Dated 6th May 1988

TRIAL OF THE PYX ORDER 1975 (as amended)

TRIAL OF THE PYX 1988

VERDICT of the Jury

We, the undersigned, were duly sworn on the 11th February 1988 before the Queen's Remembrancer at Goldsmiths' Hall in the City of London to assay gold, silver Maundy, silver, cupro-nickel and nickel brass coins of Her Majesty, which were produced to us by officers of the Royal Mint. Accounts of the Deputy Master of the Royal Mint were also produced to us and showed that the coins had been made by the Royal Mint in accordance with the Coinage Act 1971 and various Proclamations and had been delivered into the Despatch Office of the Royal Mint between the 1st January 1987 and 31st December 1987 inclusive.

In this verdict any reference to the permitted variation from standard weight, fineness, composition or diameter is to such variation from the standard weight, fineness, composition or diameter as is allowed by such Act and Proclamations.

We ascertained the number of coins in each packet produced to us and that it corresponded with the number which the officers of the Royal Mint represented the packet to contain.

Gold Coins

- (a) We took out one coin from each of the three packets of coins of one hundred pounds, the two packets of coins of fifty pounds, the three packets of coins of twenty-five pounds, the three packets of coins of ten pounds and the single packets of coins of five pounds and two pounds and the sovereigns and half-sovereigns.
- (b) We weighed in bulk the coins taken out and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the variation being profit one (+0.1) of a gram above standard weight.
- (c) After weighing those coins, we melted the coins of one hundred pounds, fifty pounds, twenty-five pounds and ten pounds into an ingot and assayed it, comparing it with the standard trial plate of gold produced to us by an officer of the Department of Trade and Industry, and we found that the metal of the ingot was within the permitted variation from standard fineness, the variation being point four four (+0.44) of a part per thousand above standard fineness.
- (d) Also after weighing those coins, we melted the coins of five pounds and two pounds and the sovereigns and half-sovereigns into an ingot and assayed it, comparing it with the standard trial plate of gold, and we found that the metal of the ingot was within the permitted variation from standard fineness, the variation also being point four four (+0.44) of a part per thousand above standard fineness.
- (e) We weighed in bulk the residue of the coins remaining in the packets and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the variation being one point seven (+1.7) grams above standard weight.
- (f) Finally, we took out of the residue four of each of the coins of one hundred pounds, fifty pounds, twenty-five pounds and ten pounds and three of each of the coins of five pounds and two pounds and the sovereigns and half-sovereigns and weighed and assayed them separately. We found that each of the coins so weighed was within the permitted variation from standard weight, the least to the greatest of the variations in milligrams being as follows:

for the coins of one hundred pounds:

two (+20)
fourteen (+14.0) nineteen (+19.0)
and

for the coins of fifty pounds:	one (+1.0) nine (+9.0) and eleven (+11.0) above and eighteen (-18.0) below standard weight;	for the coins of twenty-five pounds:	point nought four (+0.04), point nought nine (+0.09), point three nine (+0.39) and point four four (+0.44) above standard fineness;
for the coins of twenty-five pounds:	one (+1.0) two (+2.0) and six (+6.0) above and one (-1.0) below standard weight;	for the coins of ten pounds:	point one nine (+0.19), point two four (+0.24) and point three four (+0.34) above and point nought one (-0.01) below standard fineness;
for the coins of ten pounds:	five (+5.0) and eight (+8.0) above and six (-6.0) and seven (-0.7) below standard weight;	for the coins of five pounds:	point nought four (+0.04), point one nine (+0.19) and point three nine (+0.39) above standard fineness;
for the coins of five pounds:	thirty-five point three seven (+35.37) above and point three eight (-0.38) and point eight two (-0.82) below standard weight;	for the coins of two pounds:	point nought four (+0.04), point one four (+0.14) and point two four (+0.24) above standard fineness;
for the coins of two pounds:	four point three one (+4.31) and eight point three six (+8.36) above and nine point nine seven (-9.97) below standard weight;	for the sovereigns:	point two four (+0.24) point three four (+0.34) and point four nine (+0.49) above standard fineness; and for the sovereigns:	point one six (+0.16) and six point two three (+6.23) above and six point three four (-6.34) below standard weight; and	for the half-sovereigns:	point nought four (+0.04), point one four (+0.14) and point one nine (+0.19) above standard fineness.
for the half-sovereigns:	one point two nine (+1.29) and three point three one (+3.31) above and three point one one (-3.11) below standard weight.
We also found that each of the coins so assayed was within the permitted variation from standard fineness, the least to the greatest of the variations in parts per thousand being as follows:
for the coins of one hundred pounds:	point two four (+0.24), point two nine (+0.29), point three nine (+0.39) and point six nine (+0.69) above standard fineness;
for the coins of fifty pounds:	point two nine (+0.29), point three four (0.34) and point three nine (+0.39) above and point nought six (-0.06) below standard fineness;
		for the pied forte coins of one pound:	point nine four (+0.94) and for the other coins of one pound:	point five nine (+0.59) of a part per thousand above standard fineness.

