The proposed conservation area contains the most interesting parts of Chorley's historic centre including the medieval Parish Church. As well as a number of listed buildings of note there are several structures which have also been listed such as the War Memorial gateway, the railings along Park Road from its junction with Church Brow, the railings along the western edge of St. Laurence's churchyard. The area also has the Town Centre's only notable open spaces and groups of trees contained within the rear garden of Chorcliffe House, the churchyard and the edge of Astley Park. The variation in levels between Park Road and Water Street also adds to the character of the area, the newly restored Chapel Steps connecting the two levels being a particular feature. At the top of Chapel Steps is a small terrace of stone built weavers cottages, also the 17th century Unitarian Chapel and some large stone faced late Georgian houses racing Park Road. The other connection between the different levels is via the attractive set paved Church Brow at the bottom of which is a small group of late Georgian brick houses. The Council seeks to protect and enhance this character by carefully controlling the design of new buildings and ensuring that new uses are compatible with the area.

Boundary

Starting at the gates to Astley Park the boundary runs northwards parallel with the edge of the park as far as Rectory Close where it crosses Park Road and continues northwards as far as 16A Park Road. The boundary then passes eastwards crossing Parker Street, it then briefly turns south then east a short distance up Hope Street then south and east again to include 2-8A inclusive Parker Street Nos. 5, 7 and the Church Hall on Park Street. The boundary then continues on the north side of Chapel Steps crossing Water Street then turning westwards along the southern side of Water Street to a point opposite No. 25 Water Street where it turns south, passing between the former College of Education buildings and No. 27 Hollishead Street the boundary briefly passes west before turning south and east to continue behind the rear boundaries of 1-19 inclusive Fellery Street. It then turns to include 55 and 57 Union Street and passes westwards along Union Street across Park Road to the rear of "The Academy"; turning north behind the Trustee Savings Bank and the rear of 2 Queens Road and 5 Park Road, returning to the Astley Park gates.

- (4) Should pollution result from the discharge of the product the emergency pollution control system held in constant readiness by the UK Offshore Operators Association will be mobilised.

Recommissioning

In the event of a pipe-line break, contingency plans to be agreed with the Department of Energy Pipelines Inspectorate will be carried out for the repairing of the pipeline and proving its integrity before putting it back into service.

On Bottom Stability and Safety

The pipelines if authorised, will be laid in a manner that will ensure their safety and stability under all foreseeable conditions.

Limits of Deviation

The pipelines will be laid within a boundary of 100 metres on either side of the proposed route.
