Kensington, July 10.

THE following Address from the Borough of Cardigan, was presented to Her Majesty by Owen Brigstocke, Esq; their Representative in Parliament, who had the Honour to kiss Her Majesty's Hand, being introduced by the Most Honourable Robert Earl of Oxford and Earl Mortimer, Lord High Treasurer of Great Britain.

To the QUEEN's most Excellent Majesty,
The humble Address of the Mayor, Aldermen Common Council and Burgeses of the Corporation of Cardigan.

Most Gracious Sovereign!

WE Your Majesty's most Loyal and Obedient Subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, Common-Council, and Burgeses of Your Faithful Corporation of Cardigan, do in all Duty and Humility beg leave to approach Your Sacred Person with our most grateful and hearty Thanks, not only for the many great and excellent Things, which by the Inspiration of a good Providence, You have throughout the whole Course of Your Glorious Reign done for us; but in particular, for Your late most Gracious Condescension, in acquainting Your Parliament with the Terms on which a Safe and an Honourable Peace may be made. This shining Act of Royal Goodness is originally Your own, and will stand single in History, as one of the Wonders, and a peculiar Indulgence of Your Majesty's inimitable Reign.

It is an infinite Satisfaction to us, that after the Calamities of a long and expensive War, after the Hazards of doubtful Battles, and the Fatigues of bloody Sieges, we see at once our Enemies reduced, our Independency asserted, a wise, steady, and disinterested Management established; and even at length, by Your Majesty's pious Care, and Compassionate Concern for our past Sufferings, and future Safeties, the beautiful Prospect of a speedy and a lasting Peace.

Give us leave, Madam, to reflect with Pleasure and Admiration, on the Prudence, Secrecy, and Success, with which this great Event has been carried on; permit us to congratulate Your Majesty on the many Felicities it promises to Your own Kingdoms, and to all Christendom.

As Lovers of the Protestant Religion, we rejoice, that Your Majesty has taken such Care of the Protestant Succession, and to settle on the Westphalian Foot in the Empire, what has been so much neglected at Ryswick.

As Britains and Lovers of our Country, we cannot but be pleased at the Enlargement of Your Dominions, and the Increase of our Trade.

As Lovers of Humanity, we admire the unmerited Goodness and Concern, with which You are pleas'd to provide for the Security and Interest of all Your Confederate States.

And as we are constant and faithful Subjects, and Lovers of our Queen, we are determined with our Lives and Fortunes to support and defend Your Majesty, not only against the Insults of open Enemies, and the Artifices of pretended Friends Abroad, but against the Seditious Machinations of a Traiterous and Uneasy Faction at Home, who envy Your Majesty the Glory of terminating a ruinous and unequal War; by a healing and advantageous Peace.

The following Address from the Corporation of Shrewsbury, was presented to Her Majesty by Edward Cressitt and Richard Mitton, Esquires, their Representatives in Parliament, being introduced by his Grace the Duke of Shrewsbury.

To the QUEEN's most Excellent Majesty,
The humble Address of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Burgeses of Your ancient and loyal Corporation of Shrewsbury.

Most Gracious Sovereign!

WITH loyal Hearts, and grateful Minds, we humbly acknowledge the consummate Wisdom and tender Regard Your Majesty has evidenced to Your dutiful Subjects, in all the Course of Your Reign, but more especially in giving them the late Opportunity of making choice of a wise and loyal Parliament, and making Your self and Subjects happy, by Your prudent and seasonable Election of an able and discerning Ministry, in establishing the Succession of Your Kingdoms in the illustrious House of Hanover, Your religious Concern for the Protestants abroad, Your pious Regard to the Establish'd Church and Clergy at home, and in Your giving us so great Hopes of securing and enlarging our Trade and Commerce, Your just and generous Concern for all Your Allies; and Your great Condescension in communicating to Your Parliament those honourable and advantageous Terms on which a happy Peace (after so bloody and expensive a War) may be obtained, notwithstanding the secret Designs and Artifices of those who have endeavoured to obstruct it.

These are Blessings (under God) owing to Your Majesty's Prudence and Conduct: And it's our bounden Duty most heartily to pray, that Your Majesty may long live to be the Comfort and Delight of all Your Subjects, the Refuge of the Oppressed, the Terror of Your Enemies; and when You have finish'd the glorious Work You have begun, may You long enjoy the Fruits thereof here, and everlasting Peace and Glory hereafter.

The following Address from the Town of Northampton, was presented to Her Majesty by William Wykes, Esq; one of their Representatives in Parliament, who had the Honour to kiss Her Majesty's Hand, being introduced by the Earl of Northampton.

To the QUEEN's most Excellent Majesty,
The humble Address of the Mayor, the Right Honourable the Recorder, Deputy-Recorder, Aldermen, Bailiffs, and Burgeses of the Town of Northampton.

