From Monday, October 3. to Thursday October 6. 1670.

Madrid. Sept. 17.

UPon the late arrival of a Courier Extraordina y with the News of the sudden invasion of Lorrain by the French, the Ministers of State were called together, and have had since several conferences.

The Duke d' Albuquerque arrived from his Vice-Royalty of Sicily, was the 13th instant at the Court to attend their Majesties, who graciously received him to his great satisfaction; yesterday he was admitted and took his seat in the Council of State.

The Marquis de Castel Rodrigo on Saturday last began to sit in the new former Council for Flanders and Burgundy, from which he wastill that day hindered by his indisposition of body.

The Countess of Montgrey having taken her leave of the Court, intends to morrow to set forwards on her way for Flanders, accompanied by the Marquis de Liches her Brother-in-law, who intends to conduct her to the frontiers of this kingdom.

The Constable of Castille is arrived at Burgos, and intends to go from thence to his Estate at Bel-lengua for the confirmation of his health.

Genoua, Sept. 20. On Monday last arrived here Three of the Popes Gallies with Monseignor Mareschotti designed Nuncio from the Pope to the Court of Spain, he was met some miles out at sea by Segnior Gio. Antonio Raggi with Two Felucas, who in the name of the Cardinal his Uncle invited him to a Lodging prepared for his reception, where he was entertained with much honour, and on Wednesday put again to sea in pursuance of his voyage.

On Wednesday came into this Port Segnior Hippolito Centurione with Three Gallies on his return from Maltba, having been cruising also upon the Islands of Cyfica, Sardinia, and Sicily, in search after the Corsairs of Tunis, but met with no adventure, only lying before Messina, and sending several of his men on shoar, one of them happened to be killed within the Town, for which he required Justice might be executed on the murtherer, which not being done, he seized on several of the Inhabitants of that City, and put them to the Oar in his Gally, which perswaded the Messineses to do him justice, and to hang up the offender within sight of his Gallies.

In his passage to this place he met a Gally belonging to this Republick, and commanded him to salute, which the Gally refused, till being threatened with false fire, he was forced to it, and to strike his Flag, which is ill resented here; he intends in few days to embark with his wife, and to depart hence for Marseilles.

Here is lately passed by in view of this Port one of the Great Dukes Gallies from Legorn, with Two Envoyes from the said Great Duke to his most Christian Majesty, and the Duke of Orleans, to condole with them upon the death of Madam the Duchess of Orleans, and to return the Compliments made by the French Envoyes to the Great Duke upon his succession on the death of the late Great Duke his Father.

From Turin they write, that all the differences being fully composed and ended between those of Piedmont and Montferat, all the forces on each part are withdrawn, only Two Troops of the Piedmont Horse being continued at Montferat, till the Treaty be signed and ratified interchangeably by the Dukes of Savoie and Mantoua, which Treaty is said to be very advantagious to the former, and somewhat of the same nature with the Treaty of 1662. It has been also agreed, that those persons of either side who were the actors and promoters of the late troubles, shall be committed to prison, and receive such farther punishment as they shall be found to have deserved.

The Duke of Savoie has a designe to enlarge the City of Turin, to establish there an Academy, and to encourage the Manufactures of Silk, Wool, and other Commodities, and has employed several Ingeniers for the raising of a Regular Fortification about that City.

The Duke d' Ossuna, Governor of Milan, has received Letters from Madrid, which advise him not to begin any innovations in that State, to the dissatisfaction of the neighbouring Princes and States: he has also Orders for the Re-arming of Twelve Troops of Horse out of the Thirty six within his Government, but in this the Duke intends to proceed with great caution and consideration, so as not to disoblige his Officers.

Legorn, Sept. 2. The 17th instant arrived here Sir John Harman, having under his Convoy the Smirna Factor, the Legorn Merchant, the Summer-Island Merchant, and the Golden Floece, with whom he intends in few days to proceed to Messina. Yesterday arrived Captain Darcey in the Dartmouth, with a Fireship, and Two Merchant ships which they took under their Convoy at Marseilles laden for Bristol; they left a great Pink laden with Deal-boards (which had been retaken from the Turks) running on shoar off the Port of Marseilles, but the men saved themselves on shoar.

Some days since Segnior Hippolito Centurione with Three Gallies entred this Port, wearing the French Flag, upon which account he pressed to be first saluted, but this being refused, he put out with his Gallies much dissatisfy'd, leaving behind him many of his men who were gotten on shoar, who are since embarked upon one of the Great Dukes Gallies bound for Marseilles.

The African Pink arriving in Eight days from Tunis informs us, that those Corsairs are fitting out to sea; Two of them are already abroad, and several others in readines to follow them; that none of the French ships are upon those coasts, but Six of their men of war are daily expected to lie before that Port.

Brussels, Octob. 11. We have had here by an Express, the news of the surrender of Chastel, upon the Moselle in Lorrain, to the French, after a defence of Two or Three days only, it having been thought convenient rather to make good conditions for the preserving of the Town and Garrison than to hazard hazard both by a fruitless defence, where they had no hopes of any succor or relief: the Garrison upon composition marched out with their Arms and Baggage, and was conducted to Biche, leaving the whole Countrey of Lorraine in the possession of the French. The Duke of Lorraine has been lately at Hambourg, where he left such Orders as he thought necessary, and went thence the 4th instant with 30 Horse only for Baden, with intention to pass from thence for Vienna in person, to represent his condition to the Emperor, and to press him to his assistance.

