

from the French Camp at Spire confirm the opening of the Trenches before Landau on the 24th past at Night, and report, that the Approaches advanced with Success the three following Nights. We are assured by Accounts from Prince Eugene's Camp at Müllberg, that the Imperial Army consists but of One hundred forty four Squadrons and Sixty Battalions, besides the Troops left in Garrison; which Force is only sufficient to hinder the French from passing the Rhine.

Utrecht, July 13. N. S. Yesterday the Earl of Strafford return'd from the Hague. Soon after the Ministers of Spain had a Conference with those of Her Majesty, in which it was agreed, at the desire of the former, to defer Signing the Treaty of Peace between Her Majesty and the King of Spain, till this Afternoon. It was sign'd about seven of the Clock, as was likewise that between his Catholick Majesty and the Duke of Savoy an hour after.

Hague; July 14. N. S. The Deputies of Brabant and Flanders are return'd from Utrecht, where they had been for some time, in order to Regulate the Trade of those Provinces. On the 11th the Earl of Strafford acquainted the Grand Pensionary that he was going to Utrecht to sign the Treaty of Peace between Her Majesty and the King of Spain. Accordingly he set out the next Morning for that Place, and is expected back before the 18th, which being the Day appointed by Her Majesty for a General Thanksgiving for the Peace great Preparations are making by his Excellency for an Entertainment and a Masquerade on that Occasion. This Morning we received Advice, that the Treaty of Peace between Great Britain and Spain was sign'd Yesterday in the Evening, as was likewise that between Spain and Savoy.

Whitehall, July 10. Her Majesty has been pleas'd to appoint the Right Hon. the Lord Ashburnham to be Captain and Colonel of the first Troop of Horse Guards.
