SPECIAL EXEMPTION ORDER

Changes in the legislation which restrict the hours worked by women and young people aged under 18 employed in factories, introduced by the Sex Discrimination Act 1986, took effect on 27th February 1987. From that date provisions in the Factories Act 1961 and related legislation apply only to young people; women are still prohibited from working at night by the Hours of Employment (Conventions) Act 1936.

Section 117 of the Factories Act 1961 remains thereby enabling the Health and Safety Executive (H.S.E.), subject to certain conditions, to grant exemptions from these restrictions for women and young people aged 16 and 17 by making special exemption orders in respect of employment in particular factories. Orders are valid for a maximum of one year, although exemptions may be continued in response to renewed applications.

During the quarter ended 30th June 1987 the H.S.E. granted or renewed special exemption orders relating to the employment of 22478 women and 4005 young persons. On the day of the count a grand total of 64087 women and 13199 young persons were covered by 1983 orders.