Silver Maundy coins

(a) We took out all the coins from the packets of silver Maundy coins, weighed them in bulk and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the variation being point nought five (+0.05) of a gram above standard weight.

(b) We then assayed all the silver Maundy coins, comparing them with the standard trial plate of silver produced to us by an officer of the Department of Trade and Industry, and we found that the metal of the coins was on the whole within the permitted variation from standard fineness, the variation being three point one (+3.1) parts per thousand above standard fineness.

Silver coins other than Maundy coins

(a) We ascertained that all the silver coins contained in the packets weighed not more than five hundred grams.

(b) We took out all the pied forte coins of one pound and weighed them in bulk and found that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the variation being point two (+0.2) of a gram above standard weight.

(c) We took out all the other coins of one pound and weighed them in bulk and found that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the variation also being point two (+0.2) of a gram above standard weight.

(d) Finally, we assayed all the silver coins, comparing them with the standard trial plate of silver, and ascertained that the metal of the coins was on the whole within the permitted variation from standard fineness, the variations being as follows:

Cupro-nickel coins

- (a) We ascertained that of the cupro-nickel coins contained in the packets, those of each of the denominations of twenty and five pence weighed more and those of each of the denominations of fifty and ten pence weighed not more than one kilogram.
- (b) From each packet of coins of twenty and five pence we took out sufficient coins and grouped them into two lots so that each lot comprised coins of the same denomination and weighed not less than nine hundred and eighty grams nor more than one kilogram.
- (c) We then weighed each lot in bulk and found that it was on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the variations being as follows:

for the coins of twenty pence:	one point eight (+1.8) and for the coins of five pence:	also one point eight (+1.8) grams above standard weight.

- (d) We weighed in bulk the residue of the coins of twenty and five pence remaining in the packets and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the variation being one hundred and twenty-eight point four (+128.4) grams above standard weight.
- (e) We took out all the coins of fifty pence and weighed them in bulk and found that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the variation being one point five (+1.5) grams above standard weight.
- (f) We also took out all the coins of ten pence and weighed them in bulk and found that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the variation being point five (+0.5) of a gram above standard weight.
- (g) We then assayed coins not weighing less in all than five hundred grams, comparing them with the standard trial plates of copper and nickel produced to us by an officer of the Department of Trade and Industry, and we ascertained that the metal of the coins was on the whole within the permitted variations from standard compositions, the only variations being as follows:

for the coins of fifty, ten and five pence:	minus point five (-0.5) per centum of copper and plus point three (+0.3) per centum of nickel; and for the coins of twenty pence:	minus point two (-0.2) per centum of copper.

- (h) We measured the diameters of twenty of each of the coins of fifty, twenty, ten and five pence and ascertained that the average diameter of the coins of each denomination was within its permitted variation from standard diameter, the variations being for the coins of fifty pence point nought one (-0.01), for the coins of twenty pence point nought two (-0.02), for the coins of ten pence point nought three (-0.03) and for the coins of five pence point nought two (-0.02) of a millimetre less than the standard diameters.

Nickel brass coins

- (a) We ascertained that the nickel brass coins of one pound contained in the packets weighed more than one kilogram.
- (b) We took out from each packet sufficient coins and grouped them into two lots weighing not less than nine hundred and eighty grams nor more than one kilogram.
- (c) We then weighed each lot in bulk and ascertained that it was on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the variations being as follows:

for the first lot:	point two (0.2) and for the second lot	point eight (-0.8) of a gram below standard weight.

- (d) We weighed in bulk the residue of the coins remaining in the packets and ascertained that they were on the whole within the permitted variation from standard weight, the variation being thirty-nine point nine (-39.9) grams below standard weight.

- (e) We then assayed coins not weighing less in all than five hundred grams, comparing them with the standard trial plates of copper, nickel and zinc produced to us by an officer of the Department of Trade and Industry, and we ascertained that the metal of the coins was on the whole within the permitted variation from standard composition, the variations being minus point two (-0.2) per centum of copper, plus point six (+0.6) per centum of nickel and minus point four (-0.4) per centum of zinc.

STATUTES IN FORCE

Complete ★ Convenient ★ Up-to-date

Statutes in Force is the official revised edition of the statutes and sets out the text of the current statute law.

It is the only official statement of the complete legislation and incorporates all specific amendments subsequently brought about by both primary and secondary legislation.

The complete edition consists of 104 looseleaf binders, holding some 60,000 pages in all.

The Acts are arranged in 125 subject groups, which can be purchased separately. Subjects include:

Charities	Insolvency, Bankruptcy and Winding Up
Companies	Landlord and Tenant
Contract	Legal Aid
Employment	Partnerships and Business Names
Family Law	Sale of Goods
Friendly and Other Societies	Stamp Duty
Income, Corporation and Capital Gains Taxes	Tort and Delict

Individual Acts showing all subsequent amendments to the original legislation can be supplied, and an updating service is also available to supply customers automatically with subsequent amendments to the legislation—for the whole set, for subject groups, or for individual Acts.
