CENTRAL CHANCERY OF THE ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD

St. James's Palace, London S.W.1
25th August 1981

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased to award the Royal Victorian Medal (Silver) to the undermentioned:
(To be dated 7th August 1981)

Miss Julia Mary WILSON.

Government House, Suva
25th August 1981

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased, on the advice of Her Majesty's Fiji Ministers, to approve the award of the Military Medal to the undermentioned:

Private Nemani VALENIYASANA (22574), Fiji Military Forces.

Following frequent firing upon a Fiji checkpoint established in South Lebanon to block infiltration by the Palestine Liberation Organisation (P.L.O.) and its associated Armed Elements (A.E.), a U.N. and A.E. agreement provided for two equal posts of 15 men to be sited there in houses 13 metres apart. Just before midnight on 13th January 1981 the A.E. post having been covertly reinforced by P.L.O. elements, the Fiji post came under intense automatic and rifle fire which damaged the machine gun manned by Private Valeniyasana on the balcony. Private Valeniyasana jumped to the ground and, in spite of automatic fire now directed at him, dismounted a machine gun from a nearby jeep and opened fire on the P.L.O. house. He put out of action two P.L.O. soldiers directing rocket-propelled grenades at the Fiji house, and his covering fire subsequently enabled his compatriots to evacuate the house and move to higher ground. When his platoon in turn gave him covering fire Private Valeniyasana rejoined the unit bringing the machine gun and ammunition. When the P.L.O. left their building following a ceasefire their casualties were understood to include 3 dead.

Private Valeniyasana acted with great coolness and courage. His tactical wisdom and promptness saved his platoon from a potentially disastrous situation without casualties and in good order, and his accurate fire almost certainly accounted for the P.L.O. casualties. This brave and resourceful action by a very junior soldier was an inspiration to his Battalion and a credit to the Royal Fiji Military Forces.

Lance Corporal Uraia VECENADAVUI (21744), Fiji Military Forces.

On 21st December 1980 Lance Corporal Vecenadavui was in charge of three men proceeding in a single jeep to the Israel-Lebanon border to escort another U.N. vehicle back to Fiji headquarters. At 1345 hours when passing at 3 m.p.h. on a narrow road between houses on the outskirts of a village they were confronted by a number of heavily-armed P.L.O., who ordered them, with threats and a burst of machine gun fire, to dismount and stand clear of their weapons. In accordance with U.N. doctrine the Fiji soldiers obeyed and were marched off to a P.L.O. base a mile away under an escort of five. It was not lost on the Fiji men at this juncture that previously three Irish soldiers similarly captured had been murdered later.

In spite of his men's initial misgivings about the risks involved Lance Corporal Vecenadavui, speaking in Fijian, convinced them of the need to escape from their captors, and developed a plan. When three of the P.L.O. escort were masked by a bend in the track he gave a single-word order, and using their fists the Fijians overpowered the two P.L.O. soldiers and gained possession of four firearms. A proposal to kill both P.L.O. men was vetoed by Lance Corporal Vecenadavui. As the Fijian group came under heavy fire from the rear three P.L.O. men and from the P.L.O. base, Lance Corporal Vecenadavui ordered them to find their way to any one of the 1 Fiji Infantry Regiment bases nearby. After gaining cover in a wadi all except one reached safety under covering fire from a Fiji observation post. When Lance Corporal Vecenadavui heard that one of his men was not accounted for he returned to the wadi, where the P.L.O. were hunting the missing man, but was unable to locate him. The man himself, after exchanging shots with the P.L.O., hid until dark and eventually made his way to the safety of a Fiji post.

Lance Corporal Vecenadavui inspired his men by taking command at a time of extreme danger, and acted with skill, judgment and the requisite physical toughness. He remained cool and acted with good sense in maintaining responsibility for the safety of his men, including returning to significant danger in an effort to save one. Lance Corporal Vecenadavui's actions were of the highest order of bravery and showed great responsibility by a junior commander. His performance was a credit to his Battalion and to Fiji.

Government House, Suva
25th August 1981

The QUEEN has been graciously pleased, on the advice of Her Majesty's Fiji Ministers, to approve the publication of the undermentioned name as having been Mentioned-in-Despatches:

Lieutenant Orisi Natuna NABOREKA (21823), Fiji Military Forces.

On 5th December 1980, following infiltration of the 1st Battalion Fiji Infantry Regiment positions in South Lebanon, Lieutenant Naboreka was ordered to establish a road checkpoint to prevent further entry of Armed Elements (A.E.) from a P.L.O.-controlled area. On 9th December a motorised force of some 60 A.E. men forced their way into the checkpoint and tried to disarm the Fiji soldiers: Lieutenant Naboreka managed by personal negotiation with the A.E. Commander to maintain the status quo throughout the day in spite of threats and provocation until relieved by the U.N.I.F.I.L. mobile reserve.

Following a United Nations and A.E. agreement that two equal garrisons of 15 men should take up positions at the checkpoint in houses 13 metres apart pending settlement of the question of "Sovereignty", Lieutenant Naboreka's post came under fire on several occasions. On 13th January 1981 a P.L.O. convoy moving through the area covertly detached men who reinforced the A.E. post after dark. Just before midnight the Fiji post came under intense rocket and machine gun fire. Lieutenant Naboreka, using fire and movement, got his men downstairs and out of the house to tactical positions on a nearby hill. After further intermittent exchanges of fire during the night the Battalion H.Q. and the P.L.O. arranged a ceasefire and the forces disengaged.

Throughout the 6 weeks of his responsibility Lieutenant Naboreka held the Fiji post in spite of threats, tricks, abuse and actual force of arms, at times against greatly superior forces. This junior officer's coolness and wisdom, his patience as a negotiator and his command qualities, were an inspiration and example to his men and a credit to his Battalion and to Fiji.