His Excellency the Count de Montreux having considered the great oppression under which the people of the plain Countrey have laboured by the Quartering of the Army upon them, is endeavouring to persuade the Cities to contribute towards the maintenance of the soldiery, that so they may for the future be drawn and Quartered in the great Towns.

His Excellency has ordered the making of 1500 Red Cloaks lined with Blew, with the Burgundy Cross upon them, which tis believed are designed for a Guard which is to be made up out of the Reformed Officers.

Paris, Octob. 8. On Munday the 6th instant his Majesty with the Court went away from St Germain towards Chambourg, to continue there about Three weeks, and at his return to settle here in Paris for this winter.

Of Seven French Officers who were taken at the surrender of Epinal, Four of them were presently hanged upon the place, and the Three others before Chastel, which place was surrendered before any of our Canon were fired against it, but the Governour the Sieur de Beaufort is since dead of the Gout.

Fifteen hundred of the Countrey people of Lorraine who refused to work in the Trenches were by a Council of war, in which the Marschal de Crequy presided, ordered to be sent away to Metz, and were condemned to the Gallies, but the King has been since pleased to pardon them.

Paris, Octob. 11. The 4th instant the Sieur Gabel, Envoye Extraordinary from the King of Denmark, was admitted to his last Audience from their Majesties at St Germain, with the usual Ceremonies, and afterwards took his formal leave also of Monseigneur.

The 6th instant their Majesties lay at Chastres, the 7th at Toury, the 8th at Cleris, and were the next day expected at Chambourg; the Dauphin continues at St Germain well recovered from his Ague, with Madam, and Monseigneur the Duke of Anjou.

The 5th instant returned hither the Princess Palatine from her journey into Germany, and has been complimented upon that subject by most of the principal persons of the Court.

The Articles granted to the Garrison of Chastel in Lorraine upon its surrender. 1. That the Sieur de Beaufort the Governour with all the Officers and Soldiers of the Garrison, should march away with their Families, Baggage, led Horses, Equipage, and ordinary Arms, the Trumpets sounding, Drums beating; Colours flying, Bullet in mouth, and Match lighted at both ends; other people who were in Arms only upon that occasion, to pass quietly without Arms to their several homes; the Garrison to have Twelve Waggons allowed them for the carriage of their Baggage; That Four days was to be allowed them before their surrender, to expect succor, and free passage given to Two persons whom they should send to the Duke of Lorraine within that space of time; That upon their surrender the Garrison should be safely conducted to Biche, and furnished with necessary Provisions by the way for themselves and horses; That it might be lawful for any of the Garrison to retire to their homes, and there to live quietly, without Passport. That the Towns-people, their Families and Goods should not be injured, or their priviledges infringed. That their Canoneers, Miners, &c. may be admitted to the same Articles as the Souldiers. That no Hostilities pass during the four days, and that no Officers or Souldiers should be searched for what they should carry out with them; The Souldiers which marched out were about 600. and the other persons which went away without Arms 300.

We have now news also of the Surrender of Longuy and Biche to the Marschal de Crequy.

A List of the English-men which were Slaves, and taken from on board the Turks ships, which were forced on shoar off Cape Spartel the 18th of August 1670.

Clement Ingron, Edmond Crisp, John Bearnese, Samuel Beere, Jacob Prove, John Freeman, Peter Chennick, Edward Filleteer, Matthew Allen, Richard Hore, Robert Rutter, Edward Stevenson, Nicholas Poole, Nathaniel Oliver, John Hamerston, James Watters, James Furman, John Feraman, Robert Meines, Arthur Foyce, John Humbleston, Thomas Bourgen, William Lane, Samuel Garrlan, Richard Masters, Humphry Griffen, Robert Skeet, Anthony Grosse, William Roach, John Warson, Charles Thurston, Briant Denham, George Guyer, Math. Siller, Robert Glanfield, Thomas Darrent, Moses Harding, Andrew Dennis, William Wilcox, Tobias Hoggady, Stephen Mertel, Edward Andrews, Gabriel Gooddowne, James Lucas, Gilbert Hurrel, William Harris, Nathaniel Hobson, Thomas Simpson, Samuel Stuckel, John Neanes, John Couch, Roger Winckel, Arthur Hayle, James Beare, Math. Oliver, William Booth, John Cough, John Walter, John Bethel, John Winster, Abraham Browne, Thomas Burge. &c.

Besides the six Algier men of war which were put on shoar and burnt near Cape Spartel, we find this farther List of their Losses during this war.

The Flower Pot of 28. Guns, put on shoar and burnt by the Portland, Nonsuch, and Pearle in September.

The Two Lyons put on shoar and burnt by the Resolution, and Milford, &c. together with his Prize.

The Guilt Fish of 24. Guns cast away about the same time below Tetuan.

The Dolphin of 14 Guns cast away at Sallee.
The Mustava Rais of 16. Guns cast away upon Cape Palos, being embayed to avoyd the English Fleet the last day of December.

The Half Moon of 40. Guns burnt by accident at Algiers.

The Rose of six Guns and six Pederoes, taken by the English.

The Spread Eagle of four Guns and four Pederoes taken by the English.

Two Sayties of four Guns apiece, and one of 12. the other of eight Pedereroes, taken by the Genoueses or Spaniards.

Two Brigantines taken by those of Ivica.

The Duan's Brigantine of one Gun and four Pederoes taken by the English.

Two Brigantines more taken, one by those of Centa, the other by the Genoueses.

From all which may be gathered, that the last year hath not been very fortunate to Algiers, and that their Force by sea hath been much weakened.
