cars to his own party and supervised their withdrawal, he himself remaining behind to the last to cover his men out of the ambush area. During these tricky operations he was under automatic fire and was also the target of a further grenade attack.

Throughout this action Lieutenant Harrington-Spier moved about his platoon with complete disregard for his own safety and his inspired leadership, personal courage and tactical good sense extricated his platoon from a carefully laid terrorist ambush with only one slight casualty. Such was the morale of his platoon and his own exuberant determination that his platoon was quickly re-committed to the area.

22nd August 1967.

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased to approve the award of the British Empire Medal for Gallantry (Military Division) to the undermentioned in recognition of gallant conduct in Aden:

23945669 Corporal John Michael VALENTINE, 3rd (16th/44th Foot) Battalion, The Royal Anglian Regiment.

Corporal Valentine was point section commander of 15 Platoon, D Company, 3rd (16th/44th Foot) Battalion, The Royal Anglian Regiment, when his platoon entered Sheikh Othman on a street clearing operation on the morning of 6th April 1967.

After patrolling for twenty-minutes, his section was suddenly subjected to a simultaneous grenade and automatic fire attack. As the grenade exploded, causing one minor casualty, Corporal Valentine saw the grenadier and, with another soldier, opened fire at the fleeing target. The grenadier was wounded but managed to reach the safety of a nearby mosque. The terrorist fire positions on the rooftops were neutralised and Corporal Valentine continued his advance. However, within a few minutes his section again came under heavy automatic fire and rifle sniping from five separate positions. This fire halted his advance and pinned down half his section. Using fire and movement, he extracted his men from their vulnerable positions and skilfully re-sited them so that the terrorists could be engaged with maximum effect.

When ordered to withdraw to a firm base he issued his orders coolly but with determination. He was the last man out of every intermediate position and gave covering fire as his section withdrew.

Throughout these actions, which together lasted for some fifty minutes, Corporal Valentine remained in complete control of his section. He moved about his men giving them encouragement and, by setting a fine example under almost continuous fire, he ensured that the withdrawal to a firm base was carried out in good order and with no further casualties.

ERRATUM

London Gazette Supplement No. 44326 dated 10th June 1967

For 1902836 Staff Sergeant (acting) Bernard Thomas GALE, Royal Army Medical Corps.

Read 1902830 Staff Sergeant (acting) Bernard Thomas GALE, Royal Army Medical Corps.

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased to give Orders for the names shown below as having received an expression of Commendation for Brave Conduct:

Major Ronald EMERY (407981), Corps of Royal Engineers.

23860010 Corporal Peter Barrie PASKELL, Corps of Royal Engineers.

Major Emery was in Command of a Beach Survey Team between Ras Momi and Fahr making a passage in two Gemini boats, one of the boats broached on a wave crest and one of its occupants Corporal Palmer, was flung into the sea, and badly injured by the Gemini's propeller. Major Emery recovered the injured man, administered morphine and put in to land at Mutayaf. He decided that the seriousness of Corporal Palmer's wounds necessitated immediate medical attention, some 3 days travel by land away at base camp.

To save time he decided to make the journey by sea taking Corporal Paskell with him. Without any knowledge of the prevailing tidal streams or currents, and with only a small hand compass to navigate the notorious reef-strewn eastern end of the island, Major Emery and his companion made the dangerous night passage and having collected the Medical Officer began their return journey to Mutayaf. By skilful handling, with the assistance of Corporal Paskell who swam alongside the boat to keep it from overturning a successful landing was made.

The injured man was subsequently evacuated by helicopter.

Without thought for their own safety and at considerable risk to their own lives, Major Emery and Corporal Paskell showed both courage and determination in their successful endeavour to bring medical assistance to a badly injured comrade.

22nd August 1967.

The history of the United States is a complex and multifaceted story that spans centuries. It begins with the early Native American civilizations, such as the Mayans, Aztecs, and Incas, who developed advanced societies in Central and South America. In North America, the Iroquois Confederacy and other tribal nations established their own forms of governance and social organization.

The European exploration of North America began in the late 15th century, with Christopher Columbus's voyage in 1492. This was followed by other explorers such as John Cabot, Amerigo Vesputi, and Jacques Cartier. The Spanish, French, and British established colonies in North America, each with its own unique characteristics and challenges.

The American Revolution (1775-1783) was a pivotal moment in the nation's history. It was a struggle for independence from British rule, led by figures such as George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and Benjamin Franklin. The revolution resulted in the signing of the Declaration of Independence in 1776 and the establishment of the United States as a sovereign nation.

The early years of the United States were marked by westward expansion and the search for new lands. The Louisiana Purchase of 1803, the Lewis and Clark expedition, and the Trail of Tears are all significant events in this period. The expansion of the United States led to the growth of the economy and the development of a national identity.

The mid-19th century was a time of great social and political change. The abolitionist movement gained momentum, led by figures such as Frederick Douglass and Harriet Beecher Stowe. The Civil War (1861-1865) was a defining moment in the nation's history, as it resolved the issue of slavery and preserved the Union.

The Reconstruction era (1865-1877) was a period of rebuilding and reform. It saw the passage of the Reconstruction Acts, the Civil Rights Act of 1866, and the 14th and 15th Amendments to the Constitution. However, the era also saw the rise of the Ku Klux Klan and the implementation of Jim Crow laws, which restricted the rights of African Americans.

The late 19th and early 20th centuries were characterized by industrialization and the rise of the Gilded Age. The United States emerged as a major world power, with the Spanish-American War (1898) and the acquisition of territories such as Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Philippines. The Progressive Era (1890s-1920s) saw the rise of reformers who sought to address the social and economic problems of the time.

The 20th century was a period of great global conflict and change. The United States played a leading role in World War I (1914-1918) and World War II (1939-1945). The Cold War (1947-1991) was a period of tension between the United States and the Soviet Union, marked by the arms race and the space race. The Vietnam War (1955-1975) was a controversial conflict that tested the nation's resolve.

The late 20th and early 21st centuries have seen significant social and political changes. The Civil Rights Movement of the 1950s and 1960s led to the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voting Rights Act of 1965. The Watergate scandal (1972-1974) led to the resignation of President Richard Nixon. The 9/11 attacks (2001) led to the War on Terror and the passage of the Patriot Act.

The United States continues to be a major world power, facing new challenges in the 21st century. The rise of China, the resurgence of Russia, and the impact of climate change are all issues that will shape the future of the nation. The history of the United States is a story of resilience, innovation, and the pursuit of the American Dream.