Most Gracious Sovereign!

WE having a true Sense of Your Majesty's great Condescension, in communicating to Your People those advantageous Terms on which a general Peace may be obtained, beg Leave, amongst the rest of Your Loyal Subjects, humbly to offer our most grateful Acknowledgments to Your Majesty.

You have never, Madam, attempted to strain the Prerogative beyond its just Limits, but in this Instance, out of the Excess of Your Goodness, You have been pleas'd not to use that undoubted Part of it, to make Peace without the Assent of Your Parliament.

We assure You, Madam, nothing could more encrease our Joy and Satisfaction in the hopes of so Glorious Glorious a Peace, after a long and expensive War, than that solemn Approbation of Your Majesty's Proceeding, given by both Houses of Parliament.

We have an entire Confidence in Your Majesty, and are so fully satisfied in the Declaration You have made of Your particular Care to secure the Protestant Succession in the Illustrious House of Hanover, that we doubt not but Your Majesty will take proper Measures for it. But may we under Your Majesty's most auspicious Reign, long enjoy the happy Effects of those Counsels You have taken for procuring us an honourable and lasting Peace, by which Your Majesty's Wisdom and Goodness will be as Renowned as Your Arms have been.

The following Address from the Borough of Bedford, was presented to Her Majesty by Edward Carteret, Esq; Deputy-Recorder of the Town of Bedford, attended by several Gentlemen, Burgesses of the said Town, who had the Honour to kiss Her Majesty's Hand, being introduced by the Right Honourable the Lord Bruce.

To the QUEEN's most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Recorder, Deputy-Recorder, Aldermen, Bailiffs, Burgesses and Commonalty, in Common Council Assembled; and also of the Justices of the Peace, Clergy, Gentry, Freemen, and other Inhabitants of Your Majesty's Antient Borough and Corporation of Bedford.

May it please Your Majesty,

IT was with the Greatest Satisfaction imaginable, that we heard Your Majesty had, out of Your great Condescension, been pleased to communicate to Your Parliament upon what Terms Peace might be restored to this Nation.

We are very Sensible, how difficult an undertaking it has been to bring about a Peace, tho' upon the best Terms, considering the Obstructions it has met with both here, and abroad, by the means of some amongst us; who, if they had preferred the good of their Country, to their own private Ends, would to their utmost furthered this good Work. And therefore as the difficulties have been great so much the more Glorious it is, and will be to Your Majesty in all future Ages, the Concluding of such a Peace, as will in the first place further settle the Succession to the Crown in the House of Hanover, and the Security of the Trade of Great-Britain, in the most Ample-manner, and also, give just Satisfaction to all Your Majesty's Allies.

And as it becomes us, we entirely rely upon Your Majesty's great Care in perfecting this great Work, already so happily begun.

The following Address from the Town and County of Southampton, was presented to Her Majesty by Richard Fleming and Roger Harris, Esqs; their Representatives in Parliament, being introduced by his Grace the Duke of Beaufort.

To the QUEEN's most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE Your Majesty's most Dutiful and Loyal Subjects the Mayor, Bailiffs, Burgesses, &c. of the Town and County of Southampton, having Hearts as full of Zeal as any, for Your Majesty's Sacred Person and Government, and every Branch of Your Royal Prerogative, and as full of Concern for the Publick Good, are Ambitious of acknowledging with abundance of Joy and Gratitude, Your Majesty's great Condescension, in declaring from the Throne, what advantageous Terms of Peace France hath at last been brought to offer.

We cannot but wonder what Spirit and Principles they must be of, whom so Free and Princely a Favour does not endear Your Majesty to; but stand amazed that any ill, malicious return should be made to it, even by the worst of Your Subjects.

'Tis our Satisfaction that we have such Representatives in Parliament, as heartily concur in asserting Your Majesty's Honour, and promoting Your Kingdoms Interest, and entirely Acquiesce in Your Majesty's great Wisdom, for giving us a Glorious Peace; being convinced, that none can be made so much for the Honour and Advantage of Great Britain, as when 'tis procured by her Nursing Mother, and not imposed by an insulting Foreign Power, or factious and unnatural Party at Home.

Whatever groundless Fear some may pretend; we for our Parts make no doubt of Your Majesty's taking what farther Care is necessary, for securing the Protestant Succession in the Illustrious House of Hanover, and effectually providing for the true Interest of Your People in all other Respects.

We of this Place are particularly obliged to be Thankful for the great Advances Your Majesty has obtained with respect to Trade and Commerce; such as will render more considerable the great Privileges, wherewith Your Majesty's Royal Predecessors have been pleas'd to distinguish this Ancient and Commodious Port.

