Moscow, Jan. 21. N. S.

N the Seventeenth of December last, arriv'd here, from Bender, one Nibogati, a Russe Interpreter, who was fent thither by the Vicechancellor Schapiroff, with a Paffport for the King of Sweden; but we have no Account that it is accepted of by his Suedish Majesty: The same Mef-fenger, after a small Stay, set forward for Petersburg. We have not as yet had any Account that Aloph or Taganrock are deliver'd up to the Turks. Some Officers belonging to the Ruffian Artillery are expected here from Chioff, on which fide the Muscovite Army has abandon'd Poland, but are about to ftrengthen their Body in the Polifh Pruffia with fourteen Regiments under the Command of General Repenin, who has made a Halt in the Dutchy of Smolensko. Her Czarish Majesty Dowager set out on the Eleventh Instant for Petersburg, together with the Princeffes her Daughters: Two other Princeffes, the Czar's half Sifters, who live in a Convent, are invited thither, to be prefent at his Majesty's Nuptial Feast, which he defigns to hold with great Solemnity : Four of the Senators are likewife order'd to wait on their Master. Some few days ago, Monfieur Tolftoy, the Governor of Afoph, arriv'd here from Petersburg; but as to the Measures he is to take with the High Admiral Apraxin when he arrives there, the Reports are very dubious. On the Nineteenth Instant, Mr. Stiles, one of the chief British Merchants, died of a burning Fever: He is much regretted, having been esteem'd by, and very serviceable to, his Czarish Majesty. Hanover, Feb. 19. N. S. The Baron de Grotz, formerly Envoy Extraordinary from his Electoral Highnefs, at the Conferences held at Hamborough by virtue of the Imperial Commission, has been declar'd Privy-Counfellor, taken the usual Oaths, and affisted on Sunday last in that Quality : His Electoral Highness has likewise nam'd him to be his second Plenipotentiary at the Congress for a General Peace, but the time is not fix'd for his departing hence for Utrecht: There is no Person as yet nominated to succeed him at Hamborough. The Duke of to fucceed him at Hamborough. Wolfenbuttel had made great Preparations for the Fair of Brunfwick, which ended Yesterday; but the Sovereign Princes, excepting the Duke of Mecklenburg, who were expected there, not making their appearance by reason of the rigor of the Winter, those Diversions are put off till another Occasion. The King of Denmark, and his Queen Confort, are ftill at Coldingen in Jutland, where his Majefty ap-plies himfelf to the re-eftablishment of his Troops, which fuffer'd much in Men and Horfes during the laft Campaign. The Queen-Dowager is still at Ol-denburg, and there is no Discourse of any removal of the Court that is likely to be made to Copenhagen.
