TREASURY

The Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury hereby give notice that, at a Trial of the Pyx begun at Goldsmiths' Hall in the City of London on the 17th day of February 1977 and concluded on the 6th day of May 1977, the following verdict of the Pyx Jury was delivered to the Queen's Remembrancer, viz:

VERDICT

1. We, the undersigned were duly sworn on the 17th February 1977 before the Queen's Remembrancer at Goldsmiths' Hall in the City of London to assay gold, silver Maundy and cupro-nickel coins of Her Majesty, which were produced to us by officers of the Royal Mint. Accounts of the Deputy Master and Controller of the Royal Mint similarly produced to us showed that the coins had been made by the Royal Mint between the 1st January 1976 and the 31st December 1976 inclusive in accordance with the Coinage Act 1971 and a Proclamation made on the 20th December 1968 relating to coins of fifty new pence and a Proclamation made on the 23rd October 1972 relating to coins of twenty-five new pence. Those accounts also showed that the coins had been set aside for the trial of the Pyx as prescribed by the Trial of the Pyx Order 1975.

2. In this verdict any reference to the permitted variation from standard weight, fineness, composition or diameter is a reference to such variation from the standard weight, fineness, composition or diameter as is allowed by the Coinage Act 1971 and the Proclamations made on the 20th December 1968 and the 23rd October 1972.

3. We ascertained the number of coins in each packet produced to us and that it corresponded with the number which the officers of the Royal Mint represented the packet to contain.

4. Gold Coins

(a) We took out from each of the twenty-three packets of gold coins one sovereign.

(b) We weighed in bulk the sovereigns taken out and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amount of the variation being point nought three (+0.03) of a gram above standard weight.

(c) We then melted those sovereigns into an ingot and assayed it, comparing it with the standard trial plate of gold produced to us by officers of the Department of Prices and Consumer Protection, and we found that the ingot was within the permitted variation from standard fineness, the amount of the variation being point nought four (+0.04) parts per thousand above standard fineness.

(d) We weighed in bulk the residue of the coins remaining in the packets of gold coins and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amount of the variation being one point two five (+1.25) grams above standard weight.

(e) We then took out from that residue six sovereigns and weighed and assayed them separately. We found that each of the sovereigns so weighed was within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amounts of the variations being point nought nought four three (+0.0043) and point nought nought eight one (+0.0081) of a gram above standard weight and point nought nought two two (-0.0022), point nought nought nought nine (-0.0009), point nought nought one eighth (-0.0018) and point nought nought three six (-0.0036) of a gram below standard weight. We also found that each of the sovereigns so assayed was within the permitted variations from standard fineness, the amounts of the variations being point nought six (+0.06), point three seven (+0.37), point two two (+0.22) point two six (+0.26) and point nought six (+0.06) parts per thousand above and point one eight (-0.18) parts per thousand below standard fineness.

5. Silver Maundy Coins

(a) We weighed in bulk all the silver Maundy coins produced to us and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amount of the variation being point nought three (+0.03) of a gram above standard weight.

(b) We then assayed those silver Maundy coins, comparing them with the standard trial plate of silver produced to us by officers of the Department of Prices and Consumer Protection, and we found that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard fineness, the amount of the variation being two point one (+2.1) parts per thousand above standard fineness.

6. Cupro-Nickel Coins

(a) We ascertained that of the coins contained in the packets of cupro-nickel coins produced to us the coins of each of the denominations of fifty, ten and five new pence weighed more than one kilogram and the coins of the denomination of twenty-five new pence weighed less than one kilogram.

(b) From each packet of coins of fifty new pence we took out coins and grouped them into two lots weighing one thousand and two and one thousand point three grams respectively.

(c) From each packet of coins of ten and five new pence we took out sufficient coins and grouped them into eleven lots so that each comprised coins of the same denomination and weighed not less than nine hundred and eighty grams nor more than one kilogram.

- (d) We then weighed each of those lots of fifty, ten and five new pence in bulk and found that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amounts of the variations being as follows:

for two lots each of seventy four coins of fifty new pence:	three (+3.0) and one point three (+1.3) grams above standard weight;
for ten lots each of eighty eight coins of ten new pence:	point seven (+0.7), point four (+0.4), one point one (+1.1), one point seven (+1.7), one point three (+1.3), point eight (+0.8), point one (+0.1), point seven (+0.7) and one (+1.00) gram above and point six (-0.6) of a gram below standard weight and point one (+0.1) of a gram above standard weight.
for one lot of one hundred and seventy six coins of five new pence:

- (e) We weighed in bulk the residue of the coins remaining in the packets of cupro-nickel coins of fifty, ten and five new pence and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amount of the variation being four hundred and fifty seven point two (+457.2) grams above standard weight.

- (f) We weighed all the coins of the denomination of twenty-five new pence in bulk and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the amount of the variation being point four (-0.4) of a gram below standard weight.

- (g) We then assayed cupro-nickel coins not weighing less in all than five hundred grams, comparing them with the standard trial plates of copper and nickel produced to us by officers of the Department of Prices and Consumer Protection, and we ascertained that the coins were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard composition, the amounts of the variations being minus point three (-0.3) per centum of copper and minus point two (-0.2) per centum of nickel.

- (h) Finally, we measured the diameters of twenty of each of the cupro-nickel coins of fifty, ten and five new pence and the diameters of fifteen cupro-nickel coins of twenty-five new pence and ascertained that the average diameters of those coins were within the permitted variations from standard diameters, the amounts of the only variations being for the coins of ten new pence point nought four (+0.04) of a millimetre above and for the coins of fifty new pence point nought five (-0.05) and of five new pence point nought two (-0.02) of a millimetre below standard diameter.

Dated this Sixth day of May 1977.