The following humble Address from the Borough of Great Bedwin, was presented to Her Majesty by Sir Edward Seymour, Bar. and Thomas Millington, Esq; their Representatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Right Honourable the Lord Boringbroke, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

To the QUEEN's most Excellent Majesty.

The Humble Address of the Portreeve, Bailiff, Freeholders and Burgesses of the Borough of Great Bedwin in the County of Wilts.

WE Your Majesty's most Dutiful and Loyal Subjects, the Portreeve, Bailiff, Freeholders and Burgesses of Your ancient Borough of Bedwin, do, with all Humility, presume to approach Your most Sacred Majesty, to return You our most hearty Thanks for Your unparalleled Goodness, in condescending to communicate to Your People the Terms on which a Peace may be made: Your Majesty is pleas'd every Day to give fresh Instances of a most tender Care of Your Subjects, which fills our Hearts with Zeal and Affection to Your Person and Government; and Your Majesty having so near Your Royal Heart the assuring of the Protestant Succession, as by Law Established, in the House of Hanover, gives us firm Hopes that our Posterity may see this Church and Nation flourish in future Times, and that Your bright Example may be imitated by all succeeding Princes. May Your Majesty speedily Accomplish that good Work which You have so happily begun, and which Your great Wisdom hath so far Advanced; and may You long live to reap the happy Fruits of a safe and honourable Peace.

The following Address from the Corporation of Kendale, in the County of Westmorland, was sent up by John Harrison, Esq; Recorder of that Corporation, and presented to Her Majesty by the Honourable James Grabme, Esq; Knight of the Shire for the said County, being introduced by his Grace the Duke of Shrewsbury.

To the QUEEN's most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Burgesses, Freemen, and other Gentlemen and Inhabitants, of Your Majesty's Loyal Corporation of Kendale, in the County of Westmorland.

Most Gracious Sovereign!

AS the glorious Progress of Your Arms, in order to regain and preserve the Liberties of Europe, did justly raise our Admiration and Joy; so, Madam, we have no less reason to rejoice, that it hath pleas'd God to Inspire Your Majesty with Thoughts of putting a stop to the Effusion of Christian Blood; and by an honourable Peace to attain those Ends, for which the War was justly begun; And we cannot but Condemn the Principles of those who would obstruct so good a Work, or envy Your Majesty the Glory of it.

Your

Your Majesty's Zeal for the Church of England, and Resolution to secure to us the Protestant Succession in the Illustrious House of Hanover, deservedly fix in Your Majesty the glorious Title of Defender of our Faith. Your Care to secure the Liberties, and enlarge the Commerce of Your own Nations, lays us under the strictest Obligation of Honour, Love and Obedience to Your Majesty, as the Indulgent Mother of Your People.

And Your continued and sincere Endeavours to procure for Your Allies all reasonable Satisfaction, intitle Your Majesty to be esteemed the Preserver of the Rights, and Restorer of the Tranquility of Europe.

These are the Ends to which Your Royal Heart inclines.

And Your Majesty's Condescension, in communicating to Your Subjects the Terms on which these may be obtained, sufficiently shews that no Branch of Your Royal Prerogative is valuable to Your Sacred Self, unless its consequence be Your Peoples Happiness.

This makes the Ideas of Peace bright and delightful to us, and we beseech Your Majesty to proceed, and perfect these Your pious Intentions. And may the King of Heaven assist Your Majesty in the present Negotiations, and grant that you may long, very long, live in the Hearts of Your People, and enjoy the Blessings of a peaceful Reign.

The following Address from the Borough of Newark upon Trent, was presented to Her Majesty by the Right Honourable the Lord Lexington.

To the QUEEN's most Excellent Majesty,

Most Gracious Sovereign!

WE Your Majesty's most Dutiful and Loyal Subjects, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Gentlemen, and Inhabitants of the Borough of Newark upon Trent, in the County of Nottingham, with the utmost Gratitude and sincerest Duty do humbly beg leave to approach Your Majesty with our most humble and hearty Thanks for Your Majesty's great Goodness, in endeavouring to procure (after a long and expensive War) a safe and honourable Peace.

As also for Your Majesty's great Care for the Protestant Succession as by Law Established, in the House of Hanover.

That Your Majesty may speedily and happily finish that good Work, which in Your great Wisdom You have so far advanced, and long live to enjoy the Blessings of the same, are the hearty Wishes and Prayers of Your Majesty's most Loyal and Dutiful Subjects.

All which Addresses Her Majesty receiv'd very Graciously.

Hanover, July 15. N. S. Mr. Harley arrived here the thirteenth Instant in the Evening, and this Day he has had an Audience of his Electoral Highness, the Electress Dowager, the Electoral Prince and Princess.

