PRICES AND INCOMES ACT, 1966

REFERENCE TO THE NATIONAL BOARD FOR PRICES
AND INCOMES

Costs and Revenue of National Newspapers

In July 1967 the National Board for Prices and Incomes was requested by the Government to examine and report on the costs and revenue of national daily newspapers with a circulation of over 200,000 and in October 1967 the Board submitted its Report (which was published as Cmnd. 3435). The devaluation of sterling had substantial effects on the costs of newspapers and many of these increased their prices in 1968.

Under the arrangements for voluntary early warning of price increases, several publishers of national newspapers have now notified the Board of Trade that they propose to make price increases, some immediately and others in 1970. Having regard to the facts of the cases for the immediate increases, the Government are not asking that they should be withheld. But, in view of the special role of the newspaper industry and its continuing economic problems, the Government consider that the increases in prices proposed to be made in 1970 require further independent examination of the costs and revenue of the main national newspapers.

Accordingly, in pursuance of their powers under section 2 (1) of the Prices and Incomes Act, 1966, the First Secretary of State and Secretary of State for Employment and Productivity and the Board of Trade hereby refer to the National Board for Prices and Incomes for examination the question of the costs and revenue of national newspapers with a circulation over 200,000.
