AIR FORCE DEPARTMENT

Whitehall, London, SW1A 2HB.

14th March 1972.

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased to approve the following awards:

Air Force Cross

Wing Commander Kenneth James Ernest HANNAH, M.V.O. (58029), Royal Air Force.

On 8th December 1971, whilst on a routine training itinerary, Wing Commander Hannah was instructed to proceed to Tengah to assume command of three Hercules aircraft and crews, including his own, assembled to assist in the evacuation of civilians trapped in Dacca, besieged and under fire, during the India/Pakistan war. On 11th December 1971, the detachment moved to Calcutta, when the Indian Government granted permission for the Royal Air Force aircraft to operate from there. For some days, continued accurate bombing by the Indian Air Force had caused large-scale damage to the airfield and runways at Dacca. By international agreement, a short bombing truce was arranged to allow the evacuation of civilians from East Pakistan. On 12th December 1971, Wing Commander Hannah flew from Calcutta to arrive overhead Dacca at the start of the truce. He circled for an hour, to allow time for debris to be removed from the previous night's bombing and to examine the airfield and the runway, as the latter was damaged by craters and obstructed throughout much of its length. He decided a landing was feasible and he ordered the other two aircraft, by then in the vicinity, to follow him in if his own landing was successful. Although extremely hazardous, the landing was safely executed and the three aircraft were able to uplift many of the waiting civilians. With no time available for detailed calculations, Wing Commander Hannah rapidly assessed the runway length required for the heavily loaded aircraft and determined the operating techniques needed for successful take-off. On arrival back at Calcutta, Wing Commander Hannah realised that more civilians were left at Dacca with only a few hours of truce remaining. He immediately returned, alone, to evacuate them taking off within minutes of the truce ending. When faced with the highly delicate and hazardous situation at Dacca, Wing Commander Hannah rose to the occasion in a most commendable manner. By his courage and initiative, his cool assessment of the situation, his complete disregard for the risks he was taking, his outstanding skill and his exemplary planning, Wing Commander Hannah, and his small force, were able to uplift 436 civilians of twenty-two different nationalities who were in grave danger from the Indian attack on the city. As a result, he brought great credit to his country, his Service and himself; the entire operation was hailed and acknowledged throughout the world as a feat of skill, bravery and devotion to duty of the highest order. Wing Commander Hannah's leadership and initiative in the air, during the Dacca evacuation, met the finest traditions of the Royal Air Force and deserve the greatest praise.

Queen's Commendation for Valuable Service in the Air

Squadron Leader Lewis Gordon WILLCOX (3516172), Royal Air Force.

Squadron Leader John Howard WOLLEY (3507434), Royal Air Force.

For their courage and skill as pilots of two of the three Hercules aircraft which were sent to Dacca on 12th December 1971, to evacuate civilians, during a short bombing truce in the India/Pakistan war. Although the runway was considerably damaged by craters and reduced, both officers carried out the extremely hazardous landing and then successfully took-off, each with their heavy load of well over one hundred civilians.

14th March 1972.