Brussels, July 18. N. S. Letters from Tournay of the sixteenth Instant bring an Account, that the Army under the command of Prince Eugene decamp'd that Morning, and was advancing towards the Sambre, it is supposed with a design to invest Landrecy, where the Prince of Anhalt Dessau, General of the Prussian Forces, is to command the Siege, and Prince Eugene to cover it. His Highness was joined in his March by all the hired Troops in British Pay, except those of Holstein Goetorp, and Baron Walef's Regiment of Dragoons, who continue still in the Duke of Ormond's Camp. We are inform'd by the same Letters, that his Grace intended to march this Day to the Camp of Avelines le Secq, and to Morrow for Marchiennes.

From the Camp at Avelines le Secq, July 17. N. S. On Tuesday the twelfth Instant the Earl of Straf-ford came to the Camp. The same Day the Duke of Ormond receiv'd advice from Dunkirk, that Sir James Abercrombie and Colonel King were arrived there from England, to concert Measures with the Governour for evacuating the Place and delivering it up to the Queen's Forces, whereupon his Grace immediately sent Colonel Lloyd, one of his Aids de Camp, thither, who returned Yesterday in the Evening with Advice, That the Count de l'Aumont had receiv'd the French King's Orders to resign the Town and Forts to Her Majesty's Troops, as soon as they came to demand Possession. The fourteenth at Night Prince Eugene sent an Aid de Camp to acquaint the Duke of Ormond that he intended to march the next Day, but did not mention whither, nor upon what Design: His Grace immediately returned for Answer, that he was surprised to receive that Message from the Prince, because no Measures had been concerted between them relating either to their Motions, or to any future Undertaking: For which reasons his Highness ought not to expect that he should accompany him, or be assisting in any Operations wherein he had not been consulted; That he gave the Prince this Notice beforehand, that he might regulate himself accordingly, and not attribute to him any misfortune which might happen; That he also thought it proper to let his Highness understand, that if the Imperial Army marched away and left him, he should be obliged take the best Methods he could for the security of the Queen's Troops. Prince Eugene having received the Duke's Answer, did not offer any Reasons to excuse his proceeding in this manner, so contrary to what had always been observed between the Confederate Generals, but separated himself from the Queen's Forces, and marched off with those under his Command, being followed by all the hired Troops in Her Majesty's Pay, except the Holsteiners and Walef's Dragoons; whereupon his Grace decamp'd this Morning, and came here: In his March he ordered a Cessation of Arms for two Months to be declared, between the Queen's Troops and those of France; and to Morrow his Grace intends to advance towards the Lys.

Whitehall, July 10. This Morning Colonel Diney arrived Express from Brigadier Hill, with the following Account of the Surrender of Dunkirk. On Monday the seventh Instant, at Two in the Afternoon, Sir John Leake, with the Squadron under his Command, came to an Anchor off Dunkirk; and about Six in the Evening, Pilots were sent from thence to conduct the Yachts and Transports into the Harbour, whereupon the Disposition was concerted for landing the Troops next Morning as soon as the Tide would permit, which was at Eleven of the Clock, and by Twelve, most of the Troops were disembark'd. At Three the Guards of the Citadel, Fort Lewis, and the Rysbank were relieved; and soon after, those of all the other Gates and Forts. This being done, and the French Garrison having Paraded towards the Gate called the Port-Royal, the Count de l'Aumont the Governour, came and took his leave of Brigadier Hill, and delivered up to him the Keys of the Town; after which, the Brigadier accompanied him to the said Gate, where the Count de l'Aumont, put himself at the Head of the French Garrison, and march'd to Vinouxberg; and immediately the Queen's Colours were hoisted in three several Places of the Town.

Whereas divers Soldiers of the Regiments which lately Embark'd in the River, absented themselves from their Colours on the March; these are to give Notice, That the said Regiments are now landed at Dunkirk in Flanders, and are to lie in Garrison there; and the Commanding Officers of the said Regiments do hereby give Notice to all Soldiers who have so absented themselves, that if they will return to their Colours by the first Day of August next, next, they shall be pardoned for that Offence; and the Agents in London have Orders to assist them, and send them to their respective Regiments, but in case they do not return by the said first of August, that then they must expect to be prosecuted as Deserters, with the utmost rigour.

The Commissioners of Her Majesty's Customs having received a Letter by the Penny-Post mark'd E. T. relating to some Frauds, alledged to be practised in the Customs, do hereby give Notice, that if the Person who wrote the said Letter will attend them at the Custom-house, and make Proof of those Frauds, he shall have all fitting Encouragement.

Notice is hereby given to the Officers and Company of Her Majesty's Ship Dunkirk, that on Thursday the 17th Instant (at the Office for Payment of Captors in the Little Piazza, Covent Garden) they may then make their respective Claims to Her Majesty's most gracious Bounty of Gun Money, for taking the Hocquart Privateer: And such Shares as shall not then be Claimed, may (till the 25th of December, 1712.) be every Saturday claimed at the said Office.
